A BRIEF INTRODUCTION TO SWAHILI

Swahili has become one of the major languages of Africa. It is a lingua franca serving scores of tribes in the whole of East Africa and the Eastern Congo. It is understood by many along the borders of Rhodesia, Nyassaland, Mozambique, the north-west coastal strip of Madagascar, portions of the Somalia coast, and on the islands between the mainland and Madagascar, which include Zanzibar.

South of the Sahara, stretching through the Congo Basin, through Angola, through the whole of East Africa, and through the Rhodesias, Mozambique, down into Zululand and Xhosa in South Africa, the tribes are almost all Bantu tribes. The Bantu dialects and languages have a very characteristic morphological structure of their own, juxtaposing and agglutinative in nature. Many basic lexical items are related:-

	person	people	tree	hand
Swahili (E. Africa)	mtu	watu	mti	mkono
Congo Swahili	mutu	watu	muti	mukono
Luganda (north)	omuntu	abantu	omuti	omukono
Chagga (T.T.)	mdu	wandu	mri	kuwoko
Zulu (far south)	umuntu	abantu	umuti	umukono
Herero (south west)	omundu	ovandu	omuti	omukono

Swahili is a Bantu language, and as a lingua franca it has assimilated many words from other languages, including a fair number from Arabic and English. Because of the many tribal languages, Swahili is of necessity THE language of inter-tribal communication, and in our era of civilization, it is the language of culture, education, and communication serving a vast portion of Africa, apart from some European language.

According to the latest census estimates published in 1961, the population of Swahili areas and countries is as follows:-

Tanganyika	8.9 million
Kenya	6.5 "
Uganda	6.5 "
Ruanda-Urundi	4.5 "
Republic of Congo	14.0 "
	40.0 million

Allowing for about a third of the Congo population understanding and speaking Swahili, but including fringe areas of neighboring countries, the coast line, Zanzibar and other islands, one can estimate that the Swahili language can well serve some 30 to 40 million inhabitants in Africa. The differences between the Standard Swahili as used in East Africa and the Congo Swahili (Kingwana) are negligible.

It must be remembered that Swahili is a second language to most natives of East and Central Africa. Their tribal dialect or language, and there are scores of these, is their first language until they go to school and there switch over to Swahili. Inter-tribal contact and trading requires some knowledge of Swahili. For many years the Inter-territorial Swahili Language Committee has sought to standardize the Swahili language in East Africa, so that when it is used in the schools and by the press it can serve more effectively as the great lingua franca which it is. This Committee has done a very commendable job, both in Swahili research and in standardizing the language. The lessons presented in this course are in the Standard Swahili.

The East African territories of Kenya, Tanganyika, Uganda, and Zanzibar have been under the British flag for most of this past century. In the comparatively short time of the past 30 to 40 years, the British government has exerted great influence, developing East Africa, educating its peoples, and contributing in a great measure to the general progress of the people, so that now they are able to take their place among the independent nations of the world. Tanganyika achieved her independence in December, 1961, and Uganda in October, 1962. Kenya and Zanzibar will not be long in doing the same. It is required of every Civil Service employee to have a good knowledge of the Swahili language, thus this language has contributed in its own subtle way to the progress of these countries. Nor must the work of Christian Missions be under-estimated.

In the September 7, 1962, issue of the "East African Standard" published in Nairobi, there appeared a front-page feature Swahili now the Language, stating:

"Swahili is to be used at most official functions from now on in Tanganyika. The Prime Minister, Mr. Kawawa, said in a broadcast last night that Swahili would normally be used at all State and public functions when Ministers and other Members of the Government were the speakers. This would come into effect immediately.

"Then on December 10, when we have become a republic, our first president will deliver his speech to the National Assembly in our own national language."

It has also been officially proclaimed as the national language of Katanga and Zanzibar.

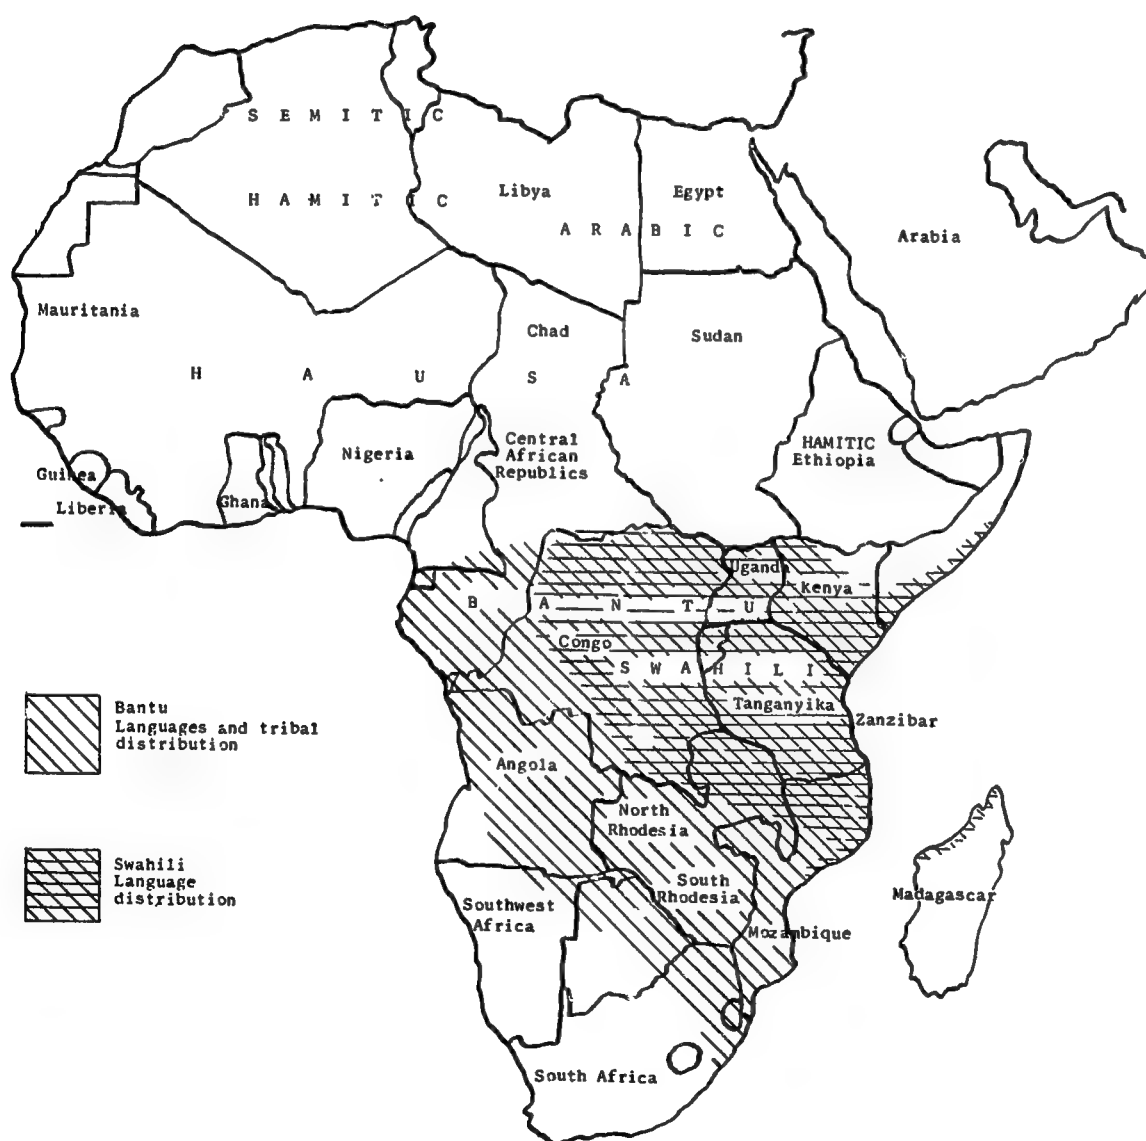

Geographically, East Africa has much to offer in diversity of climate and natural beauty. From the snow-capped mountains of Kilimanjaro (19,500 ft.) in Tanganyika, and Mt. Kenya (17,058 ft.) in Kenya, to the plains, the lowlands and jungle areas where the wild animals roam, one has a great variety from which to choose. Most of the inhabitants live in the pleasant highlands, and it is in these that most of the development has taken place. The cities are becoming more modernized, and such large cities as Nairobi, capital of Kenya; Dar es Salaam, capital of Tanganyika; and Kampala, capital of Uganda, boast large populations, modern conveniences, fine buildings, excellent hotels, and attractive suburban residential areas.

The peoples of East Africa for the most part are native Africans at various stages of development and civilization. There is a large number of Indians from India there, besides a goodly number of Arabs and Europeans. Among the predominantly Bantu tribes there exist a few tribes of Nilotic origin. These include the war-like Masai, the Luo and a few others. There is also a small remnant of the original inhabitants, the Bushmen, still to be found in Tanganyika. These are the Sandawe and the Hattsa. Their language is the interesting click language related to that of the Hottentots.

East Africa could possibly be also the cradle, or one of the cradles of the beginning of man. The recent findings by the noted archeologist and anthropologist, Dr. L.S.B. Leakey, are startling. In the Olduvai Gorge at the edge of the Great Rift Valley in Tanganyika, Dr. Leakey found fossils, a skull and other items representing a man who lived there more than 600,000 years ago. He has been named Zinjanthropus boisei, and is considered to be the earliest known man.

Huyu ni mama? Huyu ni mama.

Huyu nani? Huyu ni mtoto.

Step 3. Language lab session of 15 - 20 minutes.

- I. In this lesson you have been introduced to some of the sound features of Swahili. You have had no special difficulty with those sounds which are similar to your native language; but the sounds which are different from English, however, have appeared to you as rather strange.

Let us discuss some of these:

1. One of the difficulties for a student whose native tongue is English is to produce different kinds of vowel sounds in syllables which are not stressed or accented.
2. Another feature different from English is the Swahili stress or accent pattern. The Swahili stress doesn't move, it is fixed. It always falls on the next to the last syllable.
3. In Swahili the word order is identical for both the question and the statement; the only thing that changes is the intonation; which is the rise and fall of the voice as we speak.
4. Most of the "English" consonant sounds will be accepted in Swahili, although there will be some small differences which we will go into later on. However, there are specific differences between English and Swahili vowel sounds. First, the number of significant vowel sounds is greater in English. Second, generally speaking, there is a difference in production also.
5. There are a large number of consonant clusters in Swahili and you will probably have difficulty in pronouncing some of them at the beginning of a word.

II. Some features of Swahili language structure.

1. The 'pointing out word' (demonstrative) huyu is used to point out living beings only. This is the singular form, and it means 'this'. It follows the noun.

Mtoto huyu.

This child.

2. The short Swahili word ni is a form of the verb 'to be', and is used this way only in the present tense. It does not vary in form when used with one or many, male or female.

	am	(I am)
NI	is	(he is, she is)
	are	(you, we, they are)

Furthermore, this word denotes existence (being), i.e. being well, being sick, being big or small, etc. It is not used to help out (auxiliary) another action word, as for example: I am going, he is sitting, etc.

3. Word order in a sentence is sometimes different from the English.
- a. When a statement is turned into a question, the same word order is retained. The difference between the two would be in intonation. This is not so in English
- b. When a question word (interrogative) is used, it is often at the end of a sentence. This is not so in English.

Huyu ni mtoto.	This is a child.
Huyu ni mtoto?	Is this a child?

Huyu ni nani?	Who is this?
	(Lit. This is who?)

III. Cultural Note

African family life is as a rule fairly closely knit. In Christian homes the husband has one wife, but in pagan or Muslim homes there are often more wives if the husband can afford them. A bride price has to be paid, and this is often quite high. A wealthy pagan chief may acquire around 20 - 30 wives.

Nani ni mdogo?	Ni mtoto, yeye ni mwanafunzi.
Mama ni mzima?	Ndio, mama ni mzima.

Step 3. Language lab session of 15 - 20 minutes.

I. Sounds of Swahili

No new sounds have been introduced in this lesson, but there are a few new initial consonant clusters. These were explained in the previous lesson. You will notice that all these clusters begin with an 'm', and so glide from a closed lip position as if you were humming, into the consonant which follows.

Take special note of the word 'mtu', notice that the 'm' is stressed because it has become a syllable in the penultimate (next to last) position. Be careful not to slip in a vowel sound before or after the 'm', but keep the stressed 'm' sound pure. Listen to your instructor and imitate him in pronouncing /mtu/.

II. Notes on Language Structure

1. (a) A word which qualifies or describes (adjective) a person or thing (noun) always follows the noun. This is not so in English.

Mtoto mdogo.

A small child.

(Lit. A child small.)

- (b) Study and compare the following examples:-

Mtoto mdogo.

A small child.

Mtoto ni mdogo.

The child is small.

Mtoto mdogo ni mzima. The small child is well.

- (c) Note that these describing words (adjectives) have a beginning (prefix) m. This is a singular prefix which shows that the adjective is in agreement with a group of nouns denoting living beings.

Mtoto mzuri.

A good child.

2. In Swahili there is no equivalent for the small words 'a' and 'the' and so no such words are used.

A teacher.

Mwalimu.

The teacher.

Mwalimu.

III. Cultural Note

Two words have been used in this lesson: Mkikuyu and Mswahili. These indicate a person belonging to these respective tribes. There are many tribes living in East Africa, and each tribe has a special dialect or language. For the most part these languages are related and belong to the Bantu family of languages. The Swahili language is the great lingua franca which is used by all the tribes (see Introduction).

The Kikuyu people live in Central Kenya, mainly in the region between Nairobi and Mt. Kenya (17,058 ft.). Nairobi is the thriving capital of Kenya. The Kikuyu are a progressive people, engaging in agriculture and trade.

The Swahili are a coastal people. The word 'Suahil' is the Arabic name for 'coast', and that is where the word 'Swahili' came from. The Swahili are not a distinct tribe as they have inter-married with many other tribes, including Arabs. They are for the most part traders, and some are fishermen. Due to Arabic influence they are mostly Muslims by faith. For centuries civilization came to East Africa by way of the East Coast, the Swahili language went along with it and became established as the common language for the whole of central East Africa, including the Eastern Congo.

Mgeni ni mtu mzuri?

Step 3. Presentation of short narratives prepared by students.

I. Sound Features

- a. In this lesson we had the clusters /ml/ and /mg/ at the beginning of a word. These are not so difficult when you remember the suggestion made in Lesson 1. From a closed lip position glide into the consonant which follows. We might add that you produce a slight hum on the 'm' as you glide into the 'l' as in 'mlango', and the hard 'g' as in 'mgeni'.
- b. Then we had the /ng/ sound cluster. It is presented by the symbols 'ng'. The 'g' is always hard as in 'Bingo', 'tango', and never as in 'song', 'bang', or 'swinging'.
- c. A sound somewhat different from English is the /n'/ (ny), as in 'fanya'. This is approximately as in the English 'canyon', or the Spanish 'Señorita'.
- d. There are also vowel clusters.
 /ua/ as in 'fungua'.
 /ia/ as in 'pia', 'ingia'.
 /ai/ as in 'chai'.

Remember to treat vowels as separate syllables and give each vowel its individual worth.

- e. Watch the 'u' in 'funga' so that you do not sound it as in the English word 'fungus'. It is rather like in the English 'food'.

II. Language Structure

A verb denotes an action - it is an action word.
In order to convey the idea concerning an action more clearly we need to know:-

Who did the action? (Doer)

When did it happen? (Time)

What was that action? (Action)

In Swahili certain prefixes attached to the stem of a verb show this sequence. To show that the action takes place now (the present tense) the syllable NA is used as a tense indicator. This is preceded by a short pronoun indicating the doer, or subject.

WHO? (Doer)	WHEN? (Time)	WHAT? (Action) ni (I)		simama (stand)
u (you)		keti (sit)
a (he, she)		sema (say)
tu (we)	NA	taka (want)
m (you pl.)		funga (shut)
wa (they)		ingia (enter) fanya (do, make)

Examples:

ni - na - keti	ninaketi	(I am sitting)
u - na - fanya	unafanya	(you are doing)
a - na - sema	anasema	(he is saying)

Note: The short pronoun prefix is always used, regardless whether a noun precedes it or not.

Ali anasimama. (literally: Ali, he is standing.)

Note that the pronoun or subject prefix, the tense sign, and the verb stem are all combined into one word.

III. Cultural Note:

Talking about the preparation of tea, the natives in East Africa as a rule are very fond of tea. They put the loose tea leaves into the tea pot full of water, milk is added, also a generous amount of sugar. Then this mixture is boiled for some time. The resultant drink is what you would expect it to be. Actually, it is quite good.

1. a. The 'ch' sound as produced in the English words 'church', 'child', 'chum', 'much', is found similarly in Swahili in words like 'chai' and 'cheza'.
 - b. The 'v' sound in Swahili is like in the English 'very', 'vim' or 'Vivian'. So far we have been introduced to this in the Swahili word 'vile-vile'.
 - c. The 'l' is clearer and pronounced with the tip of the tongue more to the front of the mouth behind the upper teeth or gum ridge. In the English the 'l' is darker and pronounced with the tongue further back in the mouth. Watch this!
2. When a question word (interrogative) is used like nani? (who?), nini? (what?), wapi? (where?) or gani? (what kind?), then these draw the question intonation to themselves more forcefully than other words.

II. Language Structure

1. Nouns denoting living beings fall into two groups:
 - a. The regular nouns have a prefix 'M' in the singular, and you will learn in the next lesson that this changes to 'WA' in the plural, e.g. Mtoto - Watoto.
 - b. The irregular nouns for the most part, have no prefix and retain the same form, singular and plural, e.g. baba - baba.

III. Cultural Note

The situational setting depicts a son working in the field (small farm) of his father who is a teacher.

Africans from tribes which are settled on the land and are not herders of cattle like the Masai, find it very difficult to adjust to the concept that not everyone can be a landholder and work at a profession or trade as well. Consequently, a father's piece of land gets more and more subdivided generation after generation so that each son has his piece of land, regardless whether he is a farmer or not. With the increase of population, this creates land hunger. A teacher, craftsman, or factory worker living in the city still likes to maintain his hereditary ownership to a piece of land instead of getting a house or apartment and live in the city severing his connection with the land. This is a problem which future generations will have to work out for themselves.

Ali. Ali ni mwanafunzi.

Mwalimu anafundisha wanafunzi watano. Wote ni wanafunzi wazuri, na wanajifunza sana.

wadogo.

Mbuzi wanafanya nini?
Mbuzi wale wadogo wanalala?
Nani anatazama mbuzi?
Mbuzi wangapi ni wakubwa?
Na wangapi ni wadogo?
Wanafunzi wangapi wanaketi?

Step 3. Presentation of short narratives prepared by students.

I. Sound Features

In this lesson a new sound has been introduced which is similar to the pronunciation of 'duke' (dyuk), or 'wudya', for 'would you'. It is produced by pressing the front half of the tongue against the upper palate. It is a sound between 'j' as in 'judge', and the regular 'd' as in the word 'deed'. It will take a little practice for some to get this sound just right. Listen very carefully to your instructor as he uses it in such words as:-

Jambo	/d'ámbo/	(Hello)
jina	/d'ína/	(name)
Juma	/d'úma/	(Juma)
moja	/mód'a/	(one)

II. Language Structure

1. Nouns denoting living beings.

So far we have learned to use primarily nouns referring to people, e.g. mtu (person), mtoto (child) etc. You may have wondered how we express the plural, because 'mtu', 'mtoto', are in the singular. Here then we have a few guidelines.

- a. A regular noun takes the prefix 'M' to indicate the singular. These are mostly original Bantu words. When the plural is to be indicated, then the singular prefix 'M' is dropped and the plural prefix 'WA' is substituted instead. This is a different way of indicating the plural than is the case in English where we use mostly endings (book, books; child, children) or change the word within (goose, geese; mouse, mice).

m + tu > mtu
 m + toto > mtoto
 m + geni > mgeni
 M + kikuyu > Mkikuyu
 M + swahili > Mswahili

plural

wa + tu > watu wa + toto > watoto wa + geni > wageni
Wa + swahili > Waswahili
Wa + kikuyu > Wakikuyu

- b. When a word of this group of nouns has a stem beginning with a vowel, then the prefix is modified and the 'M' becomes 'MW'. We learned to use this form with words like; mwalimu and mwanafunzi. The plural prefix again is 'WA' but the vowel 'a' from the prefix will combine with the initial vowel from the stem.

mw + alimu > mwalimu mw + anafunzi > mwanafunzi

plural

wa + alimu > walimu
wa + anafunzi > wanafunzi

- c. Some nouns denoting people, and those referring to animals, do not have a variable prefix to indicate the singular or plural. The word stem is used as it is, in both the singular and the plural.

baba (father) mama (mother) mbuzi (goat)

plural

baba (fathers) mama (mothers) mbuzi (goats)

2. Adjectives

When adjectives are used with nouns denoting living beings, whether they be regular or irregular nouns, people or animals, they remain in harmony or agreement with the pattern of this group of nouns, and take the 'M' prefix in the singular and 'WA' in the plural.

mtu mkubwa
mtoto mdogo
walimu mrefu

watu wakubwa watoto wadogo walimu warefu

baba mrefu mama mfupi mbuzi mbaya baba warefu mama wafupi mbuzi wabaya

3. The 'pointing out' words (demonstratives) which are used to point out living beings are:-

plural

huyu (this) yule (that) hawa (these) wale (those)

mtoto huyu (this child) watoto hawa (these children) mtoto yule (that child) watoto wale (those children)

4. The emphatic or independent pronouns have been presented in their singular form:-

mimi (I) wewe (you, s.) yeye (he, she)

Note 'he, she' are expressed by the same word in Swahili.

We now present the plural forms:-

sisi (we) ninyi (you, pl.)
wao (they)

Note the short form counterparts which are used in verb formations.

mimi ninafanya wewe unafanya yeye anafanya sisi tunafanya ninyi mnafanya wao wanafanya

Note: In such cases the independent form is not always used, except for emphasis.

III. Cultural Note

A small African rural or village school may have only 2 - 3 rooms going up to the equivalent of 4th grade. The children start learning Swahili when they come to school. All subjects are also taught in Swahili. Before that they used only their vernacular or tribal dialect.

The school building is often built of mud and wattle poles and then white washed with lime.

It is the job of small boys to help look after the cows and goats as herd boys. For this reason parents are often reluctant to let all the boys go to school. Girls stay at home and help mother, and only a few get to go to school.

Anakwenda kwa mama na anasema: "Tengeneza chai, Juma anakuja. Juma anapenda kunywa chai. Ali ni mtoto mkubwa, yeye ni mwanafunzi, na anapenda kula mkate".

Juma ni jirani na anakaa katika shamba. Analima shamba na Ali anasaidia baba kulima. Mama analeta chakula kwa baba katika shamba. Wao ni wazee sasa. Katika shamba tunaona mbuzi watatu; wawili wanatafuta chakula na mmoja analala.

Step 3. Presentation of short narratives prepared by students.

I. Sound Features

1. In the preceding lesson we introduced you to the /d'/ sound as it occurs in words like:-

jambo	moja
Juma	kuja
jina	mji
jifunza	mjini
jirani

As this is a sound which occurs quite frequently, study the Generalization again in Lesson 5 and make sure that you are getting this sound correctly.

2. The 'ny' sound which we may find to be similar to a word like 'canyon' or 'señorita' may occur at the beginning of a word in Swahili. This is not the case in English. So far we have had one Swahili word, 'nyumba', to illustrate this. There will be more to come. We introduced you to this sound already in Lesson 3, and we find it in the middle of words like 'fnya' and 'knywa'.

II. Language Structure (Demonstratives)

1. a. You will be interested to learn about the unusual and systematic way in which the demonstratives are formed. Let's look at those which point out living beings.

s.	huyu	(this)	yule	(that)
pl.	hawa	(these)	wale	(those)

- b. Notice that in the first pair; 'huyu', 'hawa', the words begin with an 'h'. This 'h' represents nearness, and to this one can add the subject prefix or pronoun to indicate the singular or plural. Thus we get:

h	+	yu	>	huyu
h	+	wa	>	hawa

Because 'hyu' and 'hwa' are not easily pronounceable, the vowel sound of the subject prefix slips back between the h and the pronoun to form a pleasing connecting link and easily pronounceable words: huyu, hawa.

- c. The words in the second pair 'yule', 'wale' end in 'le'. This ending denotes distance. Thus the pronoun plus 'le' produce:

yu + le > yule
wa + le > wale

Remember then:

'h' for nearness plus pronoun: huyu, hawa (this, these).

'le' for distance preceded by the pronoun:
yule, wale (that, those).

III. Cultural Note

The African village teacher is often one of the leading personalities of his village or community. He is trying to bring literacy and education into a community which often is quite primitive. The village teacher who is entitled to teach grades 1-4 usually does not have more than 6th or 8th grade education himself, followed by a year at a Teacher Training Center. Nevertheless, he represents the first important step in the process of enlightenment and education for African people.

Mlima ule ni mkubwa sana. Mti ule ni katika msitu mkubwa. Nyumba ya watu hawa ni karibu, na mama anaketi karibu na mlango. Huu ni mlango mdogo. Watoto wawili wanaketi pamoja na mama. Wanakula mkate na wanatazama ndege juu ya mti. Watoto wale wanafurahi na sasa wanataka kucheza.

Nani anakaa katika mti mkubwa?
Nini ni mkali?
Nini ni chini ya mlima?
Mti ule mkubwa ni wapi?
Mama anafanya nini?
Watoto wanakula nini?

Step 3. Presentation of short narratives prepared by students.

I. Sound Feature

1. The stressed syllabic /m/ is introduced again with a new word 'mti' /ḿti/. Thus you have learned:

ḿtu (person)

ḿti (tree)

Practice these words in combination with others.

Ninaona mtu na mti. (I see a person and a tree.)

Mtu mkubwa. (A big person.)

Mti mrefu. (A tall tree.)

Mtu anaketi chini ya mti. (A person is sitting under the tree.)

2. Make note also of the initial /nd/ which appears in words like:

ndio (yes)

ndege (bird)

ndani (inside)

You dwell on the /n/ sound a little and then release with the voiced stop /d/. The tip of the tongue is in the same position for both sounds. It is the same sound really like in the English word 'bend', only instead of appearing at the end of a word, in Swahili many words start out with this pre-nasalized /d/.

II. Language Structure (M-MI Class)

1. When nouns have a singular prefix 'm', but they do not denote living beings, then instead of using a plural prefix 'wa' a new plural prefix 'mi' is used.

In this lesson you have been introduced to this new group of nouns which have 'm' in the singular, and 'mi' in the plural.

singularpluralmkukimikukimtimitimlimamilimamkonomikonomguumiguumsitumisitumkatemikate

2. The pronouns are reduced to two in number since these inanimate things are unable to talk but we can talk about them by referring to them by 'it' or 'they'. The corresponding pronouns for this class in Swahili are:-

singularplural

u (it)

i (they)

Mti unasimama. (The tree, it is standing.)Miti inasimama. (The trees, they are standing.)

3. The demonstratives are formed on the same pattern as discussed in the previous lesson.

s. h (nearness) + 'u' > huu (this)

pl. h (nearness) + 'i' > hii (these)

s. 'u' + 'le' (distance) > ule (that)

pl. 'i' + 'le' (distance) > ile (those)

Examples:-

s. mti huu (this tree)

mti ule (that tree)

pl. miti hii (these trees)

miti ile (those trees)

The plurals of this M-Mi class will be applied more fully in Lesson 9.

III. Cultural Note

In the dialogue mention is made of the man holding a spear. Most of the Africans still hunt this old fashioned way, and others use bow and arrows. The Masai tribe in particular, is very adept in handling the spear and will kill a lion by spearing it.

Step 1. Presentation of a narrative based on the dialogue.
The situational picture will be used.

Jirani ni Mswahili na yeye ana watoto wengi.

Mtoto mmoja mkubwa ni Salimu na yeye ana ndugu wanne na dada watatu. Watoto hawa ni wazuri na wanasaidia baba na mama. Salimu anakata mti mkubwa ule pamoja na Ali, na ndugu wawili wanalima katika shamba. Mtoto mmoja ni mdogo sana na yeye analala sasa.

Dada wawili wanasaidia mama. Wanasafisha na wanafagia nyumba. Asha ni jina la mtoto mmoja na yeye anashona. Mama anapika chakula na anatengeneza chai. Baba anafurahi na sasa anaketi na anavuta sigara.

Step 2. Questions based on the above narration:

Nani ana watoto wengi?
Salimu ana ndugu wangapi?
Hawa wanafanya nini?
Wawili wanafanya nini katika shamba?

Nani anakata mti?
Mtoto mdogo anafanya nini?
Nani anasaidia mama?
Wanafanya nini kusaaidia mama?

Nani anashona?
Nani anatengeneza chai?
Baba anasimama?
Baba anafurahi?

Anavuta sigara sasa?
Nani anakata mti pamoja na Ali?
Nani ana watoto wengi?
Nani ni jirani?

Note: When answering the above questions, students should do so by using complete sentences.

Step 3. Presentation of short narratives prepared by students.

I. Sound Feature

The /r/ sound. Let's make sure that we are getting the Swahili /r/ right. As you know from a previous lesson (Lesson 3) this /r/ is different from our English /r/. In producing the Swahili /r/ the tip of the tongue is placed back of the upper teeth where it produces two vibrations as a rolled /r/. Listen to your teacher carefully and imitate him in producing this short roll or trill as it occurs in words like:

habari
rafiki sigara karibu rudi furahi mzuri jirani kwa heri mrefu

II. Language Structure

1. a. There is a question introducer 'je' which is not translatable into English. The nearest equivalent would be something like 'say', which we might use in English in drawing the listener's attention to a question: Say, did you see what she did?

- b. When using the 'je' at the beginning of a question it is stated somewhat emphatically with a short pause following it, after which the question is asked. So a question can be put the following ways:

- (i) Unasema nini? (What are you saying?)
(ii) Je, unasema nini? (Say, what are you saying?)

- c. This question particle may also be put at the end of a question.

Baba anafanya kazi. (Father is working.)

Na mtoto, je? (And how about the child?)

- d. Occasionally this 'je' particle may even substitute for an interrogative. In that case it is attached to the end of the verb. When that happens then the word, having been lengthened, must re-adjust the stress or accent and shift it forward a syllable so that the stress may still fall on the next to the last syllable. Thus:

Unaséma nini?

Can be said:

Unasemáje?

Note the shift of the stress marks as indicated.

2. The verb 'to have' is formed as follows:- It consists of the short pronoun plus the 'na' (with) particle. In Swahili the concept of having or possessing is expressed by "being with something."

ni + na > nina (I have. Lit: I (am) with) u + na > una (you have. Lit: you (are) with) a + na > ana (he, she has. Lit: he (is) with)

Don't confuse 'nina', 'una', 'ana', with the prefixes to the verb, like:

ninapenda
unataka
anafanya

They are not the same in meaning. The 'nina', meaning 'I have', is a separate word in its own right, and not a set of prefixes.

III. Cultural Note

In the dialogue and narrative mention has been made of brothers and sisters and children helping in the home. In the average rural African family the children learn to face realities of life very early. One can often see little toddlers (boys) out in the pasture taking care of the few cows or goats which belong to the family. It is expected of children to help in all manners of chores as soon as possible.

Bought toys are almost unknown to the average African children, nor do we find story books, models, dolls, and all that as American children have in African homes unless they are more sophisticated families living in cities. Any toys they may have, have been fashioned by themselves while out in the pasture. Girls may gradually collect some beads or kerchiefs which they treasure. Nor do many children know just when they were born and so there are no birthday parties.

Because of the children's involvement in various chores, for a long time parents did not like to see the children away at school. Perhaps one or two boys were allowed to attend school while others were kept back. Girls rarely went to school. In more progressive tribes this set-up is slowly changing. Attendance at school has not been made compulsory yet.

While boys may look after the cows, sheep or goats, learn to hunt, it is the girls who do the chores in the home and even do most of the cultivating and harvesting in the fields.

Swahili women, clad in their brightly patterned 'kangas' (Swahili gowns), are busy plaiting their hair. A special hand-carved comb is used as they work away with infinite care.

a. Phonemes:

Clusters: /mj/

Supra-segmentals: A weak glottal stop between vowels in certain cases.

b. Morphemes: Mi class nouns (plural).

c. Syntax: When asking a person's name.

2. CONTENT STRUCTURE

a. Situational setting: (i) Classroom activities.
(ii) Juma goes shopping.

b. Cultural item: The greetings.

c. Lexical items:

jina	(name)
nunua	(buy)
pokea	(receive)
ngoja	(wait)
Hodi	(Hodi)
langu	(my)
duka	(store, shop)

lako	(your)
kitu	(thing)
-chache	(few)
tosha	(be enough)
tu	(only)
pendeza	(please)
Kwa heri ya kuonana	(So long)

Note: The situational picture will be used as an aid during this period in connection with Step 3.

Step 1. Auditory perception and comprehension.

Step 2. Oral production of minimum utterances.

1. The cluster /mj/.

- a. In this cluster the 'j' is still a fronto-palatal stop /d'/. Thus the cluster /mj/ > /md'/. Furthermore, since the word in this lesson in which this cluster occurs, 'mji', has a monosyllabic stem, the prefix 'm' is in the penultimate position and stressed. Thus we have /m̂ji/.
- b. This word should be included in various exercises containing phrases such as:-

Katika mji.
Mji mkubwa.
Mji huu.
Ndani ya mji.
Kando ya mji.
Karibu na mji.
Ninaona mji.
Kule ni mji.

- c. The preposition 'in' or 'to' is often shown in a special idiom by suffixing 'ni' to a noun thus giving it a locative character. Thus we also get 'mjini' /md'ini/. Note the shift of accent to the new penultimate.

Anakaa mjini.
Wanakwenda mjini.

- 2. The nouns of the M-Mi class which was introduced in Lesson 7, form the plural by prefixing 'mi'. In using these nouns do not dwell on the prefixes or stress them, unless they are in a penultimate position.

Step 1. Presentation of a narrative based on the dialogue.
The situational picture will be used.

Juma na mama wanakwenda mjini. Mama anangoja chini ya mti na anasema na rafiki wawili. Juma anacheza karibu na mti. Halafu mama anasema kwa Juma: "Juma ninataka mikate minne. Rafiki hawa wanarudi nyumbani pamoja na sisi". Juma anasema anataka kununua mkate. Anakwenda mjini kwa miguu upesi sana. Anaona mkate katika duka. Anasimama na anasema: "Hodi!" Mtu katika duka anasema: "Karibu!" Juma anaingia na anasema: "Mama anataka mkate." Yule mtu anasema: "Anataka mikate mingapi?" Juma anasema anataka mikate minne. Anapokea mikate katika mfuko mkubwa na anashika mfuko kwa mikono yake miwili. Halafu anarudi kwa mama upesi.

Step 2. Questions based on the above narration:

Juma na mama wanakwenda wapi?
Mama anafanya nini chini ya mti?
Rafiki wangapi wanasema na mama?
Juma anacheza au anaketi?
Nani anarudi nyumbani pamoja na mama?
Mama anataka chakula gani?
Juma anakwenda wapi kununua mkate?

Anataka mikate mingapi?
Anaona mkate katika duka?
Juma anasema "Hodi !" kwanza?
Mtu katika duka anasema nini?
Juma anaingia halafu?
Mikate ni katika mfuko?
Juma anapokea mfuko?
Anashika mfuko kwa mikono mingapi?

Note: When answering the above questions, students should do so by using complete sentences.

Step 3. Presentation of short narratives prepared by students.

I. Sound Features

1. a. You have learned to say 'jambo', 'jina', 'moja', and learned the /d'/ sound in these words. To precede this /d'/ with an 'm' and produce the cluster /md'/ may seem a bit complicated, but it really is not any more difficult than preceding other consonants with /m/. (Refer to Generalization, Note No. 1, Lesson 2)
- b. In this lesson we find this cluster used in the word 'mji' (town, city), and because it is such a short word, the 'm' happens to be in the position of being the syllable next to the last. Following the Swahili rule of a fixed stress, we therefore have to stress this initial 'm' as we did in the words 'mtu', and 'mti'. Listen to your teacher carefully as he demonstrates this to you.
2. a. A usage expressing location has a way of replacing the word (preposition) 'katika' (meaning in or into). When speaking of staying in a place or going into a place, the Swahili speaker takes a short cut and instead of saying:

Ninakwenda katika mji. (I'm going into town)

He says:

Ninakwenda mjini.

- b. There is no difference in meaning. The 'katika' has been dropped in the first instance and a '-ni' added at the end of the noun indicating that particular place. This has also lengthened the word by a syllable, and so as to follow the rule of stress, the stress then moves forward a syllable next to last (penultimate) again.

II. Language Structure

The formation of the plural of M-Mi class nouns has been discussed generally under Generalization, Note No. 3, Lesson 7. Please refer to this Generalization.

III. Cultural Note - Greetings.

The words 'Hodi' and 'Karibu' have been used. These are very common greeting procedures in East Africa.

The word 'Hodi' has no English equivalent. It is a word used in announcing one's presence when coming into someone's yard or to the door, as if to say, "I am here".

It is therefore the polite and proper thing when a visitor approaches a house, before even knocking on the door, to say clearly "Hodi!"

The person inside can then tell from the voice of the speaker whether it is someone well known or a stranger, whether it is a man, woman or child. This is very useful knowledge indeed for the person inside.

That person who is in the house, having decided whether to admit the person or not, then may say "Karibu"! which is the invitation to come near, or to enter.

LESSON 10

LESSON 10

1. EXPRESSION STRUCTURE

- a. Phonemes: The apico-interdental fricative /ð/.
 Final vowel clusters: /ia/, /ua/, /ea/, /aa/.
 Supra-segmentals: The intonation and stress of the imperative.
- b. Morphemes: The simple verb imperative, affirmative.
- c. Syntax: The imperative follows same word order in a sentence as in English.

2. CONTENT STRUCTURE

- a. Situational setting: (i) Classroom activities.
 (ii) Early morning routine in a home for a pupil.
- b. Cultural item: A scene from a pupil's daily routine.
- c. Lexical items:

saa	(clock, watch)	upesi	(quickly)
njoo	(come)	haya	(come on!) *
nawa	(wash)	chelewa	(be late) angalia	(watch for)	tafadhali	(please) maliza	(finish, complete)	leo	(today)
safi	(clean)	fanya haraka	(hurry up)
kwanza	(first)	mbele	(in front of, ahead)
sawasawa	(properly)
polepole	(slowly)	vizuri	(well)
asubuhi	(morning)

*Note: Interjection or exclamation used to call to action or effort - Come on! Now then! Work away! Step out!

Note: The situational picture will be used as an aid during this period in connection with Step 3.

Step 1. Auditory perception and comprehension.

Step 2. Oral production of minimum utterances.

1. The voiced fricative /ð/.

The 'dh' sound has been introduced for the first time in the word 'tafadhali' (please). It is pronounced just like the English 'th' in 'this', 'that', 'gather'. In Swahili it is symbolized by 'dh' which differentiates it from the unvoiced 't'. This makes the distinction easier than in English where both the voiced and unvoiced are represented by a 'th'.

tafadhali /tafaðáli/ (Please !)

2. The intonation in short imperative utterances are:

3 - 1, or 2 - 3 - 1.

	3 - 1 - Kwenda sana!
/kwénda sàsa!/ Lete chakula!	1 - 1
/lète čakúla!/ Lete chakula!	3 - 1
	2 - 1 - 1
	3 - 1 - 1
Kwenda upesi sana!	2 - 1 - 1
/kwènda upési sâna!/ Kwenda upesi sana!	1 - 1

Note that the important word is stressed, and this is not always the verb, often it is the adverb as seen in the last example.

3. Reinforcement of vowel clusters at the end of a word. The next to the last vowel is stressed. Both vowels are open vowel sounds.

/ia/ angalia, saidia, fagia, ingia, tia

/ua/ fungua, chukua, nunua

/aa/ kaa, saa

/ea/ pokea, tembea

Use the above words in short utterances observing the matter of stress and non-obscuration.

4. Drill on the imperative.

The imperative is formed from the verb stem. There is a singular and plural form. Refer to the Generalization for a fuller explanation.

Step 1. Presentation of a narrative based on the dialogue.
The situational picture will be used.

Ali ni mtoto wa Juma na yeye ni mwanafunzi.

Skuli ni karibu na nyumba yake. Asubuhi anaamka na ananawa mikono kwanza. Halafu mama anasema: "Ali, njoo na keti hapa.

Unataka chai na mkate sasa?" Ali anasema:

"Ndio, mama, tafadhali lete chai hapa".

Ali anakunywa chai upesi. Anaangalia saa na anaona anachelewa. Mama anasema: "Maliza chai na tafuta mfuko. Fanya haraka, ninaona watoto wengi wanakwenda skuli sasa." Ali anaona mfuko ni juu ya mkeka, anashika mfuko vizuri na anafanya haraka sana.

Sasa anafungua mlango na anasema kwa heri kwa mama. Mama anasimama na anaangalia Ali anakwenda pamoja na watoto wa jirani. Halafu anaketi na anakunywa kahawa.

Step 2. Questions based on the above narration:

Nani ni mwanafunzi?

Skuli ni wapi?

Ali ni mtoto wa nani?

Asubuhi anafanya nini?

Juma ni baba ya nani?

Mama anasema nini kwa Ali?
Ali anapenda chai na mkate?
Ali ananawa nini kwanza?
Ali anaketi na halafu anasema nini?
Anakunywa chai polepole?

Nani anasema "Maliza chai?"
Watoto wengi wanakwenda wapi?
Mfuko wa Ali ni wapi?
Anashika nini vizuri?
Nani anafanya haraka?

Nani anafungua mlango?
Nani anasema "kwa heri?"
Ali anakwenda na watoto wa nani?
Mama anasimama na anaangalia nini?
Nani anaketi na anakunywa kahawa halafu?

Note: When answering the above questions, students should do so by using complete sentences.

Step 3. Presentation of short narratives prepared by students.

I. Sound Features

In English the 'th' is often voiced as in the words: gather, this, bother. We have an equivalent sound in Swahili represented by the symbol 'dh'. This is not a very frequent sound in Swahili, but it occurs in this lesson once in the word 'tafadhali' (Please!)

II. Language Structure

- a. When giving a direct command we use the stem of the verb. There is a singular and a plural form.

Simama! (Stand!) Simameni! (Stand!)

- b. Note that in the plural form which is used when addressing more than one person, there is an ending 'ni' which is added to indicate the plural. This may be a remnant of the pronoun 'ninyi' (you pl.). When this ending is used then all verbs ending in 'a' change this to 'e'. Words not ending in 'a' have no change. Study the following examples.

Fanya!	(Do !)	Fanyeni!	(Do !)
Funga!	(Shut !)	Fungeni!	(Shut !)
Pita!	(Pass !)	Piteni!	(Pass !)
Keti!	(Sit !)	Ketini!	(Sit !)

- c. Make a special note of 3 verbs in Swahili which are a little irregular in giving commands:-

Kuja!	becomes:	Njoo!	(Come !)
Kujeni!	becomes:	Njooni!	(Come !)

Kwenda!	becomes:	Nenda!	(Go !)
Kwendeni!	becomes:	Nendeni!	(Go !)

Leta!	is used as:	Lete!	(Bring !)
Leteni!	is regular again:	Leteni!	(Bring !)

III. Cultural Note

Children in this country may be accustomed to a regular routine: get up, wash, brush their teeth, comb their hair, breakfast, etc. The average African child in East Africa does not have much of a routine. If he washes his hands and face to freshen up, that may be all. The short kinky hair is no problem, teeth are not brushed (tooth-paste ads are unknown) but later he may scour the teeth a bit by chewing on the end of a special kind of stick and the frayed end may serve as a toothbrush. This is called a 'Swaki'.

Hot breakfasts or drinks are rare. Unless the child lives in a boarding school, he may get only one or two meals a day. They become used to such a routine and get along. The scene depicted in our dialogue is of a more sophisticated family.

Going to school is not a chore, but rather a privilege and the children on the whole are anxious to go to school.

SWAHILI BASIC COURSE

LESSON 11

LESSON 11

1. EXPRESSION STRUCTURE

- a.
- Phonemes
- : Initial /ñ/, and clusters /mš/, /mm/.

Reinforcement of final double vowels.

Supra-segmentals: Stress penultimate vowel when there are two vowels at the end of a word.

- b.
- Morphemes
- : (i) Plural form of the verb 'to have' in the present affirmative.
- (ii) Generalization on the Mi class.

- c.
- Syntax
- : Re-enforcement of position of adjectives and demonstratives following the noun.

2. CONTENT STRUCTURE

- a.
- Situational setting
- : (i) Classroom activities.
- (ii) Setting for a small hunting party.

- b.
- Cultural item
- : Herdsmen and protection of their cattle from lions.

- c.
- Lexical items
- :

-pana	(broad, wide)	simba	(lion)
-embamba	(narrow, thin)	tembo	(elephant)
-ingine	(another, other)	swala	(antelope)
kamata	(catch) v.	twiga	(giraffe)
nyama	(meat)	Mmasai	(a Masai)
winda	(hunt)	kimbia	(run) v.
mshale	(arrow)	kando ya	(beside, side of)

Note: The situational picture will be used as an aid during this period in connection with Step 3.

Step 1. Auditory perception and comprehension.

Step 2. Oral production of minimum utterances.

1. The initial /ñ/ has now occurred in two words.

nyumba	/ñúmba/	(house)
nyama	/ñáma/	(meat)

Drill in using the above two words simply and in short utterances.

Ndani ya nyumba.
Katika nyumba.
Karibu na nyumba.
Nyumbani.

Anakula nyama.
Nyama ya swala.
Nyama ya mbuzi.

2. Clusters /mš/ and /mm/.

a. The cluster /mš/, occurring initially has occurred only in the following words so far:-

mshale	/mšále/	(arrow)
--------	---------	---------

The same principle of gliding from a closed lip position in sounding the /m/ into the consonant that follows is applied.

b. The cluster /mm/ at this stage should be regarded more as an orthographic phenomena rather than phonological. In practice one just dwells on the /m/ a trifle longer, making it a long consonant sound, as it were, but usually there is little or no difference between a double and a single /m/ in normal speech.

Ex. Mtu mmoja.
Mmasai mmoja.
Mama mmoja.

3. a. Occasionally there are two like vowels at the end of a word, and it would appear that when sounding these words the rule of stress is changed in that the stress appears to fall on a final syllable. This is not so. In Swahili the vowel can stand alone as a syllable when not preceded by a consonant, and this is the case also with two like vowels.

Ex. anakaa	/anakáa/	(he is staying)
njoo	/njóo/	(come)
juu	/d'úu/	(on top)
mzee	/mzée/	(old man)
motokaa	/motokáa/	(automobile)
saa	/sáa/	(clock)
mguu	/mgúu/	(foot, leg)

Drill

Mzee anakaa pale.
Wazee wanakaa pale.

Njoo kwa motokaa.
Njooni kwa motokaa.

Mzee anaangalia saa.
Wazee wanaangalia saa.

Ndege anakaa juu.
Ndege wanakaa juu.

Motokaa ni mzee.
Juu ya saa.
Njoo kwa miguu.

- b. Two unlike vowels follow the same rule in that the penultimate vowel is stressed.

Ex.	angalia	/angalia/	(watch)
	chukua	/čukúa/	(carry)
	fungua	/fungúa/	(open)
	fagia	/fagia/	(sweep)
	ingia	/ingia/	(enter)
	leo	/léo/	(today)
	nunua	/nunúa/	(buy)
	pokea	/pokéa/	(receive)
	saidia	/saidia/	(help)
	tembea	/tembéa/	(walk)
	wao	/wáo/	(they)
	kimbia	/kimbía/	(run)

Drill

Angalia vizuri.
Fagia vizuri.

Step 1. Presentation of a narrative based on the dialogue.
The situational picture will be used.

Baba, Juma na Ali wanakwenda kuwinda. Wanataka kutafuta simba wakali kando ya milima mikubwa ile. Pale kuna miti mirefu na mto mdogo. Simba wanasimama chini ya mti mmoja mkubwa na wanatazama mbuzi. Simba mmoja mkubwa anataka kukamata mbuzi sasa.

Baba anasema: "Njooni upesi, tazama, simba anakamata mbuzi." Juma na Ali wanaleta mikuki mikali upesi na wanakimbia upesi sana. Simba anaona watu wanakuja na mikuki na anakimbia.

Sasa simba wanakwenda porini na wanaona twiga na swala. Simba wanapenda kula swala. Wanakimbia upesi na wanakamata swala wawili. Watu wanafurahi simba anakimbia na sasa watu hawa wanakula nyama ya mbuzi na wanafurahi.

Step 2. Questions based on the above narration:

Simba wanasimama wapi?
Wanatazama nini?
Simba mkubwa anafanya nini?
Nani anakwenda na baba kuwinda?

Wanatafuta simba wapi?
Kuna nini kando ya milima?

Juma na Ali wanaleta nini?
Wanakimbia upesi?
Kwa nini wanakimbia upesi?
Simba anaona watu?
Halafu anafanya nini?

Simba wanaona nini porini?
Wanapenda kula swala?
Wanakamata swala wangapi?
Watu wanakula nini halafu?
Wanafurahi sasa?
Je, wewe unapenda kula nyama ya mbuzi?

Note: When answering the above questions, students should do so by using complete sentences.

Step 3. Presentation of short narratives prepared by students.

I. Sound Features

1. The 'ny' /ñ/ sound as in 'nyumba' and 'nyama'. This is not any different from what you have already learned in words like 'fanya'. The only difference is that now we learn to pronounce this at the beginning of a word. This is a similar sound as in 'Señorita' and 'canyon'. Listen to your instructor carefully and practice these sounds with the front half of your tongue pressed against the roof of your mouth back of the teeth. Some people use this sound also in English when pronouncing words like: 'new', 'knew', though this may be dialectical.
2. The cluster 'msh' /mš/ occurring in the word 'mshale' is pronounced on the same principle as the previous clusters which we have learned, such as: /mk/, /mt/, /mz/, /ms/, etc. From a closed lip position while sounding the /m/ you slide into the consonant which follows, in this case the 'sh'.
3. Make careful note of the stress occurring on the next to the last vowel when there are two vowels at the end of a word, whether they be like or unlike vowels. Your instructor has brought this to your attention in the first period of this lesson unit.

II. Language Structure (Plural of 'to have')

Refer back to Generalization Note No. 3 in Lesson 8, where we presented the 3 singular forms:-

nina	(I have) una	(you have) ana	(he, she has)

The plurals are formed simply on the same pattern by combining the plural pronouns 'tu', 'm', 'wa' with the particle 'na' (meaning with).

tu + na	>	tuna	(we have)
m + na	>	mna	(you have) plural
wa + na	>	wana	(they have)

Thus:	Tuna mkate.	(We have bread.)
	Mna kazi.	(You have work.)
	Wana watoto.	(They have children.)

III. Cultural Note

In the dialogue and in the narrative we learned about some people going out with their spear to hunt lions. A lion was catching one of their goats. How do people in the plains protect their animals? Are there heavy losses from lions killing cattle?

The losses are not heavy, but precautions have to be taken. During the day two or more young herdsmen will accompany the cattle while grazing. These are usually the nomadic Masai who live by their cattle. They always carry a spear and through practice have become fine marksmen. They do not hesitate to use these spears if a lion should molest the cattle.

During the night the cattle are kept in a circular 'kraal' of branches from thorn trees piled up to 10 ft. high. This enclosure has only one entrance. The huts where people live are nearby. In case of some commotion or attack, the men quickly emerge from the huts, possibly with fire brands, and with their spears are ready to chase the lions away. The thorn enclosure keeps the cattle also safe from stampeding.

In many tribes where the people may have only 2-3 cows and half a dozen goats, they have kept these with them in their huts where they sleep, partitioning off a section of their hut for the animals while sleeping in the other. Let us remember, that the lions were not the only ones to go after the cattle, there were also two-legged cattle thieves, and all possible precautions had to be taken to keep their cattle safe.

Mwivi mmoja alifanya nini?
Walinzi walikamata wevi wangapi?
Nani alipiga ripoti?
Alipiga ripoti kwa nani?
Nani alifurahi kusikia ripoti?
Kapteni alisema nini?

Note: When answering the above questions, students should do so by using complete sentences.

Step 3. Presentation of short narratives prepared by students.

I. Sound Features

1. A series of 2 or 3 vowels is broken by a very slight break or catch in one's breath so that a fresh attack on the next vowel can be made. This is called a glottal stop. In Swahili this occurs usually when the stem of a word begins with a vowel and a prefix containing a vowel is added. We have had that occur with verbs in the following instances:

anaangalia	/ana'angalía/
ninaingia	/nina'ingía/
unaita	/una'íta/
wanaona	/wana'óna/
tuliona	/tuli'óna/
niliangalia	/nili'angalía/
mliingia	/mli'ingía/

Take note, however, that this little catch or glottal is very weak in Swahili and in rapid speech may hardly be noticeable.

2. The initial cluster /mn/ occurs with the use of the plural pronoun 'you' which in Swahili is 'm'. In a very short word this 'm' takes the position of a syllable and is stressed.

(stressed)	m na	/ṁna/	(you have)
(unstressed)	mn ataka	/mnatáka/	(you want)

II. Language Structure (The Past Tense)

In Lesson 3 you were introduced to the way in which the present tense is formed by using the present tense indicator NA as a prefix.

In this lesson you have been introduced to the past tense. The past tense prefix LI is used in place of NA when indicating the past tense.

ni	}	LI	}	kamata
u				rudi
a				fanya
tu				ona
m				tengeneza
wa				sikia

Here are a few examples:

ni-li-kamata	nilikamata	(I caught)
u-li-rudi	ulirudi	(you returned)
a-li-fanya	alifanya	(he, she did) tu-li-ona	tuliona	(we saw)
m-li-tengeneza	mlitengeneza	(you prepared)
wa-li-sikia	walisikia	(they heard)

III. Cultural Note

The military set up in East Africa is modelled after the British Army. The African Army units bear the name of King's African Rifles (K.A.R.). Units of the K.A.R. served with distinction during the last world war, both in the Middle East and in Burma.

The ranks are those of the British Army, and the uniform is khaki, and because of a warmer climate khaki shorts are standard.

The dialogue and narrative depicted a little scene from a unit encamped somewhere in the bush. Some thieves break in during the night, and those on guard duty attempt to apprehend them.

- p. Nina shabaha kama wewe.

Step 1. Presentation of a narrative based on the dialogue.
The situational picture will be used.

Rafiki yangu anapenda kuwinda. Aliondoka asubuhi sana pamoja na rafiki yake Maina.
Walikwenda porini kutafuta simba. Walichukua silaha pamoja. Mikuki ilikuwa mikali sana.
Mishale ilikuwa na sumu.

Kule porini waliona simba wawili. Mmoja alikuwa mama na alikuwa na watoto. Maina alikuwa mtu hodari. Alilenga shabaha kwa mkuki. Aliweza kuua simba mmoja. Yule mwingine alikimbia pamoja na watoto wake.

Watu hawa walifuata pamoja porini. Walikaa kutoka asubuhi hata jioni. Walirudi kwa furaha sababu waliweza kuua simba.

Step 2. Questions based on the above narration:

Nani anapenda kuwinda?
Walikwenda wapi kutafuta simba?
Waliondoka asubuhi au jioni?
Walichukua silaha gani?
Mishale ilikuwa na nini?
Waliona simba wangapi porini?
Mama simba alikuwa na nini?

Nani aliua simba mkubwa?
Alikuwa mtu hodari?
Aliweza kulenga shabaha vizuri?
Aliua simba kwa silaha gani?
Simba mwingine alifanya nini?
Watu hawa walifuatana pamoja wapi?
Kwa nini walifurahi?

Note: When answering the above questions, students should do so by using complete sentences.

Step 3. Presentation of short narratives prepared by students.

I. Sound Features

1. The 'h' is pronounced very much like in English. The 'h' is not throaty or harsh, even in words of Arabic origin. It is produced with medium force in expelling air as in: house, hill, happy. Swahili examples: Swahili, hapa, huyu, habari, hodi.
2. The cluster of a double 'nn' so far has been used once in the number 4, 'nne'. Standing alone like that the first 'n' functioning as the syllable next to the last, it would be stressed /ñe/. Listen to your instructor carefully. Now take note, when a prefix is added to such a word like in: watu wanne (4 people), then the double 'nn' is sounded like one long 'n' and the accent falls on the 'a' /wán:e/.
3. In the cluster 'nj' /nǝ/ the 'j' has a different sound than in 'jambo, Juma, jina, jirani, mji, moja', etc. It is like the sound we have in English as in: jam, general, engine, manger. So remember that when the 'j' is preceded by an 'n' it has a different sound from a /d'/ as in 'jambo' /d'ámbo/ and sounds like a /ǝ/ as in /nǝóo/ or the English 'engine' /énǝine/.
4. In the preceding lesson we learned a little about that catch before a vowel called a glottal stop. When sounding a vowel at the beginning of a word there is also a slight catch as the vowel is pronounced. One of the drills in the 1st Period exemplified this:- ana, una, ingia, ona, effendi.

II. Language Structure (Verbs 'to be' and 'to have')

1. In Swahili these two verbs are closely related because the concept of having or possessing something is based on 'being with something'. Thus our idea of having, using the verb 'to have' would not hold true in Swahili. We have to use the verb 'to be' and add the particle 'na' (meaning: with).

2. The verb 'to be' in Swahili is kuwa. However, in the present tense the non-variable particle 'ni' is used. Thus we have:-

mimi ni	(I am)
wewe ni	(you are)
yeye ni	(he, she is) sisi ni	(we are)
ninyi ni	(you are) pl.
wao ni	(they are)

3. The verb 'to have' is formed by the use of the short pronouns plus 'na'. This has also been explained in Lesson 8.

(mimi)	nina	(I have)
(wewe)	una	(you have)
(yeye)	ana	(he, she has)
(sisi)	tuna	(we have)
(ninyi)	mna	(you have) pl.
(wao)	wana	(they have)

4. When using other tenses, as we have learned to use the past tense with the prefix LI, we use 'kuwa' systematically.

nilikuwa	(I was) ulikuwa	(you were)
alikuwa	(he, she was)
tulikuwa	(we were)
mlikuwa	(you were) pl.
walikuwa	(they were)

nilikuwa na	(I had) ulikuwa na	(you had) alikuwa na	(he, she had) tulikuwa na	(we had)
mlikuwa na	(you had) pl.
walikuwa na	(they had)

III. Cultural Note

Hunting is a favorite and exciting pastime for many people, especially for Africans. There is always the promise of excitement and possibly meat. If a lion has been killed, this may be followed by festivities; dancing to their drums.

Very few Africans use firearms. They still rely on the silent and swift poison arrow or the spear. They are also excellent trackers and many can pick out the spoor where we would be completely lost.

Chances are that during the night the lion will have had his food and will settle down to rest during the day. Thus an early morning hunter will find the lion in a more relaxed mood, and perhaps a more vulnerable target.

Nini mji mkubwa wa Uganda?
Watu wengi wanakaa Kampala?
Nini skuli kubwa ya Afrika ya Mashariki?
Barabara kutoka Nairobi mpaka Kampala ni nzuri?

Note: When answering the above questions, students should do so by using complete sentences.

Step 3. Presentation of short narratives prepared by students.

I. Sound Features

1. In Swahili the /y/ should be regarded more as a semi-consonant rather than a semi-vowel. It is always followed by a vowel and together with it forms a syllable. Occasionally we get the sequence of a consonant + y + vowel. When this happens then the 'y' is regarded as a glide by which one glides more easily from the consonant into the vowel. We have an instance of this in this lesson with the words 'ndivyo' and 'sivyo'. Listen carefully as the instructor demonstrates this feature.
2. The clusters /mp/ and /mb/ have this in common: both consonants which make up the clusters are produced by the lips. There is a close relationship between the two sounds of the cluster, so much so that if the 'm' were unduly shortened there would be only one sound with a nasal quality, a pre-nasalized /p/ and /b/. As far as Swahili is concerned, the 'm' receives enough attention so that the /mp/ and /mb/ can still be regarded as clusters.
3. Question intonation varies when interrogatives (question words) are used and these are used in different positions.

Nani? (Who?) Nini? (What?) Wapi? (Where?) can be used in place of a noun, and so can be at the beginning or end:

Nani huyu?	3 ˆ -
	1 ˆ ~
Huyu nani?	3 ˆ ~
	1 ˆ -

On the Western boundary we have the ever attractive Mountains of the Moon with snow-covered Mt. Ruwenzori the highest peak. In the forests near Lake Kivu in the same area is the well known haunt of the gorilla apes. Much of the Southern boundary consists of the Northern portion of Lake Victoria. Entebbe is one of the main ports on the lake as well as a fine airport. The source of the river Nile (White Nile) is at another Lake port, Jinja. As the Nile gathers momentum flowing to Egypt it flows through a gorge where a dam has been built with a tremendous hydro-electric plant supplying electricity to a great portion of the country.

The main highways in Uganda are paved, and among the main crops and industries are: sugar growing and refineries, tea plantations, cotton, and fish from the lake.

The population of Uganda is between 6-7 million. The main tribal dialect is Luganda. Swahili is understood throughout Uganda. One of the headquarters of the Inter-Territorial Swahili Language Committee is at Makerere College in Kampala.

Wakati ua usiku mlinzi alisikia sauti. Aliamka upesi na alikwenda kutazama. Alisikia sauti katika chumba cha silaha. Alikwenda kimya kutazama. Aliona mlango ni wazi na mtu ndani ya chumba. Alisimama nyuma ya mti na alingoja.

Halafu mtu yule alitoka. Mlinzi aliona ni mpelelezi wa adui. Mpelelezi yule alifungua mlango kwa ufunguo wake. Aliingia kwa siri. Mlinzi alingoja mpaka mpelelezi anatoka. Halafu alikamata mpelelezi. Alijaribu kutoroka, lakini mlinzi alishika mikono vizuri. Vilevile aliita askari kuja kusaidia.

Kapteni alisikia ripoti ya Sajini Meja. Alifurahi alifaulu kukamata mpelelezi wa adui.

Nani alilinda zamu usiku?
Mlinzi alisikia nini?
Nani aliingia katika chumba cha silaha?

Mlinzi alikwenda kimya?

Aliona nini katika chumba?
Mpelelezi alitoka na mlinzi aliona nini?
Mpelelezi wa adui aliingia kwa siri?
Mlinzi aliingia katika chumba?
Alingoja wapi?
Mlinzi alitoroka?
Nani aliita askari?
Kapteni alifurahi?
Nani alifaulu kukamata mpelelezi?
Nani alipiga ripoti?

Note: When answering the above questions, students should do so by using complete sentences.

Step 3. Presentation of short narratives prepared by students.

I. Sound Features

1. In the cluster /mya/ the 'y' functions as a glide. We find this feature in the word 'kimya' (silent, silence). In English one can approximate this sound if the following phrase is uttered rapidly: Listen to him yell! The words 'him yell' spoken as one word would contain this feature.

2. In the clusters /kw/, /mw/, and /bw/ which we have already used before, the 'w' also performs the function of a glide. The 'w' should not approximate a 'v' but rather a 'u'.
Thus:-

/kw/ approximates the English: quail, quill, quantity. In Swahili we find this in words like: 'kwa', 'kweli', 'kwenda', 'kwanza'.

/mw/ approximates the English: Cromwell. In Swahili we find this in: mwanzo, mwalimu, mwivi, mwanafunzi.

/bw/ approximates the English: subway. In Swahili we find it in: 'kuba', 'buana'.

3. In the dialogue there are a few words again where that slight catch (weak glottal stop) occurs between vowel sequences. These were explained in Lesson 12. Watch these:-

aliingia	/ali'ingia/
aliiba	/ali'iba/
niliondoka	/nili'ondoka/
kuangalia	/ku'angalia/
niliita	/nili'ita/

II. Language Structure

1. Prepositions are words which show a relative position of something: in, on top of, under, along side, inside, etc.

In Swahili we have had the following so far:-

chini ya	(under, underneath)
juu ya	(on top of)
ndani ya	(inside of)
kando ya	(alongside of)
nyuma ya	(behind)
mbele ya	(in front of) karibu na	(near to, near with) pamoja na	(together with) katika	(in, inside, into) kwa	(to, toward, by)

Note that a number of these words are followed by the little word 'ya' (of) which is similar to English usage as well. Two of the words are followed by 'na' (with). In a phrase or sentence they follow the same word order as in English.

Chini ya kitanda.	Under the bed.
Juu ya nyumba.	On top of the house.
Pamoja na rafiki.	Together with a friend.

2. Adverbs are words which describe or qualify an action as to how or when it was done, such as: quickly, slowly, well, now, etc. In Swahili these follow the verb as in English. However, if two adverbs are used in succession, one qualifying the other, then the order may be the reverse of English. Let's illustrate:-

Alikwenda upesi. He went quickly.
Alikwenda upesi sana. He went very quickly.

(Literally: He went quickly very.)

Here is a list of adverbs which we have learned so far:-

sasa (now)	kwanza (first)
halafu (afterwards)	kwa siri (secretly)
leo (today)	vilevile (also) kesho (tomorrow)	pia (also)

upesi (quickly)	asubuhi (morning)
polepole (slowly)	jioni (evening) vizuri (well)	baada ya (after) sawasawa (properly)	kabla ya (before)

III. Cultural Note

The catching of a thief or spy by guards on duty does not reflect any typical African culture. But it might be of interest to describe such a thief or spy and his methods:-

- a. He is black or dark skinned, and thus well camouflaged for the night.
- b. Many Africans still walk barefoot, consequently the soles become thick and toughened. This enables them to walk quietly, avoiding the clatter of shoes.
- c. The African's eye-sight is very good, as a rule, and thus he may see better in the dark than we could.
- d. The thief often sheds most of his clothes and smears grease over his whole body. Thus when he is grabbed he slips out of a grasp more easily.

An African Sgt. Major from the King's African Rifles.

- o. Mtajizoeza kando ya mlima.

- p. Walinunua risasi thelathini.
mikuki, bunduki, beneti.

Step 1. Presentation of a narrative based on the dialogue.
The situational picture will be used.

Askari ishirini wanakwenda na Koplo. Watajizoeza kupiga shabaha. Watakwenda katika kiwanja kikubwa chini ya mlima. Koplo atafundisha askari kulenga bunduki. Kila askari atapata risasi thelathini. Watajizoeza kwa bidii.

Kapteni atakwenda kwa motokaa kutazama kama askari wanajizoeza vizuri. Anataka shabaha kamili. Askari watajizoeza zaidi hata kesho. Baada ya siku kumi wataweza kupiga shabaha vizuri. Hivyo Kapteni atafurahi. Halafu watajizoeza pamoja na beneti.

Step 2. Questions based on the above narration:

Askari wangapi wanakwenda kujizoeza?
Watakwenda wapi?
Nani atafundisha askari?
Atafundisha askari kufanya nini?
Askari watajizoeza kwa bidii?
Kila mmoja atapata risasi ngapi?

Kapteni atakwenda wapi?
Atatazama nini?
Anataka nini?
Askari watajizoeza siku ngapi?
Askari watalenga bunduki?
Watajizoeza kupiga shabaha?

Note: When answering the above questions, students should do so by using complete sentences.

Step 3. Presentation of short narratives prepared by students.

I. Sound Features

1. The 'th' sound as we have it in English words like 'thin', 'thirty', 'bath' is voiceless in that the vocal cords are not brought into play when sounding this 'th'. This sound occasionally appears in Swahili in borrowed words from other languages. It is not native, in fact, very often such an adopted 'th' gradually changes to an 's'.

In this lesson this voiceless 'th' occurs in the word 'thelathini' /θelaθini/ (thirty). Many people nowadays pronounce it as 'thelasini' /θelasini/ and some even as 'salasini' /salasini/. You can see from this how the 'th' tends to become an 's'. Learn the first form first, and if you slip into the second form 'thelasini' you will not be wrong either.

2. The clusters /sw/, /tw/ and /nyw/ are not new to you as you have used them in some words. Let's make sure that you have no difficulties in producing these.

The first two have equivalents in English:

- a. /sw/ switch, swivel, swerve and in Swahili you have learned to use this in words like: Swahili, swala.
- b. /tw/ twirl, twitch, between, twenty. In Swahili you have used this in the word 'twiga' (giraffe).
- c. The third cluster /nyw/ or /ñw/ is not found in English. So you will have to familiarize yourself with this sound and listen carefully as you imitate your teacher. It is the /ñ/ sound as in 'señorita' followed by the 'w' as a glide into the vowel 'a' as we have it in the word 'kunywa' (to drink).

You will have noted that in all these 3 clusters we have again the 'w' as a glide. Refer to the previous Generalization about this for further information.

3. You have learned that in Swahili there is a fixed stress or accent on the syllable next to the last. What happens in short words of one syllable like 'na' (and, with), 'ni' (am, is, are) 'si' (am not)? These words do not have an accent and stand under the influence of the word which follows it, some times in rapid speech appearing as if they belong to such words.

Ex. Mtóto na^mama.
Ali ni^mtóto.

Then we have, as in any language, short one syllable words of exclamation. We have used such words also in Swahili:

La,	No
Lo!	My!
Je?	Say?

Such words can carry a strong stress, followed by a break or a pause.

4. The ending '-ni' which you have learned to use at the end of some nouns was a substitute for words indicating a location, such as: katika (in), kwa (to), ndani ya (inside). Thus instead of saying:

'katika mji'	we said	'mjini'.
'ndani ya hema'	we said	'hemani'.
'kwa mji'	we said	'mjini'.
'katika pori'	we said	'porini'.

This ending suggests a different word order:

'katika mji'	(in town)
'mjini'	(lit: town in)

II. Language Structure

You have learned to express yourself by now with 3 different tenses:-

Present	NA	ninafanya	(I am doing)
Past	LI	nilifanya	(I did)
Future	TA	nitafanya	(I will do)

As you study the above 3 examples you will notice that in order to change from one tense to another you substitute the correct tense prefix. In all other respects the verb remains unchanged.

III. Cultural Note

When African soldiers are for the first time on the rifle range it is usually their first experience in handling a weapon of that sort. It is quite a different habit which they have to acquire from shooting silent arrows from a bow to the aiming of rifles, pulling a trigger which mysteriously sets off a loud bang, and which effects a hit on the target with a seemingly invisible projectile.

In silent jungle warfare where you would not wish to betray your position, the silent, swift poisoned arrow can be more disconcerting than rifle fire.

anasema: "Jemadari anajua mwenyewe".

Atakuwa tayari kwenda Unguja?
Fatuma atakwenda pamoja?

Note: When answering the above questions, students should do so by using complete sentences.

Step 3. Presentation of short narratives prepared by students.

I. Sound Features

- a. From the outset you have been taught about the Swahili vowels as being rather open un-obscured vowels. Because of the influence of English, one has to watch particularly the /a/ and the /u/ especially in unstressed syllables so that they are not pronounced in a lazy fashion, because the lips have to be brought into play more to round the /u/ and /o/, and the /a/ has to be more open.
- b. The influence of vowel stems is noticable on pre-fixes in Swahili in that they often produce changes. This emphasises in another way again the importance of vowels, especially in Swahili where every word also ends in a vowel.

In this lesson this feature is evident in words of the Ki-Vi class where the stem of a word begins with a vowel. For example, we note how the prefix 'ki' changes to 'ch' before a vowel stem.

ki + umba	>	chumba	(not: kiumba)
ki + angu	>	changu	(not: kiangu)
ki + ote	>	chote	(not: kiote)
ki + ema	>	chema	(not: kiema)

In the plural the prefix 'vi' changes to 'vy' before vowel stems. For example:

vi + angu	>	vyangu
vi + umba	>	vyumba
vi + ote	>	vyote

II. Language Structure

- a. This lesson has introduced a new group or class of nouns. They are the words which begin with 'ki' in the singular and change this to 'vi' in the plural.
- b. Adjectives which are used with such nouns take on the same prefixes as the noun.

Kitu kidogo.
Kikapu kikubwa.

- c. The pointing out words (demonstratives) are built on the 'ki-vi' prefixes.

hiki	(this)	hivi	(these) kile	(that)	vile	(those) kiti hiki (this chair) viti hivi (these chairs) kiti kile (that chair) viti vile (those chairs)

III. Cultural Note

The Island of Zanzibar (Unguja in Swahili) is mentioned in the dialogue. This is an island of historic importance. It is not far off from the two main ports of East Africa, Mombasa and Dar es Salaam. For hundreds of years it was occupied by Arabs and to this day it is controlled by an Arab Sultan, although regarded as a British Protectorate as well.

Much of the penetration of the interior of Africa was from Zanzibar. David Livingstone started out from there. It has been the oldest administrative and trade center. In fact, during the olden days of the slave trade, the main slave market was in Zanzibar. After slavery was abolished, a cathedral was built on the site of the old slave market.

The main crops and industry of Zanzibar are:- (a) spices, especially cloves, and (b) coconut products of various kinds. Zanzibar also boasts the purest and best brand of Swahili, and it is the Zanzibar Swahili which has been accepted as standard throughout East Africa.

Wapelelezi wa kikosi chetu waliondoka asubuhi sana kuchungua adui. Walikwenda kimya bila kuonekana. Halafu walisimama karibu kidogo.
Sajini alichungua adui kwa darubini. Alihesabu adui kama thelathini. Aliona askari tisa wanashika bunduki, na saba walikuwa na bunduki ya bombomu. Askari wengine walikwenda karibu na mto. Kule chini ya daraja walianza kutayarisha baruti. Waliweka baruti chini ya daraja.

Koplo alishika bunduki vibaya. Kwa ajali alifyatua bunduki. Sasa adui wote walikimbia moja kwa moja msituni. Lakini Sajini alitoa amri kufuata adui na walipiga risasi. Walifaulu kupiga adui sita risasi. Halafu walirudi na Sajini alipiga ripoti kwa Kapteni.

Walipiga adui risasi?
Waliua wangapi?

Note: When answering the above questions, students should do so by using complete sentences.

Step 3. Presentation of short narratives prepared by students.

I. Sound Features

You have learned to use the /y/ as a glide in words like:

vyombo	/vy/
kimya	/my/

In this lesson we add another such cluster containing /fy/. There are very few words containing this sound, but some of these are useful. The /fy/ as in the word 'fyatua' is pronounced as in the English word 'few'.

II. Language Structure

You have learned to count up to ten in Swahili. You will have learned then that numbers are treated like an adjective, they follow the noun, and also agree with the noun. It so happens that some of the numbers are Bantu in origin and others are Arabic in origin. Those of the Bantu origin take prefixes to agree with the noun, but the others do not take any prefixes. Make a careful note of these.

a. The following take prefixes:-

-moja	(1)
-wili	(2)
-tatu	(3)
-nne	(4)
-tano	(5)
-nane	(8)

b. The following do not take prefixes:-

sita	(6)
saba	(7)
tisa	(9)
kumi	(10)

A unit of the Kenya
Regiment on patrol.

Note: When answering the above questions, students should do so by using complete sentences.

Step 3. Presentation of short narratives prepared by students.

I. Sound Features

You have learned about those special clusters where a consonant is followed by /y/. This /y/ acts as a glide into the vowel which follows. So far you have learned /vy/ as in vyote, vyumba,

/my/ as in kimya,
/fy/ as in fyatua,

and now we'll add another one to the list, namely /py/ which occurs in the word '-pya' (new). Kitu kipya (a new thing). A near English equivalent would be the /py/ sound as in 'pew', 'puny'.

II. Language Structure

Read again the Generalization on nouns of the Ki-Vi class as given in Lesson 17. The pronouns referring to nouns in this class are: 'ki' (it) and 'vi' (they).

Kiti kinasimama.	(The chair is standing)
Viti vinasimama.	(The chairs are standing)

Note also that these prefixes change before a vowel stem: ki > ch, vi > vy. This was explained also under 'Sound Features' in Lesson 17. In this lesson you have had more practice with nouns of this class.

III. Cultural Note

If meat is used in an African kitchen (for not many can afford to have meat often) then it is usually prepared as a stew, boiled with tomatoes, and sometimes onions. Meat is not fried. On special occasions when more people have been invited, then a leg of beef or a whole goat is roasted over an open fire, and then people help themselves by cutting off chunks of meat. The fingers are freely used and forks are not used. These are a Western importation.

Cooked rice, potatoes, or corn meal mush are commonly used at most meals.

Wataweza kununua shuka vilevile?
Mama atapanga viazi kwa njia gani?

Note: When answering the above questions, students should do so by using complete sentences.

Step 3. Presentation of short narratives prepared by students.

I. Sound Features

There are two compound words used in this lesson: mwanamume (man) and mwanamke (woman). Since these two words are made up of two words, the first one loses the regular stress and the second word carries the stress on the next to the last syllable as usual:-

s.	mwána múme	>	mwanamúme	(man)
pl.	wána waúme	>	wanaúme	(men)
s.	mwána mke	>	mwanámke	(woman)
pl.	wána wáke	>	wanawáke	(women)

Note that the stress in 'mwanámke' often slips back to 'mwanámke'. Both pronunciations will be heard in the spoken language.

II. Language Structure

In the compound words 'mwanamume' and 'mwanamke' take note of the change of prefixes, not only at the beginning of the word, but also in the middle when forming the plural:

s.		pl.
mwanamke	>	mw anamke > wanawake
mwanamume	>	mw anamume > wanaume

The singular prefix 'm' is removed in both places and 'wa' substituted for the plural, except in 'wanaume' where it appears only in the beginning.

III. Cultural Note

The African Market is a most interesting place. In the cities it is usually in a large building, controlled and made to fit a new pattern. But in the rural communities, market day, which may be held

2 - 3 times a week, has an added social function. The market place is out in the open, there is a large crowd of gaily clad people milling around. Much visiting takes place with the banter and barter. Men and women sell their respective goods which are usually spread out on the ground; each seller having his or her allotted space. Items for sale will include: goats, chickens, eggs, bananas, pawpaws, dry beans, corn, potatoes, and other food stuffs. There would also be sections where bright materials, beads, combs, etc. are sold.

Step 1. Presentation of a narrative based on the dialogue.
The situational picture will be used.

Juma anakwenda kusalimia rafiki yake katika dispensari. Huyo ni daktari mdogo katika dispensari. Anatoa dawa kwa wagonjwa.

Juma anaona wagonjwa wengi na anapenda kujua habari ya wagonjwa. Baba mzee anaketi pale, anaumia kichwa na ana homa. Daktari anatumia chombo maalum (themometa) kupima joto katika mwili. Anapima kila kitu vizuri na anaona mzee ana homa ya malaria. Halafu mzee mgonjwa anapata dawa ya kwinini.

Wanawake wengine hata na watoto, wanaumia tumbo. Hao watapata dawa ya kusafisha tumbo. Halafu Juma aliona watoto wanaumia miguu kwa sababu ya vidonda. Atasafisha vidonda hivyo kwanza, halafu daktari atatia dawa, na atafunga vidonda kwa kitambaa chembamba. Daktari ana kazi kubwa kusaidia watu hawa.

Step 2. Questions based on the above narration:

Juma anakwenda wapi?
Nani anatoa dawa kwa wagonjwa?

Hawa ni wagonjwa?

Watoto wengine wanaumia miguu?
Vidonda ni katika mikono?
Daktari atafanya nini na vidonda?
Kazi ya daktari ni kusaidia nani?

Note: When answering the above questions, students should do so by using complete sentences.

Step 3. Presentation of short narratives prepared by students.

I. Sound Features

You will have recognized a few English words which have been taken into the Swahili language. In the process of assimilation some changes take place, such as:

- a. Since words in Swahili end with a vowel, so either a vowel is added or a consonant dropped.
- b. Unfamiliar consonant clusters may be split up and vowels slipped in.
- c. The accent may shift to follow the Swahili fixed stress.

Here are some such words for your study:-

English		Swahili doctor	>	daktári
dispensary	>	dispénsari
Sergeant	>	Sajíni
Corporal	>	Kóplo
Captain	>	Kapténi
motorcar	>	motokáa

II. Language Structure

- a. You have learned the pointing out words (demonstratives) like:

huyu	(this)	hawa	(these)
yule	(that)	wale	(those)

By taking the form which begins with 'h' and changing the ending to 'o' we get a demonstrative of reference. This is used in referring back to something which has been mentioned or pointed out. Here is an example how this would be used. A teacher up in front may point to a picture of a person and ask: Is this a child? 'Huyu ni mtoto?' The person further away would not reply and say: Yes, this is a child, but in English would change it and say 'That is a child'. In Swahili the demonstrative 'that' is really for objects further away, and according to good usage would therefore refer to the item already introduced in the conversation by the use of this demonstrative of reference. Thus:-

Huyu ni mtoto? Ndio, huyo ni mtoto.

- b. In the three noun classes that we have learned so far these would be:

M-WA class

s. huyo
pl. hao

(that aforementioned) person
(those aforementioned) persons

M-MI class

s. huo
pl. hiyo

(that aforementioned) tree
(those aforementioned) trees

KI-VI class

s. hicho
pl. hivyo

(that aforementioned) thing
(those aforementioned) things

III. Cultural Note

Dotted throughout the country in East Africa are numerous small medical dispensaries where common ailments are treated and first aid administered. Serious cases are taken to a hospital if possible.

Looking over the patients one would find three prevalent ailments: (1) Malaria fever which is prevalent throughout most of Africa and against which quinine is still the common and somewhat safer medicine. (2) Intestinal parasites and stomach trouble. The appropriate worm medicine and purgative like Epsom Salts would be helpful. (3) Open sores, especially on legs. Being open to infection, covered with flies, these may become difficult to control. Some tincture of iodine or a good disinfectant after washing out the sore with hot water and soap, and then a bandage if necessary, will be the usual treatment.

The Government maintains these dispensaries and treatment is either free or at a very nominal cost.

"I wonder what he is listening for?"

A scene from a dispensary.

Bei ya viatu vya ngozi ni ghali, lakini vile vya mpira ni rahisi. Wananunua vya mpira. Sasa wanauliza vitu vyote jumla ni bei gani. II. Language Structure

- a. It will be recalled that the numbers 1-5 and 8 take a concordial prefix like the other adjectives do. The other numbers, being of Arabic origin, do not take a prefix.
- b. When higher numbers are used, then the following order is used:

11 > kumi na moja (ten and one) 12 > kumi na mbili (ten and two)

After 20 (ishirini), 30 (thelasini) etc., the same order is used: e.g. 25 > ishirini na tano (twenty and five) etc.

III. Cultural Note

The small shops in towns and villages are usually arranged so that the counter opens onto the street when the shutter is opened. There is quite a variety of items in this small one room shop or 'duka', ranging from tin goods, loose rice, flour, sugar, etc. to colorful cloths and wearing apparel. The needs of the community are catered to. Lamps and kerosene, matchets and hoes, aspirin and quinine, sandals and shoes, etc., even some candy, would be found among many items.

In earlier years the ever-present shopkeeper would be an Indian from India. They are to this day the general merchants and outnumber the whites 5 to 1. However, many Africans are also catching on to this kind of business and open shops of their own. In large cities like Nairobi, the modern shops would hold their own with many modern shops in America.

Watafanya nini halafu?
Nani alifurahi kusikia habari ya redio?

Note: When answering the above questions, students should do so by using complete sentences.

Step 3. Presentation of short narratives prepared by students.

I. Sound Features

The guttural /ɣ/ or /gh/. This is not a sound which is natural to Swahili as a Bantu lingua franca. Therefore some of the Arabic loan words with this sound, as they are assimilated into Swahili soon lose this sound. Thus this /ɣ/ is replaced by the hard /g/ sound in pronunciation, although the writing system often retains the old spelling with /gh/.

Ex: ghali > /gáli/ (expensive) ghafla > /gáfla/ (suddenly) ghasia > /gasía/ (upheaval)

Occasionally, however, one hears Africans who affect Arabic mannerisms use this guttural /gh/. It is sounded by raising the back of the tongue against the uvula and attempting to sound a back /g/ as if it were a fricative. For our purposes, however, we will stick to the plain hard /g/.

II. Language StructureThe Perfect Tense - prefix ME

In simple language this can be regarded as the 'completed' tense. When the action has been completed the resulting state or condition carries on into the present time. This is expressed by the ME tense in Swahili. The nearest equivalent in English is with the auxiliary 'have'.

I have come. Nimekuja.
I have eaten. Nimekula.

Or the resultant condition expressed in English by the present.

He is dead. Amekufa.

The formation is straightforward just as in the other tenses. Refer back to Generalizations in Lessons: 3, 12, and 14.

III. Cultural Note

The dialogue describes an enemy raid on a town or village. In modern warfare this becomes a universal horror and is not specific to any area or people as a cultural manifestation.

When a more primitive village is attacked by a neighboring tribe or by the Mau Mau, devastation is often complete. The easily combustible huts burn quickly to the ground, and many are left homeless if they escape a massacre. In the Congo some such victims are caught and eaten by cannibals.

I. Sound Features

In this lesson the fronto palatal stop /d'/ is reinforced. This sound was introduced in Lesson 5. Check back to this lesson, as well as Lesson 6. It is a sound which needs watching as it is different from English. Note that when preceded by the nasal /n/, then this sound combines with it and becomes a palatalized /nj/ as in the English 'banjo'.

II. Language Structure

Note that many nouns of the M-Mi class are names of plants.

mti - miti	(tree)
mbuni - mibuni	(coffee tree)
mmea - mimea	(plant)

Many others have not been learned yet.

The names of various fruits and crops usually then come under the Ma class.

mchungwa - michungwa	(orange tree)
chungwa - machungwa	(orange - the fruit)
mwembe - miembe	(mango tree)
embe - maembe	(mango fruit)
mhindi - mihindi	(corn plant)
hindi - mahindi	(corn)

III. Cultural Note

Coffee growing has become an important economic factor in East Africa. It is grown in higher altitudes from 4 - 7,000 ft where there is sufficient rainfall. The Africans do not own large coffee plantations, but they have formed co-operative coffee associations, so that every grower who has a few trees or many, can bring his small share, get paid for it, and the machinery for processing, marketing, etc. is done by the association.

Picking ripe coffee cherries.

Wamasai wengi wanakaa chini ya milima karibu na Kijabe. Wengine ni tajiri zaidi na wanafuga ng'ombe wengi sana.

Gesuga ni Mmasai mmoja tajiri. Ameoa wake sita na ana watoto ishirini na wawili. Kwa sheria ya Wamasai ana ruhusa kuoa wake wengi. Vilevile ana ng'ombe wengi, hata na punda na mbuzi. Watoto wake wakubwa ni vijana hodari. Wanasaidia kuliisha ng'ombe porini. Kila mmoja anashika mkuki wa kufukuza simba.

Wanyama hawa ni wenye faida kwa Gesuga. Ng'ombe anatoa maziwa. Wamasai wanakata ng'ombe kidogo na halafu wanatoa damu kidogo. Damu wanachanganya na maziwa kwa chakula chao. Step 3. . Presentation of short narratives prepared by students.

I. Sound Feature

The initial /ŋ/ is found in Swahili but not in English. It is the same sound as the 'ng' in 'singing'. The trick is to be able to start a word with this sound. Concentrated practice will be necessary in the beginning in pronouncing a word like:

ng'ombe /ŋómbe/ (cow, cattle)

II. Language Structure

Generalization.

A note might be made about the use of the word 'kuoa' (to marry). This is used only when referring to men marrying. When a woman gets married, the word 'kuolewa' (to be married) is used.

III. Cultural Note

As mentioned before, the Masai are a nomadic tribe living mainly off the large herds of cattle which they raise. They roam through the open plains in Kenya and Tanganyika herding their cattle where many of the wild animals also roam. They always carry spears in case of attacks by lions.

According to their tribal custom, they may marry many wives. The wealthier they are, the more wives they have.

Otieno ni mvuvi na anakaa kando ya ziwa kubwa Viktoria, nchi ya Kenya. Wavuvi wengi wanakaa pale na wanavua samaki kila siku. Kijana hodari ni mtoto wa Otieno. Yeye anasaidia baba yake kuvua samaki. Anapenda kuendesha mtumbwi wao vilevile.

Kila mvuvi ana mtumbwi wake. Chombo hicho kinafaa kwa kukamata samaki hata kuvuka ziwa. Mitumbwi ya wavuvi wengine ni tofauti kidogo, lakini si sana. Watoto wanapenda sana kucheza majini, hata kuogelea.

Kila wiki wavuvi wanakamata samaki wengi. Halafu wanapeleka samaki sokoni. Watu wengi watanunua samaki. Otieno anapenda kukausha samaki juani. Mke wake anapenda kutumia samaki kwa chakula pamoja na ugali. Samaki ni chakula kizuri. Je, wewe unapenda kula samaki vilevile?

Step 2. Questions based on the above narration:

Nani ni mvuvi?
Kazi ya mvuvi ni kufanya nini?

Otieno anafanya nini na samaki juani?
Mama anapenda kufanya nini na samaki?
Samaki ni chakula kizuri?

Note: When answering the above questions, students should do so by using complete sentences.

Step 3. Presentation of short narratives prepared by students.

I. Sound Feature

The possessive pronouns all begin with a vowel. As they are in the category of pronouns the subject prefixes are added, and not the concordial prefixes used with nouns and adjectives. The phonetic changes will be as follows:

M-Wa class (yu-wa)

	s.		pl.
my	yu-angu > wangu	wa-angu > wangu
your	yu-ako > wako	wa-ako > wako
his	yu-ake > wake	wa-ake > wake
our	yu-etu > wetu	wa-etu > wetu
your	yu-enu > wenu	wa-enu > wenu
their	yu-ao > wao	wa-ao > wao

Ex. Mtoto wangu.

Watoto wangu.

M-Mi class (u-i) u-angu > wangu i-angu > yangu

Ex. Mkono wangu.

Mikono yangu.

Ki-Vi class (ki-vi)

ki-angu > changu vi-angu > vyangu

Ex. Kisu changu.

Visu vyangu.

II. Language Structure

The prefixes with regard to possessive pronouns have been explained above. Make a note again that it is the subject prefixes which are used with pronouns, and not the adjectival concordial prefixes. There are some differences between these.

Note that possessive pronouns follow the item possessed, and does not precede as is the case in English.

Thus:

My child in Swahili would be: 'child my'.
(mtoto wangu)

III. Cultural Note

The dialogue reflects a small fishing scene from among the Luo people living on the East shore of Lake Victoria.

Fishing among the lake people is an important industry. Much of it is still done the old fashioned way, using small boats and canoes. The fish are caught in nets and fish traps. The commonest fish there is the tilapia. This is a medium size fish smaller than a salmon.

Fish figures heavily in the diet of these people. Most of them are dried in the sun and then taken to market. Fishing has its adventures too, since there are crocodiles and hippos in this lake as well.

Watu wengi wanafika dukani kununua vyakula vya kila aina. Wengine wanataka matunda, mkate, viazi, kahawa au chai. Wengine labda watataka nyama, maziwa, au samaki.

Mwenye duka anakaa hapa karibu. Jana alikwenda mjini kununua vitu vya kuuza dukani. Leo lori imefika na imejaa mizigo mingi. Watu wanene wenye nguvu wanainua mizigo na wanapanga dukani. Mizigo ni mizito na watu hawa wanakazana sana. Mwenye duka ni mwenyeji wa hapa.

Katika mizigo ni vyakula mbalimbali. Usiku mwenye duka atafunga mlango na mbwa wake atalala karibu. Huyo ni mbwa mweusi, mkubwa na mwaminifu. Anaweza kuwa mkali sana. Kama wevi watafika usiku, mbwa atapiga kelele sana kutisha wevi. Wevi wataogopa na watakimbia.

Step 2. Questions based on the above narration:

Watu wanatafuta nini dukani?
Wengine wanataka kununua nini?

Nani anainua mizigo mizito?
Wanapanga wapi mizigo?
Mwenye duka ni mwenyeji?

Vyakula mbalimbali ni wapi?
Nani atafunga mlango usiku?
Nani atalala karibu?
Nani atapiga kelele usiku?
Wevi wataogopa na watafanya nini?

Note: When answering the above questions, students should do so by using complete sentences.

Step 3. Presentation of short narratives prepared by students.

I. Sound Feature

- a. The word '-enye' expresses the idea of: having, owning, or becoming. The initial vowel causes changes when prefixes are added. Subject prefixes are used as with the possessive pronouns, except for the Living Beings class singular, 'MW'. Refer back to Lesson 26.
- b. From the above the word 'mwenyeji' has been formed. This has two sounds not common to English, the /ñ/ and /d'/. This word requires careful practice, /mweñéd'i/.

II. Language Structure

- a. Generalization on the past tense, prefix LI. See Lesson 12 for details.
- b. The word '-enye' should be treated as a pronoun rather than an adjective. The prefixes are pronominal, except the singular of the Living or M-Wa class, which is 'mw-'.
 - c. The following forms have developed from '-enye'.

'-enye' = having. Mtu mwenye nguvu.
(The person having power.)
(The powerful person.)

'-enyewe' = self, be himself, etc.
Alifaulu mwenyewe.
(He succeeded by himself.)

mwenyeji = native, resident.
Wenyeji wa Kenya.
(Natives (residents) from Kenya.)

III. Cultural Note

The small shop owner living in more remote villages has a problem sometimes in getting his supplies. During the rainy seasons the unpaved roads become very muddy and almost impassable. Thus the trucks with supplies, or lorries, may not get through. Usually the shop owner hires a lorry and goes to a bigger city to get supplies which may last him 3 - 4 weeks.

When he is back at his 'duka' some strong and able bodied fellows help with the unloading and storing. They may get paid with a supply of food to take home.

To protect his little shop from thieves may be a problem in some parts. Often the owner or watchman sleeps in the 'duka', or else a good watch dog is locked in. The 'duka' is usually built of stone with a corrugated iron roof, or else the walls are of corrugated iron as well.

III. Cultural Note

African education in East Africa. When children have attended 4 years in the elementary school, there is usually an entrance examination to the next level, called Middle-Schools. Here the pupils are boarders. These middle schools have a more advanced program, including athletics, sports and competitive inter-school games. Perhaps 4 or 5 schools will compete at an appointed place. They will have small bands, and large numbers of people will come to watch. Such events are much enjoyed by all.

Each school team has its own colors and distinctive athletic uniform. There will be races: 100 yard dash, 220 yards, 1 mile race; relay and hurdle races; long jumps and pole vaults; spear and weight throwing, etc. At the end of these competitive games prizes are awarded to the winners, then later in the afternoon there may be some football games.

These inter-school events have a definite value in that children from different tribes get together. Often each school represents a tribal area.

The situational picture will be used.

Siku moja Juma alipata barua kutoka Nairobi. Mama aliandika kusema yeye ni mgonjwa na anakosa pesa. Juma anapenda mama yake na hivi aliandika barua yake haraka. Alitia pesa ndani ya bahasha na alituma barua rejista. Hivi barua itafika salama.

Alitaka barua kufika Nairobi upesi. Hivyo alikwenda posta kununua stempu zaidi. Alipata stempu za senti ishirini na tano. Alitia hizo juu ya bahasha. Sasa aliweza kupeleka barua kwa ndege. Kwa ndege barua itafika Nairobi kwa siku mbili. Aliandika barua kwa kalamu juu ya karatasi nyepesi. Halafu aliandika anwani juu ya bahasha.

Kule nchi ya mbali mama atapokea barua. Ataona pesa ndani yake. Atasoma habari ya mtoto wake Juma. Atafurahi sana kupata barua hiyo.

Step 2. Questions based on the above narration:

Aliandika nini juu ya bahasha?
Kwa ndege barua itafika katika siku ngapi?
Mama atafurahi kupokea barua?

Note: When answering the above questions, students should do so by using complete sentences.

Step 3. Presentation of short narratives prepared by students.

I. Sound Feature

The 'ng' sound as it occurs in the English words: singing, bang, ding dong, never occurs at the beginning of a word in English. In Swahili, however, it does occur initially, and therefore the student has to learn this new habit, when he pronounces a word like 'ng'ombe' /ŋómbé/. Listen to your teacher carefully and imitate him. Refer back to Lesson 25 where this /ŋ/ sound was introduced.

As a second step we now learn to combine the /ŋ/ with a /g/ and so get the hard 'g' sound right after the /ŋ/. This is similar to the English in 'bingo', 'tango'. (Compare this with 'bing', 'fling'). In Swahili this sound is also used at the beginning of a word, as in 'nguo', /ŋúo/; 'ngozi' /ŋózi/; 'ngoma' /ŋóma/; 'nguvu' /ŋúvu/.

Here are two more clusters beginning with 'n', the /nj/ sounds as in the English 'enjoy', 'injury' or even 'binge', or 'engine'. Then there is also the /nč/ as in the English 'inch', 'bench'. In Swahili these two clusters may also occur initially as in: 'njia' /njía/; 'nje' /ńje/ and 'nchi' /ńči/.

II. Language Structure

The N class is introduced in this lesson. The group of nouns belonging to this class have the prefix N both in the singular and the plural. In English we have a very few instances where the singular and plural form are the same, as in: cattle, deer, fish, etc. The adjectives also take N as a concordial prefix.

Since N may be awkward to pronounce preceding a certain consonant, it will drop out before K, CH, T, S, N, F, P and H. To remember these letters try this mnemonic:-

King Charles The Second Never Fought Prince Henry.

The N is retained before D, G, J, Y, Z, and before a B, the NB changes to MB. Before a W the NW changes to MB, e.g. -wili > mbili. Before a vowel the N changes to NY, e.g. nyumba, nyingi, nyeusi.

The pronouns are: 'i' (it), 'zi' (they). These are used as subject prefixes and with the demonstratives: hii (this), hizi (these); ile (that), zile (those).

Most words of foreign origin are conveniently grouped into the N class, e.g. motokaa, bunduki, chai, kahawa, keki, baisikeli, etc.

III. Cultural Note

The Post Office in East Africa, as anywhere else in the world, plays a vital role in our communication system. The points of difference between the postal system here in America and over there are:-

- a. Difference in monetary systems, the U.S. dollar vs. the British £ sterling.
- b. The handling of all telegrams by the Post Office, whereas here Western Union handles them.
- c. Attached to the postal service in East Africa is the popular Post Office Savings Account. This performs the functions of a modified Savings Bank and pays interest on amounts deposited.

In other respects concerning mailing, delivery, registration, issuing of stamps, etc., all these postal services are alike.

Step 1. Presentation of a narrative based on the dialogue.
The situational picture will be used.

Juma aliamka asubuhi na alikwenda kazini. Kule rafiki yake aliuliza: "Je, Juma! Saa ngapi sasa?" Juma aliangalia saa yake juu ya mkono na alisema, "Ni saa mbili". Huyu alikuwa Mswahili. Sasa anasema na Mwingereza na yeye anasema ni saa nane.

Rafiki huyo alitambua ya kwamba kuna tofauti ya saa sita katika kuhesabu saa. Waafrika wanahesabu saa baada ya jua kutoka asubuhi, na Wazungu kutoka saa sita usiku.

Juma anakula chakula cha asubuhi saa moja. Halafu anakwenda kazini saa mbili na nusu. Saa sita na robo anapata ruhusa kwa chakula cha saa sita. Saa kumi na nusu jioni anarudi nyumbani. Anapumzika kidogo kabla ya chakula cha jioni. Baadaye anakwenda kulala saa nne usiku.

Step 2. Questions based on the above narration:

Juma alikwenda wapi asubuhi?
Rafiki alitaka kujua nini?
Juma aliangalia nini?
Mwingereza alisema nini?
Rafiki alitambua nini?

Wazungu wanahesabu saa kwa njia gani?
Juma anakula saa ngapi asubuhi?
Anakwenda kazini saa ngapi?
Anapata ruhusa saa ngapi wakati wa saa sita?

Anarudi lini nyumbani?
Kule atafanya nini kwanza?
Baada ya kupumzika atakula tena?
Halafu anafanya nini?
Atalala saa ngapi usiku?

Note: When answering the above questions, students should do so by using complete sentences.

Step 3. Presentation of short narratives prepared by students.

I. Sound Feature

In Lesson 11 we discussed the double vowels which are alike in sound, such as /aa/, /ee/, etc. as they occur at the end of a word. It is good to review these, and occasionally such a double vowel occurs within the word as in 'baadaye' or 'baada ya' or 'msaada'. Such vowels must be kept long, in fact in communities affected by Arabic, there would appear a slight glottal stop between the vowels, 'ba'adaye'.

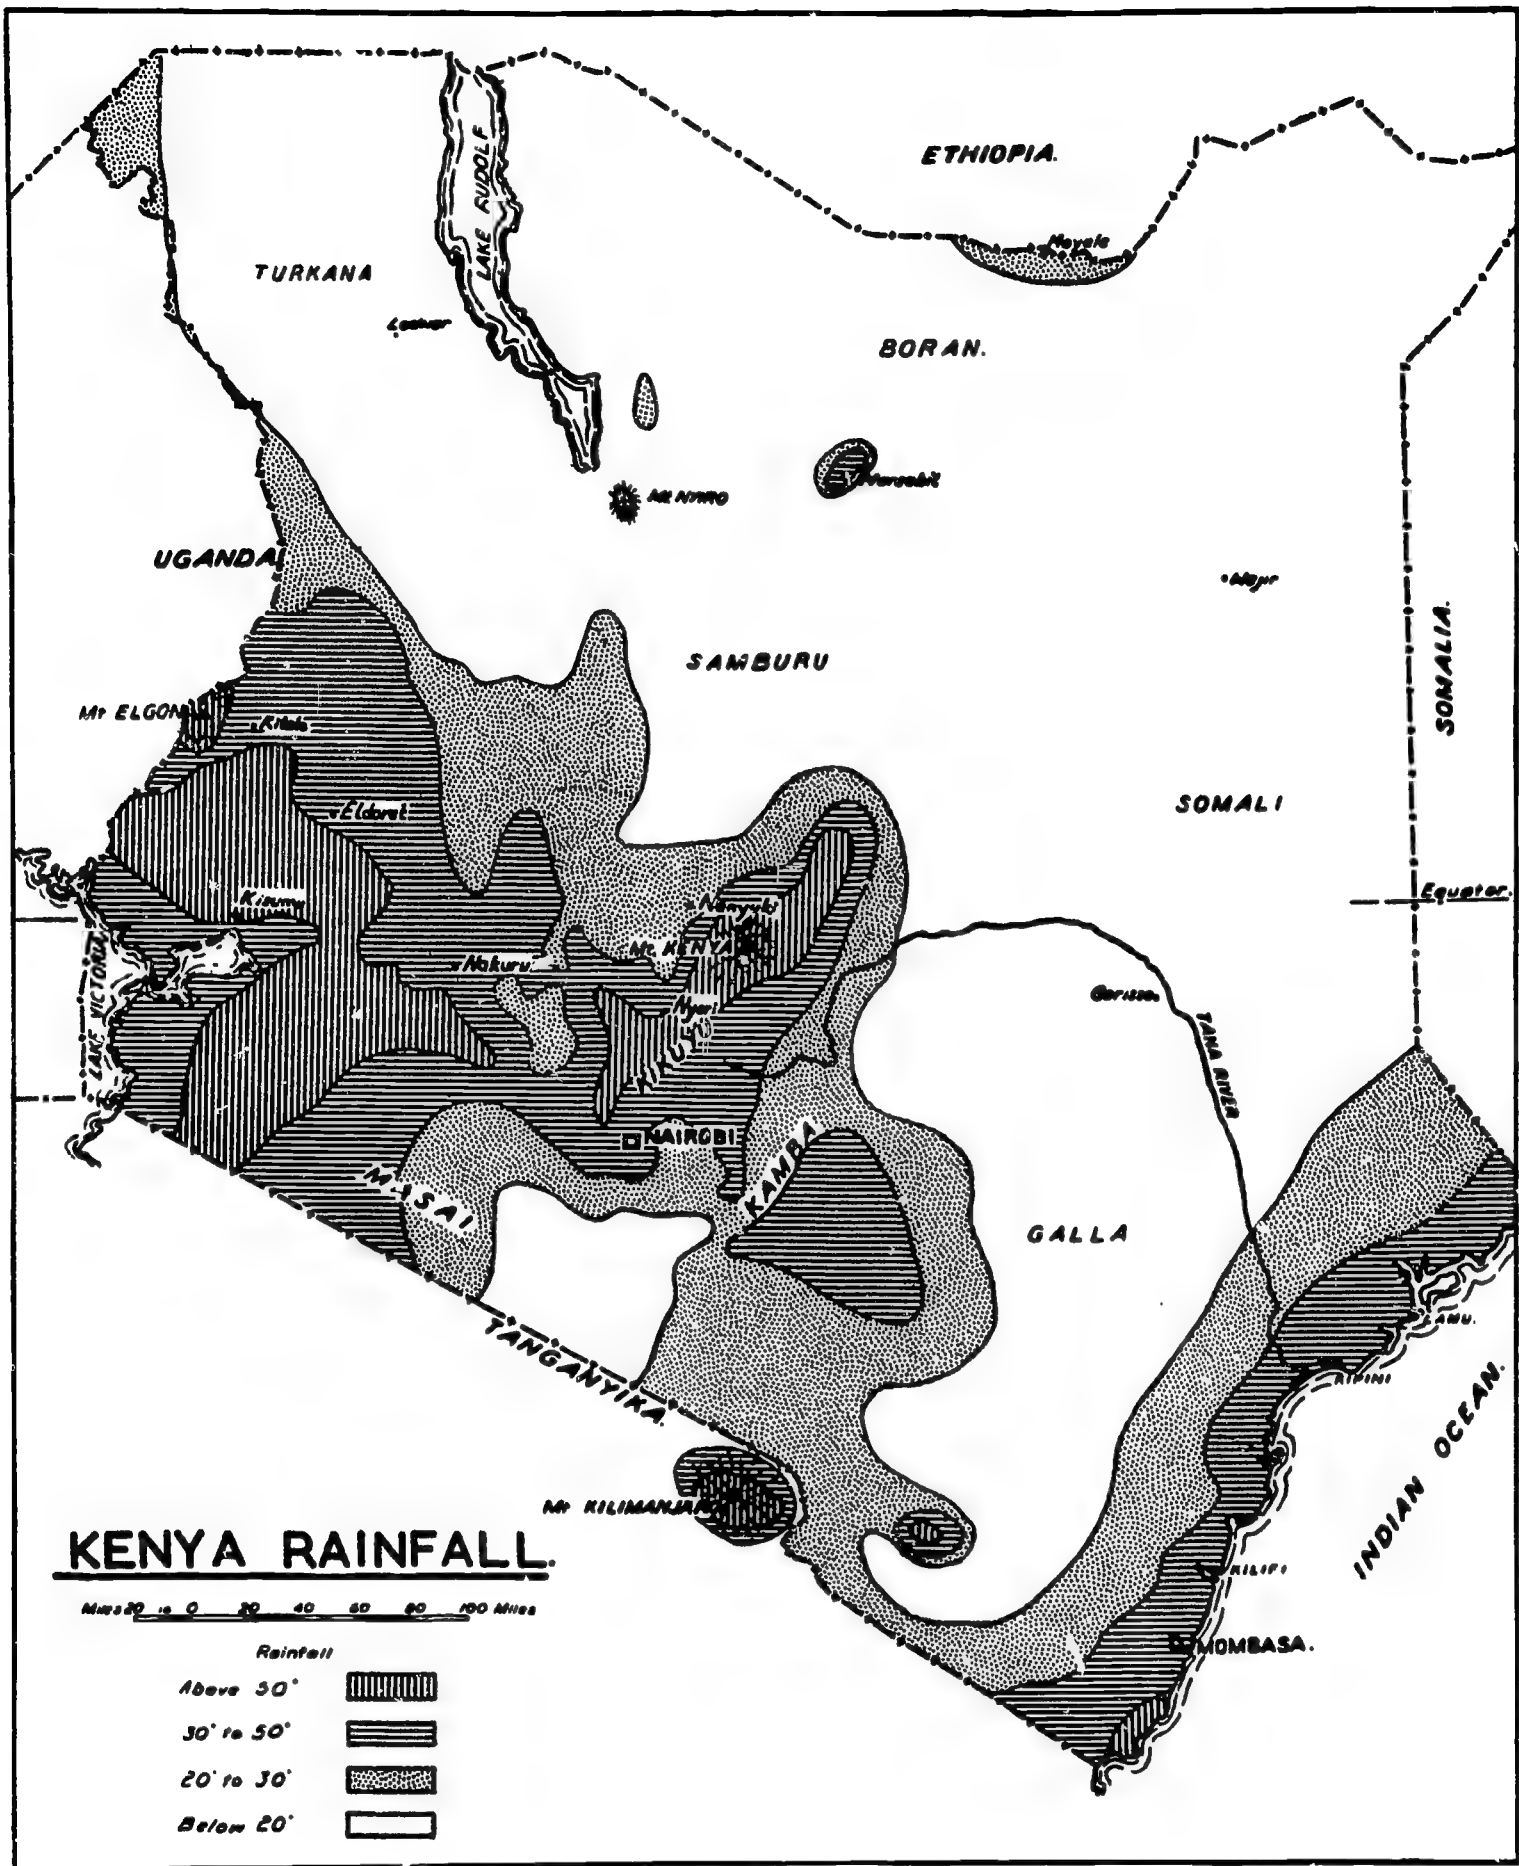

II. Language Structure

The adverbs of time 'kabla ya' (before) 'baada ya' (after) have the possessive particle 'ya' (of) linking them to the period of time expressed. These words can be used only with expressions of time and not locations; such as 'in front of' or 'behind'.

III. Cultural Note

In Africa the system of telling the time, the hours of day or night, differs from ours. Instead of counting from midnight to midnight, in Swahili the hours are counted from sunrise to sunset. The reason for this is that in equatorial regions the length of the day remains fairly constant all through the year, and so the people there count the time from 6:00 A.M. to 7:00 A.M. as the first hour of daylight. Thus the Swahili would say: 'Saa moja' (1 o'clock), whereas we would say 7 o'clock for 7 A.M. Observe very carefully this six hours difference between their and our way of telling time.

The word 'saa' may mean: hour, watch, clock, time. Note these various meanings.

- o. Jumatatu ni siku ya kazi.
leo, Jumanne, kesho.
- p. Kesho ni sikukuu.
leo, Jumatano, Alhamisi.

Step 1. Presentation of a narrative based on the dialogue.
The situational picture will be used.

Wiki moja ina siku saba. Kila siku ina jina.
Waislamu wanaanza kuhesabu na siku ya Ijumaa.
Kwa Waislamu hii ni siku kubwa, ni sikukuu yao.
Siku hiyo wanakwenda kuabudu Mungu. Wakristo wanaabudu Mungu siku ya Jumapili.

Siku ya Jumatatu watu wote wanakwenda kazini.
Wanaendelea na kazi kila siku hata Jumamosi.
Labda wengine watatoka kazini saa sita siku ya Jumamosi.

Hivi tunaona katika kutaja siku tunafuata kalenda ya Waislamu. Wiki yao inaanzia na Ijumaa. Juma-mosi ni siku ya kwanza kufuata Ijumaa, Jumapili siku ya pili, Jumatatu siku ya tatu, na hivyo.
Siku kabla ya Ijumaa ni Alhamisi. Ali atarudi safari siku hiyo. Alisafiri siku ya Jumanne.

Step 2. Questions based on the above narration:

Kuna siku ngapi katika juma?
Kila siku ina jina lake?
Ijumaa ni siku kubwa kwa Waislamu?
Wanafanya nini siku hiyo?
Sikukuu ya Wakristo ni siku gani?

Watu wanakwenda kazini siku gani?
Wanaendelea siku za kazi hata lini?
Wakristo wanapumzika siku gani?
Waislamu watafanya kazi Ijumaa?
Wiki ya Waislamu inaanzia siku gani?

Tunafuata kalenda ya Waislamu?
Jumapili ni siku ya ngapi katika kalenda ya Kikristo?
Siku gani inafuata Jumatano?
Ali alikwenda lini safarini?
Na atarudi siku gani?

Note: When answering the above questions, students should do so by using complete sentences.

Step 3. Presentation of short narratives prepared by students.

I. Sound Feature

Some words which have been assimilated from the Arabic originally contained a dorso velar voiceless fricative /χ/, which has a similar sound to the Scotch 'loch' or the German 'ach'. However, since the Bantu element in Swahili does not favor harsh sounds, this /χ/ has been replaced by /h/ in all cases. Some people, affected by Arabic, especially along the coast, may pronounce some words with this /χ/ sound, but standard Swahili has pretty well discarded this and replaced this sound by an /h/.

e.g. khabari	>	/χabári/	>	/habári/
Alkhamisi	>	/Alχamisi/	>	/Alhamisi/
khafifu	>	/χafifu/	>	/hafifu/

II. Language Structure

- a. Many concepts can be personalized by use of the Living Beings Class prefixes M-Wa. Thus a religious concept or an adjective can be used as a noun or name representing a person embodying those concepts.

e.g. M-kristo	>	Mkristo	(A Christian)
Wa-kristo	>	Wakristo	(Christians)
Mw-islamu	>	Mwislamu	(A Muslim)
Wa-islamu	>	Waislamu	(Muslims)
M-zee	>	Mzee	(Old Man)
Wa-zee	>	Wazee	(Old People)
M-dogo	>	Mdogo	(A Minor)
Wa-dogo	>	Wadogo	(Minors)

- b. The ordinal numbers like: first, second, third, fourth, etc. are formed by the use of the possessive particle '-a' (of) preceding the number.

-a kwanza	(first)
-a pili	(second)
-a tatu	(third)
-a nne	(fourth)

- a tano (fifth)
- a sita (sixth)
- a kumi (tenth)
- a ishirini, etc. (twentieth)

Note the irregular forms with 'first' and 'second'.

Thus an expression like: 'The first person to arrive', 'mtu wa kwanza kufika', in a literal translation has the following word order 'person of first to arrive'.

III. Cultural Item

The calendar in East Africa, or at least as far as the Swahili language is concerned, is a composite of Eastern and Western, Muslim and Christian traditions. The days of the week follow the Muslim tradition, and since Friday is their chief day and also day of worship, the days are named or numbered starting with Friday.

Friday	=	Ijumaa	(THE day of the week)
Saturday	=	Jumamosi	(first day after Ijumaa)
Sunday	=	Jumapili	(second day after Ijumaa)
Monday	=	Jumatatu	(third day after Ijumaa)
Tuesday	=	Jumanne	(fourth day after Ijumaa)
Wednesday	=	Jumatano	(fifth day after Ijumaa)
Thursday	=	Alhamisi	(day of 'Hamisi', also meaning fifth)

These days are not identical with Arabic, but they are in the same tradition.

Step 1. Presentation of a narrative based on the dialogue.
The situational picture will be used.

Katika mwaka kuna miezi kumi na miwili. Kila mwezi una jina. Kwa Kiswahili jina ni karibu sawa na jina la Kiingereza. Katika kalenda Waafrika wanafuata kalenda yetu.

Majira ya Afrika ya Mashariki ni tofauti na majira hapa Amerika. Kule mvua inanyesha zaidi katika miezi ya Aprili, Mei na Juni, ndiyo majira ya masika. Kabla ya masika kuna majira ya joto katika miezi ya Januari na Februari. Lakini miezi ya Juni na Julai kuna baridi sana.

Miezi ya Agosti na Septemba kuna hali nzuri. Hakuna joto kubwa wala baridi. Watu wengi wana-kwenda shambani kuvuna wakati huo. Katika miezi ya Oktoba, Novemba, na labda hata Desemba, mvua inaweza kunyesha kidogo. Ni majira ya vuli. Mwezi wa Desemba tuna sikukuu yetu kubwa ya Krismasi.

Step 2. Questions based on the above narration:

Kuna miezi mingapi katika mwaka?
Majina ya miezi ni karibu sawa na ya Kiingereza?
Waafrika wanafuata kalenda yetu?

Kule Afrika majira ni tofauti na hapa?
Tanganyika ni Afrika ya Mashariki?

Majira ya masika ni miezi gani?
Majira ya joto ni baada ya masika?
Hali ya baridi zaidi ni miezi gani?
Majira ya joto ni miezi gani?
Mvua inanyesha zaidi miezi gani?

Tutapata hali nzuri mwezi wa Agosti?
Kuna joto kubwa mwezi wa Septemba?
Watu wanafanya nini shambani miezi hiyo?
Tutapata mvua kidogo mwezi wa Novemba?
Sikukuu kubwa ya Krismasi ni lini?

Note: When answering the above questions, students should do so by using complete sentences.

Step 3. Presentation of short narratives prepared by students.

I. Sound Features

This lesson brings us to the close of the pronunciation phase which stresses the various sound features. All different, or somewhat unusual sound combinations for the English speaker have been discussed and reinforced. In the following volumes these sound features will re-occur as a matter of course. It is hoped that the student will be familiar enough with all these sound features so he can speak Swahili with increasing confidence.

The /mw/ cluster and the fronto-palatal /d'/ sound occur frequently in this lesson and you may have found these somewhat difficult in the past, it is good to reinforce these periodically to make sure that they have been well learned. See Lesson 5 and Lesson 15.

II. Language Structure

- a. In connection with telling of time, giving of dates, etc. the following adverbs of time are reinforced again:-

sasa	(now)	asubuhi	(morning)
leo	(today)	jioni	(evening)
kesho	(tomorrow)	mchana	(daytime)
jana	(yesterday)	usiku	(night time)

These are used as in English, except for the expressions: this morning, this evening, the Swahili idiom calls for the word "today" in place of "this" and so produces: 'leo asubuhi' and 'leo jioni'.

- b. When giving or mentioning a date the word 'tarehe' (date) precedes the actual naming of the date. Thus: I arrived on the 25th of March, 1962, would be rendered as follows in Swahili: 'nilifika tarehe 25, mwezi wa Machi, mwaka wa sitini na mbili'. Literally this is: 'I arrived date 25, month of March, year of sixty two'. (The full number 1962 need not always be given in full.)

- c. In the previous lesson mention was made about forming personalized nouns by use of the M-Wa prefixes. In this lesson the prefix KI is used to denote the manner or qualitative aspect, and also the language.

e.g. Kiswahili (refers to Swahili like, fashion, or the Swahili language).

Kiingereza (English fashion, English language.)

Kizungu (European style)

Kikristo (Christian in nature)

Kiislamu (Muslim in nature)

III. Cultural Note

In Swahili the calendar, as stated in the previous lesson, is a composite of Christian and Muslim traditions. The days of the week follow the Muslim pattern, although as far as the calendar set up is concerned, Jumapili (Sunday) still heads the week as the first day. The names of the months have been taken over from the English and adapted for the Swahili language. Thus we get:-

Januari
Februari
Machi Aprili, etc.

The seasons in Africa group themselves around the rainy and dry seasons. The heavy rains (masika) come in April, May and June. This is followed by the coldest month of the year, namely, July. August, September and October are very agreeable. The short rains (vuli) come in November and December. January and February are the hottest and driest months of the year.

Tutajifunza juu ya kontinenti ya Afrika. Afrika ni kontinenti kubwa sana. Ni kubwa mara tatu kulika Amerika. Katika sehemu ya kati Ikweta inapitia kontinenti. Nchi upande wa Mashariki ni: Tanganyika, Kenya, na Uganda. Karibu na Tanganyika, katika Bahari ya Hindi, ni kisiwa cha Unguja. Katika nchi hizo zote lugha ya Kiswahili imeenea sana. Kiswahili kimeenea hata katika nchi ya Kongo. Kiswahili ni lugha kubwa ya Afrika.

Nchi za Tanganyika na Uganda zimepata uhuru. Labda Kenya itapata uhuru mwaka huu. Katika ramani mpya tunaweza kuona nchi hizi zote. Bahari ya Hindi imeenea kutoka Afrika mpaka India. Ni bahari kubwa. Kuna visiwa vingi katika bahari.

See previous notes in Lessons 11 and 29.

II. Language Structure

Here we have a review of the ME tense, which denotes a completed action, or a resulting state or condition. Thus the time span involves more the present.

e.g. The man is dead. Mtu amekufa.
 The child has eaten. Mtoto amekula.

See previous notes in Lesson 23.

III. Cultural Note

It is good to know a little of the geographical background of Africa, and East Africa in particular. The climate often has a bearing on developments affecting the people as well.

East Africa, comprising Tanganyika, Kenya, Uganda, and Zanzibar has been under British rule during most of the past 50 years. Tanganyika and Uganda have achieved independence as of 1962.

The Equator runs through Kenya and Uganda, but the climate of East Africa is on the whole mild and pleasant. It is tempered by the Highlands and the presence of Africa's highest mountains, such as: Mt. Kilimanjaro (19,350 ft.) in Tanganyika, Mt. Kenya (17,040 ft.) in Kenya, and Mt. Ruwenzori (16,798) in Uganda. All of these are covered with snow all the year around.

Step 1. Presentation of a narrative based on the dialogue. The situational picture will be used.

Tanganyika ni nchi nzuri, tena kubwa. Ni katika Afrika ya Mashariki. Ni kusini ya nchi ya Kenya. Upande wa Mashariki ni Bahari ya Hindi. Kule pwani kuna miji miwili mikubwa, Dar es Salaam na Tanga. Yote miwili ni bandari. Hiyo inatosha kwa meli kubwa.

Tanganyika ilipata uhuru tarehe 9, mwezi wa Desemba, mwaka wa 1961. Zamani Waingereza wali-tawala kule. Nchi inaendelea vizuri na inastaarabika.

Upande wa kaskazini kuna mlima mrefu sana, Kilimanjaro. Juu ya mlima kuna theluji na barafu. Mlima huo una urefu wa futi 19,350.

Katika sehemu za Kilimanjaro, Bukoba na Tanganyika ya kusini, watu wanapanda kahawa. Kahawa inaleta faida kwa watu wengi. Reli inachukua kahawa bandarini.

Hiyo inaleta faida kwa watu?
Reli inachukua nini?

Note: When answering the above questions, students should do so by using complete sentences.

Step 3. Presentation of short narratives prepared by students.

I. Sound Features

The clusters /mp/, /mb/ and /nd/ appear more frequently in words of the N class or words in agreement with it. Here we have a phonological change where the prefix N becomes an M before P or B. Note the following changes in examples:-

- a. n + pya > npya > mpya n + baya > nbaya > mbaya

- b. The /nd/ is either the normal

n + dogo > ndogo or: n + refu > nrefu > ndefu.

Note how the 'n' has affected the initial 'r' of the stem.

- c. The N before a W will change to an M, and in addition may also change the W to a B.

e.g. n + wili > nwili > mwili > mbili.

II. Language Structure

The N class prefixes have already been discussed in Lesson 29. Refer back to this lesson for review. Take note that the subject prefixes are:

- s. i (it) Nyumba hii inapendeza.
pl. zi (they) Nyumba hizi zinapendeza.

Before a vowel stem these prefixes are slightly modified and become:

- s. i > y (it) Nyumba yangu.
pl. zi > z (they) Nyumba zangu.

III. Cultural Note

A few background notes of Tanganyika will be helpful towards understanding its history and development.

Tanganyika became a German colony, known as German East Africa in 1885. Dr. Karl Peters, as president of "The Society for German Colonization" went to what is now Tanganyika and succeeded in making a number of treaties with various chiefs, whereby major portions of Tanganyika were then claimed by the Germans.

The Germans started to develop the territory with a will. The first railway in East Africa was built from Dar es Salaam to Kigoma on Lake Tanganyika. This railway traversed the whole of Tanganyika penetrating to the center of the African continent. Actually it was laid very much along the main caravan route which the Arabs had used for exporting slaves. David Livingstone also traveled this distance on foot.

After World War I, in 1918, the Germans lost Tanganyika and the British took over the administration of Tanganyika as a Mandate under the League of Nations. This status was changed to a Trust Territory after World War II.

The development and progress in the territory under British rule was satisfactory enough to enable African leaders to assume more responsibility. A capable and wise African leader became available in Dr. Julius Nyerere. When Tanganyika achieved her independence in December 9, 1961, he was the guiding genius. A year later, in December, 1962, Tanganyika became a republic within the British Commonwealth. Dr. Julius Nyerere was elected as the first president.

Step 1. Presentation of a narrative based on the dialogue. The situational picture will be used.

Salimu alitaka kujua habari juu ya Kenya. Hivyo alikwenda kwa mwalimu kutafuta habari hizo. Mwalimu alimwonyesha ramani na alieleza vitu vingi.

Upande wa kaskazini kuna sehemu kubwa. Nchi hiyo inaitwa NFD (Northern Frontier District). Hapo ni kavu sana na nchi ni kama jangwa. Hali ya nchi inawazuia watu kulima. Sehemu hiyo inapakana na nchi ya Wasomali. Hata Wasomali wengi wanakaa katika NFD.

Upande wa kati na magharibi kuna milima na nyanda za juu. Hapo hali ya nchi ni nzuri, kuna mvua na misitu, na watu wanapenda kukaa kule. Mji mkuu wa Kenya ni Nairobi. Ni mji mzuri na mkubwa wenye watu 300,000. Tabia ya Nairobi ni nzuri, ni tabia ya nyanda za juu. Kutoka bandari ya Mombasa kuna reli mpaka Nairobi, hata mpaka ziwa Viktoria. Mombasa ni mji mkubwa kule pwani, na meli nyingi zinafika kule bandarini. Kati ya Mombasa na Nairobi kuna mbuga kubwa, na wanyama wengi wanakaa kule.

Step 2. Maswali:

Nani alitaka kujua habari za Kenya?
Nani alimweleza?
NFD ni upande gani wa Kenya?
Watu gani wanaishi kule?
Wanalima mashamba?

Hali ya nchi ni nzuri katika nyanda za juu?
Kuna mvua nyingi kule?
Watu wanapenda kufanya nini kule?
Unafikiri kuna tabia ya joto katika nyanda za juu?
Nchi kavu ni wapi hasa?

Mji mkuu wa Kenya ni nini?
Watu wangapi wanaishi kule?
Bandari kuu ya Kenya ni mji gani?
Bandari hiyo inafaa kwa meli kubwa?
Reli kuu inatokea wapi, na inapitia nchi ya hali gani?

Note: When answering the above question, students should do so by using complete sentences.

Step 3. Presentation of short narratives prepared by students.

I. Sound Features

The change of the prefix M to MW before a vowel does not occur only at the beginning of a word, as we have learned in: mwalimu, mwema, mwana-funzi; but it occurs also within a word with infixes. Thus the object prefix, or infix, M (him, her) becomes MW when it is attached to a vowel stem. For example: nilimwona, alimwomba, tutamwambia.

II. Language StructureThe Object Prefix

We have learned that the pronoun or subject prefix, denoting the doer of an action, is used in normal verb constructions. This would be followed by the tense sign, denoting the time of an action. If we wish to show now towards whom the action was directed, the receiver of an action, we show this by an additional prefix, called the object prefix. When an object prefix is used, it precedes and it is next to the verb stem.

Ex. a-na-m-piga (Lit. He is him hitting.) a-li-tu-ona (Lit. He us saw.)

The personal object prefixes referring to living beings vary somewhat from the subject prefixes. Compare the two:-

Subject

ni	(I)
u	(you) s.
a	(he, she) tu	(we)
m	(you) pl.
wa	(they)

Object

ni	(me)
ku	(you) s.
m	(him, her)
tu	(us)
wa	(you) pl.
wa	(them)

III. Cultural Note

Kenya has had many nations knocking at her door in the past centuries. Her door was the East Coast, and the port of Mombasa in particular. For 242 years (1498-1740) the Portuguese maintained their influence and strength along the East Coast, also building various forts, and to this day Fort Jesus, in Mombasa, stands as a reminder of those years.

Then the Arabs, entrenched on the island of Zanzibar, drove off the Portuguese and established their power. Soon, however, other nations sailed those seas seeking colonies: Germans, British, French, and Dutch. The French established themselves on the island of Madagascar, the Germans in Tanganyika, the Dutch sailing to South Africa, and the British penetrating through Kenya into Uganda.

Among many early explorers were Christian Missionaries, such as David Livingstone, Krapf and Rebman who made their headquarters in Mombasa. Dr. Krapf tried to find a southern approach into Abyssinia and in his attempts got as far as the Kamba country (not far from present day Nairobi) and also was among the first to discover Mt. Kenya. Rebman penetrated as far as Kilimanjaro, being the first European to come close to this mountain.

British influence gradually gained, both in Kenya and Uganda, from about 1885 onwards. The main railroad from Mombasa to Nairobi was started in 1900. Most of the workmen were recruited from India to build this railroad.

As British and other European settlers developed the economy of the country, Kenya became a progressive and pleasant place for all races, in spite of political agitations.

Step 1. Presentation of a narrative based on the dialogue. The situational picture will be used.

Kisiwa cha Unguja ni katika Bahari ya Hindi karibu na pwani ya Tanganyika. Wenyeji wanasema 'Unguja', lakini wengine wanaita kisiwa hiki 'Zanzibar', yaani "Nchi ya Watu Weusi".

Waarabu wametawala kule muda wa miaka mingi sana. Mkuu wao ni Sultani. Lakini Unguja ni chini ya utawala au himaya ya Waingereza. Wao wana Gav'na wa Kiingereza kule vilevile.

Unguja ni kisiwa kidogo, lakini ni muhimu kwa mapato yake. Karafuu zinapandwa na watu wengi, na halafu inapelekwa na kuuzwa katika nchi nyingi za mbali. Nazi ni mapato muhimu vilevile.

Zamani Waarabu walifanya biashara ya watumwa. Kule Unguja palikuwa na soko kubwa ya kuuza watumwa. Sasa hakuna watumwa, na Wakristo wamejenga kanisa kubwa katika kiwanja cha soko.

Step 2. Maswali.

Karafuu zinazwa wapi?
Watu wanapanda nini tena?
Uguja ni kisiwa kikubwa sana?

Waarabu walifanya biashara gani zamani?
Watumwa walitoka wapi?
Kuna nini katika kiwanja cha soko siku hizi?
Nani amejenga kanisa?
Kuna bado watumwa kule Uguja?

Note: When answering the above questions, students should do so by using complete sentences.

Step 3. Presentation of short narratives prepared by students.

I. Sound Features

You are reminded in this lesson again of the stressed nasals, in particular the stressed and initial /n/. It appears in words such as: ñchi, ñne, ñje. A common mistake in pronunciation of this /n/ is made by prefixing a non-existent 'i' or 'e' sound so as to slide more easily into its pronunciation, thus: 'inchi or enchi', 'inne', 'inje' etc. This is wrong, and you must watch this. Listen carefully to your teacher as he demonstrates this sound feature.

II. Language Structure

Herewith we give you a summary of the object prefixes learned so far. Make careful note of these.

a. M-Wa class (living)

ni	(me)	tu	(us)
ku	(you, s.)	wa	(you, pl.)
m	(him, her)	wa	(them)

b. M-Mi class

u	(it)	i	(them)
---	------	---	--------

Aliuona mti.	Aliiona miti.
(He saw it the tree.)	(He saw them the trees.)

c. Ki-Vi class

ki	(it)	vi	(them)
----	------	----	--------

Nilikinunua kisu.	Nilivinunua visu.
(I bought it the knife.)	(I bought them the knives.)

d. N class

i	(it)	Zi	(them)
Tuliona nchi.	Tulizona nchi.

(We saw it the country.) (We saw them the countries.)

III. Cultural Note

Arab settlement and power along the East African coast and in Zanzibar really began in the 6th Century. They had come and traded there much earlier, perhaps even 2,000 years ago, but with the 6th Century began their gradual colonization. This, however, was sporadic. Beginning of the 19th Century Arab power was more consolidated under Sultan Seyyid Said. His capital was in Zanzibar. Arab adventurers penetrated ~~deep~~ into the interior of Africa building up a ~~vast~~ trade in slaves and ivory.

Zanzibar is called 'Unguja' in the Swahili language. The name Zanzibar comes from the Persian 'Zanj-Bar', meaning 'Land of the Blacks'. It is an island off the northern coast of Tanganyika. On the island they were more secure from tribal raiders.

Zanzibar became a great slave market, until it was closed in 1873 by British intervention. In 1890 Zanzibar and its adjoining island of Pemba became a British Protectorate. An Arab Sultan continued to reign under a British Governor. This arrangement has continued until now (1963).

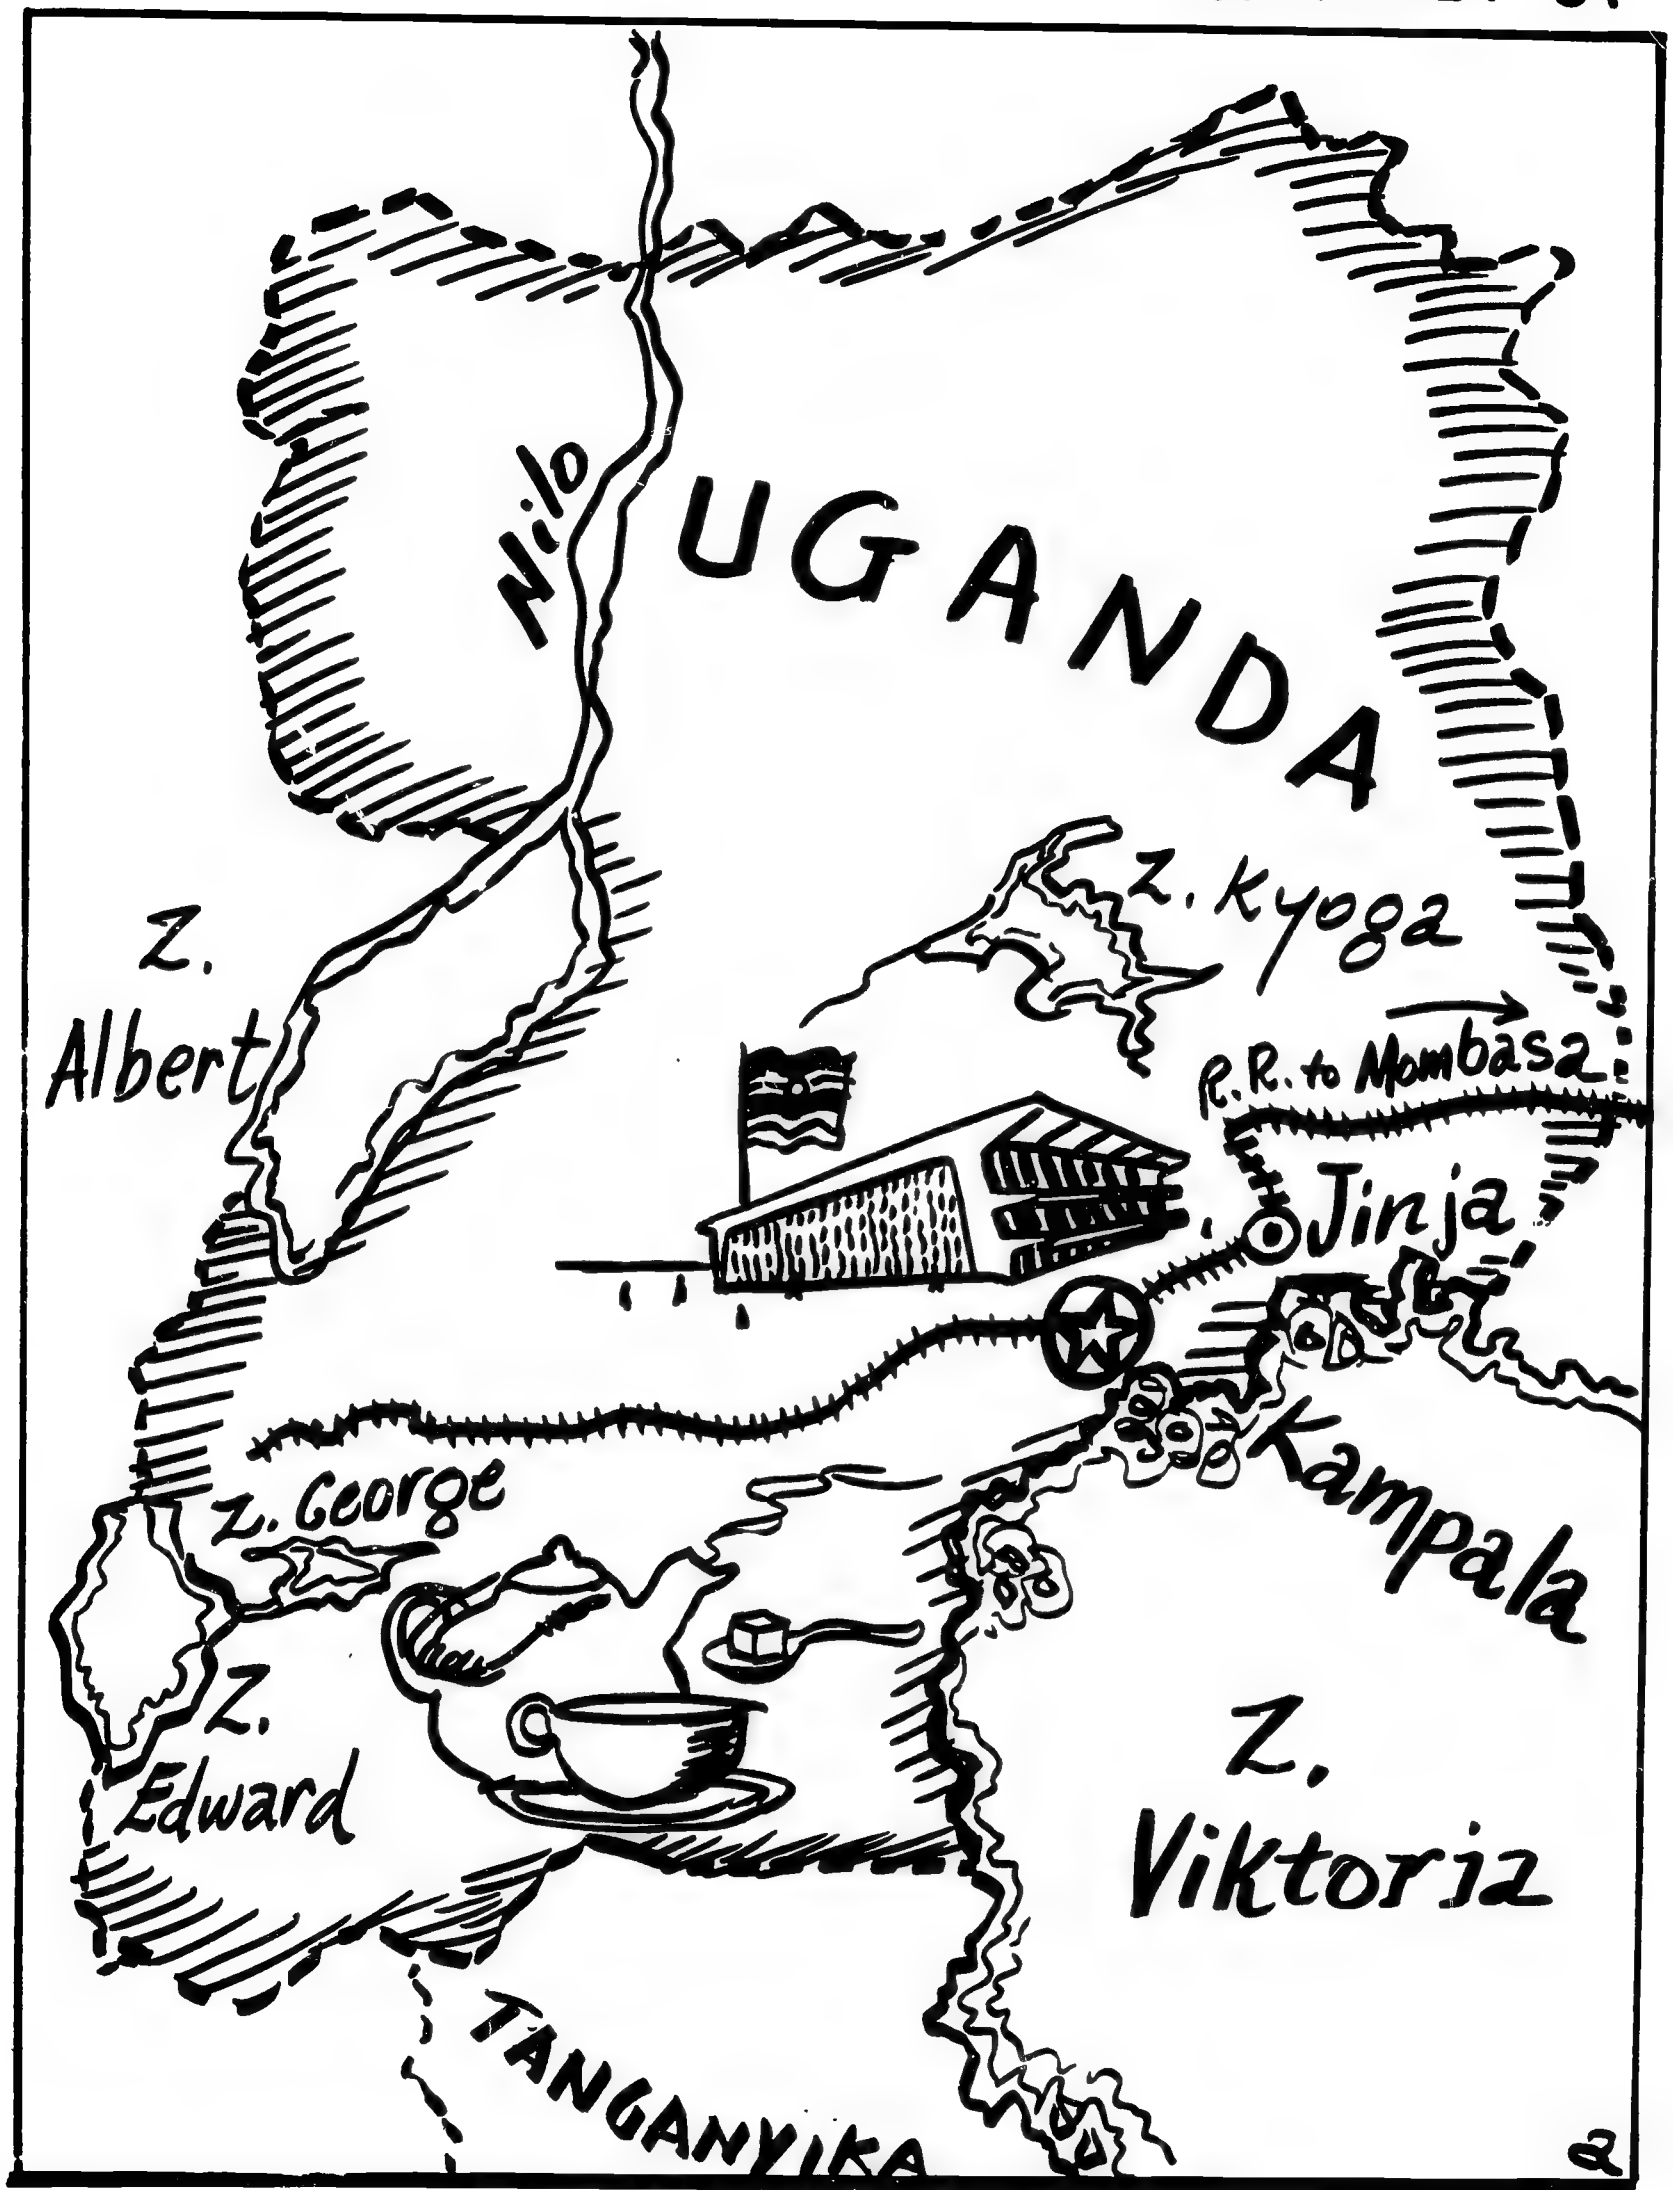

The main produce from Zanzibar is spice. Cloves are grown extensively. Coconuts, with the by-products of copra and oil are another important export.

The Zanzibar Swahili has been regarded as the purest and is accepted on the mainland as standard Swahili.

Step 1. Presentation of a narrative based on the dialogue. The situational picture will be used.

Tangu mwaka wa 1860 Wazungu wamefika Uganda kujaribu kuvumbua nchi. Hasa walitafuta mwanzo wa mto Nilo.

Uganda ni nchi yenye maana upande wa magharibi ya Kenya. Ziwa Viktoria ni upande wa kusini. Mto Nilo unaanzia karibu na mji mdogo, Jinja. Mto umezibwa kufanya eletiristi. Hii ni faida kubwa kwa nchi. Nguvu ya eletiristi imeenezwa popote. Hivi ustaarabu na maendeleo yameingia Uganda.

Mji mkuu wa Uganda ni Kampala. Kwa reli watu wanaweza kusafiri kutoka Kampala kwenda Nairobi, hata mpaka Mombasa. Kule Kampala kuna skuli kubwa ya Makerere College. Wanafunzi wengi kutoka Uganda, hata Kenya na Tanganyika, wana-jifunza kule.

Biashara kubwa ya Uganda ni kutengeneza sukari na kupanda chai.

Nchi ya Uganda ilikuwa chini ya himaya ya Waingereza, lakini imepata uhuru tarehe 9, mwezi wa Oktoba, 1962.

Step 2. Maswali.

Wazungu walianza kuvumbua Uganda lini?
Hawa walitafuta nini hasa?
Mto Nilo unaanzia wapi?
Uganda inapakana na nchi gani upande wa mashariki?
Upande wa kusini kuna nini?

Mto umezibwa kwa sababu gani?
Ustaarabu umeenea wapi?
Eletiristi inaleta faida gani?
Mji mkuu wa Uganda ni Entebbe?
Makerere College ni wapi?

Nani anajifunza kule Makerere?
Reli kutoka Kampala inafika mpaka Mombasa?
Biashara kubwa ya Uganda ni nini?
Uganda ilikuwa chini ya himaya gani?
Uganda ilipata uhuru lini?

Note: When answering the above questions, students should do so by using complete sentences.

Step 3. Presentation of short narratives prepared by students.

I. Sound Features

In Lessons 9 and 12 the vowel clusters and the use of a weak glottal stop were discussed. Look up the exercises and generalizations in those lessons. For the sake of clearer pronunciation take note of this feature as there are several examples in this lesson.

Note that the weak glottal stop or catch occurs where the vowel of a prefix comes next to the vowel of the stem of a word.

e.g. wa-ite > waite /wa'ite/.

II. Language Structure

The object prefix can be used with a command form. In fact, with the verbs 'pa' (give) and 'omba' (tell) it is always so used. When an object prefix is used with an imperative the final 'a' changes to 'e'.

Ex. M saidie!	Help him!
N ipe!	Give me!
W aambie!	Tell them!

III. Cultural Note

It appears that the first Europeans to enter Uganda were Speke in 1862 and Baker in 1864. Both men were explorers and were looking for the river Nile. It is interesting to note that when Baker returned as administrator of northern Uganda, his wife accompanied him and so was the first white woman to come to Uganda.

In 1877 the first missionaries came to Uganda during the reign of King Mutesa I. The early Christians were much persecuted and massacred when Mutesa's successor, King Mwanga, came to the throne in 1884. However, Christianity thrived all the more under persecution and eventually triumphed, so that in the years that followed Uganda was the first country in that part of Africa which became predominantly Christian.

In 1894 Uganda became a British Protectorate. The preceding ten years had witnessed frightful persecutions of the Christians, a play for power in Uganda by Dr. Karl Peters on behalf of Germany, and various internal wars by the Muslims and intrigues by King Mwanga.

From then on Uganda began to progress, and now it stands as a free country, having achieved independence in October, 1962.

One of the first colleges to be established in East Africa was Makerere College, in Kampala, the capital of Uganda. At Jinja, at the source of the White Nile, a large hydroelectric project supplies electricity to a great portion of Uganda. The main produce of Uganda is: tea, cotton and sugar.

Step 1. Presentation of a narrative based on the dialogue. The situational picture will be used.

Bonde la Ufa limetokea labda kwa sababu ya mtetemeko mkubwa wa nchi. Ardhi ilipasuka kutoka nchi ya Israeli mpaka kule Nyassa. Hivi limetokea bonde la ajabu. Ni bonde lenye urefu wa maili 3,500.

Maziwa makubwa ya Afrika ya Mashariki yanalala katika bonde hilo. Ni bonde pana sana.

Bonde hilo linaanzia katika nchi ya Israeli katika Bahari ya Chumvi. Halafu inapitia katika Bahari ya Sham mpaka Habeshi. Linaendelea katika nchi hiyo ya Habeshi mpaka Kenya.

Watu wengi wametengeneza mashamba mazuri katika Bonde la Ufa. Kando ya bonde kuna milima.

Note: When answering the above questions, students should do so by using complete sentences.

Step 3. Presentation of short narratives prepared by students.

I. Sound Features

In order to perfect your pronunciation of the palatal /d'/, review the notes in Lessons 5 and 6, and apply these to your perfected pronunciation of this sound in such words as:-

maji jua ninajua ajabu kuja juu

II. Language Structure

The closed repertory refers to Ma class words, which we will learn without going into details. These will be discussed in a later lesson. For the time being, remember that in this class there are no singular prefixes with nouns and adjectives, and in the plural the prefix is Ma. The subject prefixes are: li (it), ya (they).

e.g. Bonde lile kubwa.
Mabonde yale makubwa.

III. Cultural Note

Some attention was given in this lesson to the tremendous geographical feature called: The Great Rift Valley. If you study a relief map of Africa you will note that there is a depression or rift which runs all the way from the Dead Sea in Israel, through the Red Sea into Ethiopia, and then into Kenya. As this Great Rift Valley enters Kenya it divides into two branches: the Western branch takes in the chain of lakes; Lake Albert, Lake Edward, Lake Kivu, Lake Tanganyika and Lake Nyassa. This is a startling chain of lakes, some of which being among the longest in the world. Lake Tanganyika is 400 miles long and Lake Nyassa a little over 300 miles long. The latter then empties into the Shire River, and this into the Zambezi, which, in turn, empties into the Indian Ocean near the 20th parallel.

The Eastern arm of The Great Rift Valley is not so long and takes in a series of small lakes in Kenya, from Lake Rudolf southward through Lakes Nakuru, Elementeita and Naivasha. Around these last three lakes is much of the dairy land and ranching country of Kenya.

This Great Rift must have appeared ages ago through some tremendous upheaval in the earth which affected most of the continent, since this valley or depression is some 3,500 miles long. Along the edges of this valley are mountains and escarpments.

These geographical features, lakes, mountains, valleys, highlands, and plains give East Africa varied climatic regions, which in turn may affect the people and their mode of living.

Ulikuwa msitu mzuri wa mierezi. Msituni waliona matangazo, na hayo yalisema:- "Usiwashe viberiti hapa!" "Usiwashe moto!" "Usivute sigara!"

Katika msitu wa mierezi kuna hatari kubwa ya moto kwa sababu mierezi inachomeka upesi.

Mierezi ni miti mizuri na inafaa sana kwa mbao na kujenga nyumba. Mbao za mierezi zinaleta faida kubwa.

Rafiki hao wawili walisikia watu wanapiga kelele. Kumbe, watu fulani waliwasha moto, na hiyo si halali. Katika mti mmoja kulikuwa nyumba ya nyuki. Watu hao walijaribu kupata asali, na walitumia moshi ya moto kufukuza nyuki. Sasa rafiki waliwaambia kwamba si halali kufanya moto, ni lazima kuuzimisha.

Step 2. Maswali.

Ulikuwa msitu wa miti gani?

Rafiki walifanya nini msituni?
Waliona matangazo, au sivyo?

Walijaribu kufukuza nini?
Nyuki wanatengeneza nini?
Nini si halali?
Rafiki waliwaambia kufanya nini?

Note: When answering the above questions, students should do so by using complete sentences.

Step 3. Presentation of short narratives prepared by students.

I. Sound Features

Review and perfect your pronunciation of the sound /ñ/ (ny), both as it appears initially, and within the word. Look up the notes on this in Lessons 6 and 11.

In this lesson we have the new word 'nyuki' /ñúki/ (bees) which uses this sound initially.

II. Language Structure

To give the command in the negative, the prefix 'usi' is used in the singular, and 'msi' in the plural. Note that 'si' is the negative particle 'not', and 'u' is the pronoun 'you' (s.) and 'm' is 'you' (pl.).

U-si-ende!	(You-not-go !)
M-si-fanye!	(You (pl.)-not-go !)

Note also that the verb ending 'a' changes to 'e'.

III. Cultural Note

The African native loves honey. In many areas they fashion a kind of beehive which looks like a narrow barrel and which is suspended on a tree. This type is made from a hollowed out log of wood. The bees are just wild bees which come and go, and which are easily excited and sting.

In the forests the bees make their honey in hollows of a big or an old tree. When the natives spot this, they make a fire with thick smoke to drive away the bees, so that they can remove the honey. Unfortunately they don't care about the fire, and as a result acres and acres of valuable forest are destroyed by fire through the carelessness of such honey hunters.

Step 1. Presentation of a narrative based on the dialogue. The situational picture will be used.

Kule Afrika wenyeji wanapenda kusaaidiana wakati wa kujenga nyumba. Tumesikia kwamba leo Ali atajenga nyumba yake mpya. Ni nyumba ya kienyeji mfano wa duara. Majirani na rafiki wengi wamefika kumsaidia. Hii ni desturi kule.

Wanaume wanakwenda msituni au porini kukata nguzo na fito. Halafu wanachimba mashimo mfano wa duara na wanatia nguzo ndani yake. Pande zote mbili za nguzo wanafunga fito kwa kamba. Halafu wanatia matope katikati.

Wanawake wanakata nyasi porini na wanaezeka nyumba. Hivi nyumba inaweza kuwa tayari upesi sana. Baada ya kujenga nyumba kuna karamu na wote wanafurahi sana. Wanaume wazee wanatengeneza pombe na wanawake wazee wanaangalia watoto.

Step 2. Maswali.

Nani anapenda kusaaidiana kule Afrika?
Wanasaidiana kwa kazi gani?
Nani anajenga nyumba mpya?
Ni nyumba mfano gani?
Nani amefika kumsaidia kujenga?

Wanaume wanatafuta nini msituni?
Wanachimba nini?
Halafu wanatia nini katika mashimo?
Kila upande wa nguzo wanafunga nini?
Wanatia nini katikati ya fito?

Nani anakata nyasi?
Nani anaezeka nyumba?
Baada ya kujenga nyumba kuna nini?
Nani anatengeneza pombe?
Nani anaangalia watoto?

Note: When answering the above questions, students should do so by using complete sentences.

Step 3. Presentation of short narratives prepared by students.

I. Sound Features

In Lesson 20 the two compound words were described. Note again the 'mw' prefix because of the vowel stem 'mwana'. The 'mume' (man) and 'mke' (woman) attached to 'mwana' also changes its prefix within the word. Thus we have:-

(s) mw -anam u me	(pl) w ana- u me.
(s) mw -anam k e	(pl) w ana- w ake.

II. Language Structure

The negative imperative may also be used with an object prefix. This is slipped in between the 'usi' (s) and 'msi' (pl) and the verb stem.

e.g.	Usi-m-pige!	(You not him hit!)
	Msi-wa-pige!	(You not them hit!)

Notice the word order of the pronoun as object compared to English.

III. Cultural Note

In many tribes in East Africa there are some projects which are undertaken with communal help. The building of a house, especially native type, is such a project. Friends and neighbors gather to help build the hut or simple new home.

The men go into the forest to cut suitable posts, others to cut wattles and get rope or heavy string, and bring this to the camp site. Others, meanwhile, have laid out the hut in a circular form, have dug holes for the posts where the walls should be, and have mixed clay soil with water to make mud. When the posts have been put into the ground the wattles are tied on the inside and outside of the posts. The space in between is filled and packed with the mud, and the mud is also smoothly spread on the wall sides. Often these walls are then whitewashed with lime.

The conically shaped roof is thatched by the women using long, tough grass cut in the plains.

In gratitude for services rendered, the owner of the new house puts on a feast afterwards. This may consist of a roasted goat and plenty of native brewed beer. The beer is usually brewed by the older men of the clan. Perchance, the drums start beating and a dance continues late into the night. Everybody is happy and satisfied, knowing that when someone else's turn comes, the same will be done for him too.

Walifika kwa Ali na walipiga hodi. Walisikia watoto wa Ali wanapiga kinanda na wanaimba vizuri. Walifurahi kusikia hii yote. Sasa Ali amekuja na anawaonyesha nyumba yake mpya na stoo.

Stoo ilijengwa juu ya nguzo. Ilimbidi Ali kupanda ngazi wakati wa kuingia stoo. Stoo imejengwa hivi kuzuia panya. Alitaka mavuno kuwa salama. Alifanya akili kwa kuweka chakula kwa akiba. Katika stoo waliona mahindi, maweale na viazi.

Rafiki hao wawili walifurahi kuona kila kitu, lakini kwa sababu ya kazi iliwabidi kurudi nyumbani. Walisema watarudi kesho kuangalia vitu vingine.

Aliingia stoo kwa njia gani?
Kwa nini rafiki walirudi kwao nyumbani?
Walitumaini kurudi tena kesho yake?

Note: When answering the above questions, students should do so by using complete sentences.

Step 3. Presentation of short narratives prepared by students.

I. Sound Feature

Some words of foreign origin which have been more or less recently adopted, may still carry its original accent. One may hear such words used with either the foreign or the Swahili accent on the penultimate. Ultimately as the words are assimilated the accent will shift to its penultimate position. Therefore, do not get confused if you should hear some words with either one or the other accent. Here are some examples:-

kamera,	/kámera/	or	/kaméra/
Amerika,	/Amérika/	or	/Ameríka/
Afrika,	/Áfrika/	or	/Afríka/
lazima,	/lázima/	or	/lazíma/
tafadhali,	/tafáðali/	or	/tafaðáli/
dispensari,	/dispénsari/	or	/dispensári/
malaria,	/malária/	or	/malaría/

II. Language Structure

In this lesson we have a more careful look at the verb auxiliary 'piga', which, when used with a noun, forms a verb. This form arises when there is no suitable verb in use in the language. The word 'piga' means 'hit'. So we get the following:

make a noise	piga kelele	lit: hit a noise
take a snapshot	piga picha	" hit a picture
fire a gun	piga bunduki	" hit a gun

This type of a combination should not be too strange for the English speaker, as even in English we find expressions like:

hit the hay	go to sleep
hit the nail on the head	get a bright idea
hit me	in playing blackjack hit it	musically (down beat)
make a hit	go over big hit the road	get going hit the deck	get out of bed

III. Cultural Note

The African peasant, when he erects the various buildings in his compound, may have one or two huts to live in, a hut for the animals, and a special hut for the storage of food supplies. This storage hut looks different from the others as it looks as if it were on stilts. It is a smallish hut perched on 4-5 ft. high posts, and one can reach it by a small ladder.

The reason for building this storage hut this way is to protect it from vermin, especially rats. One may argue that these can climb up the posts. True! But when they reach the top of the post they find an obstruction in the shape of a large sheet of tin very much like a big plate nailed on upside down. This the rats cannot crawl over. The situational picture has an illustration of this.

Step 1. Presentation of a narrative based on the dialogue. The situational picture will be used.

"U hali gani leo, Juma?" "Njema, asante."

"Tutakwenda kutembelea kwa Ali leo tena?"

"Lazima, tulimwahidi kwamba tutarudi. Atapenda kutuonyesha ng'ombe na mbuzi zake." "Tutakwenda, basi."

Jana rafiki walitazama kidogo nyumba mpya ya Ali na stoo yake. Stoo ni ile ya kuweka chakula salama. Leo rafiki wanaangalia majengo mengine. Ali ana ng'ombe watano, mbuzi watano na kondoo wanne. Jumla ni wanyama kumi na wanne.

Ng'ombe wanakaa nje katika boma. Watu wamekata miti midogo yenye miiba. Halafu wamepanga hii mfano wa duara kutengeneza boma la ng'ombe. Mbuzi na kondoo ni wanyama wadogo, na hawa wanakaa katika nyumba waziwazi yenye fito tu. Hakuna matope kuziba fito.

Halafu waliona nyumba ndogo ya kuku. Nyumba hiyo ilijengwa mfano wa ile stoo. Ni juu ya nguzo na kuku wanapanda juu ya ngazi kuingia katika nyumba yao.

Rafiki walimpa Ali asante kwa kuwaonyesha kiwanja chake, na walimwambia kwamba ana kiwanja kizuri sana.

Step 2. Maswali.

Nani alikwenda kutembelea kwa Ali?
Nani aliahidi kwamba watarudi kwa Ali?
Ali alitaka kuwaonyesha nini?
Jana rafiki walikuwa wapi?
Leo wanakwenda wapi tena?

Rafiki waliona nini jana?
Leo wanatumaini kuona nini?
Ali ana ng'ombe wangapi?
Jumla ana mbuzi na kondoo wangapi?
Ali anafuga kuku vilevile?

Ng'ombe wanakaa wapi?
Boma limejengwa kwa njia gani?
Kondoo wanakaa wapi?
Nyumba ya kuku inafanana na nini?
Kiwanja cha Ali kilipendeza?

Note: When answering the above questions, students should do so by using complete sentences.

Step 3. Presentation of short narratives prepared by students.

I. Sound Features

In this lesson we want to practice and to reinforce the rather different sound feature of /ŋ/ (ng'), especially as it occurs at the beginning of a word. Go back to Lesson 25 and review the notes and examples. This sound does not occur initially in many words, however, it occurs in the most common word of value to the Africans, and that is 'ng'ombe' (cattle). This word re-occurs again in this lesson.

II. Language Structure

This is a review lesson reviewing the affirmative and negative forms of the imperative. Look up the notes in Lessons 10, 37, 39 and 40.

III. Cultural Note

In the homestead of an African peasant, as mentioned in the previous lesson, there may be a couple huts for family use; there is the specially constructed storage hut for crops, built up on 4-5 ft. posts, and then there are the animals.

In this lesson let us look briefly at the animal shelters. The cows are usually kept in an open thorn kraal or enclosure. This is built (in the plains) by cutting many heavy thorn branches and arranging them in a circular enclosure. In the highlands such an enclosure is often built of posts, left-overs from a lumber mill, or heavy stakes. This enclosure forms part of the compound and is not far from the dwellings. When there are only 1 or 2 cows, these may be taken into the hut where people stay.

For goats and sheep there is often an open type hut with wattle walls which are not plastered with mud. There is also a grass roof.

The chickens have a small wattle pleated hut set up on posts, this chicken coup or hut has a good roof and must be well built to keep out marauders such as weasels or large rats. The more progressive peasant may use chicken wire mesh for additional protection. During the day a small ladder is set up for the chickens, leading to a small door which can be securely fastened. African hens still hatch out their chicks the way nature intended them to do. Incubators are known only on large poultry farms.

Step 1. Presentation of a narrative based on the dialogue. The situational picture will be used.

Leo nilisoma katika gazeti habari za ajali nyingi. Kwanza habari ya mtoto mmoja. Huyu alijiumiza alipoanguka motoni. Alijichoma vibaya katika mikono na miguu. Watu wachache walimsaidia na walimpeleka hospitali.

Halafu nilisoma juu ya ajali ya motokaa. Motokaa iligongana na lori. Ilipogongana na lori, motokaa ilipinduka. Walikuwa abiria wanne ndani ya motokaa na dreva. Dreva alijiumiza alipojikata kwa kioo. Kioo cha dirisha kilipasuka na vipande vya kioo vilimkata. Abiria walijikata vilevile walipotokea chini ya motokaa. Ingawa waliumia, waliokoka maisha yao. Walifurahi kwa sababu waliokoka. Walijisaidia upesi walipotumia 'Huduma ya Kwanza.' Walitia dawa kwa jeraha. Halafu walifunga majeraha kwa vitambaa kuziba damu. Baadaye motokaa ya wagonjwa iliwapeleka hospitali vilevile.

Step 2. Maswali.

Nilisoma habari gani katika gazeti?
Mtoto alianguka wapi?
Alijiumiza kwa njia gani?

Walijikata vilevile au walijichoma?
Waliokoka maisha yao?
Wamejisaidia kwa njia gani?
Walitia nini kwa jeraha?
Motokaa ya wagonjwa iliwapeleka wapi?

Note: When answering the above questions, students should do so by using complete sentences.

Step 3. Presentation of short narratives prepared by students.

I. Sound Feature

The sounds which are different from English have been pretty well covered in the previous lessons and volumes. This does not mean that one should now relax and not pay anymore attention to all aspects of good pronunciation. On the contrary, we strive to perfect our intonation, stress, and pronunciation. This process continues to the end of the course.

There has to be a continuous alertness on the part of both teacher and student, to recognize remaining difficulties in pronunciation. These will vary according to the individual. They will have to be dealt with as they arise.

II. Language Structure

- a. To the list of object prefixes which have already been learned, add the invariable object prefix 'ji', referring to 'oneself.' This 'ji' refers back to the subject prefix used in that particular verb construction.

ni liji umiza	(I hurt myself)
u liji umiza	(you hurt yourself)
a liji umiza	(he hurt himself)
t liji umiza	(we hurt ourselves)
m liji umiza	(you hurt yourselves)
w liji umiza	(they hurt themselves)

After adding the 'ji' to the verb stem, one can regard it for all practical purposes as part of the verb stem.

kujifunza (to teach oneself, to study)

- b. Another useful prefix is 'po' which follows the tense sign and represents the adverb of time 'when'. It can be used that way only with the three common tenses: NA (present), LI (past), TA (future). Take note, however, that in combination with the future tense, the TA becomes TAKA.

Anapoandika. (When/while he is writing.)
Aliporudi. (When he came back.)
Atakapokwenda. (When he goes.)

III. Cultural Note

Automobile traffic in East Africa has not reached the proportions that it has in this country. Most of the so called 'highways' or main roads are still earth roads, which become almost impassable during heavy rains. All-weather surfaced roads are few in number.

In a city like Nairobi traffic can become very heavy. Traffic jams occur even on the large 6 lane Princess Elizabeth Way. But out in the open spaces of Africa one can find quite a bit of adventure while motoring. This may be by meeting up unexpectedly with wild animals, - rhinos, elephants, buffalos, or ordinary car trouble out in the blue, causing one to spend the night out in the bush, can be an adventure in itself.

In East Africa, for that matter in all of Africa which at one time has been under British rule, one drives on the left side of the road. This would include all the countries from Egypt, through the Sudan and East Africa, down to South Africa. In the Congo they drive on the right hand side, and so one has to be careful traveling East to West.

II. Language Structure

This lesson has been in the nature of a review lesson as far as language structure is concerned.

III. Cultural Note

When we speak of African costumes and clothing one must immediately differentiate various groups, either according to stage of civilization, or even religion. The less civilized people living in undeveloped areas may wear only a loin cloth (called: shuka), or a cloth or blanket slung across one shoulder, or nothing at all. The coastal people and Muslims generally wear a long, white garment which goes to the feet; this is called a "kanzu." Then in the cities and more developed areas one sees commonly, shorts and open shirts, or also a suit. Western type clothes take over. The foregoing applies to the men.

The women's apparel will range from beaded loin belts, grass skirts, to the favorite brightly colored square pieces of cloth called "kanga." One such piece is tucked in just over the breasts, and the other may be thrown over the head to hang over the shoulders. In the cities again, Western type dresses will prevail. Bracelets, beads, rings, and anklets (where women walk barefoot) are very popular.

As there are many tribes, as well as different races (African, Arab, Indian and European) the customs and ways of dressing will vary, thus producing many contrasts.

wenzi wenu	>	wenzenu	(your pals) pl.

III. Cultural Note

African men and women are conscious of their appearance like anyone else. In the past it was not so much the matter of clothes (for many didn't wear any) as of the hairdo, tatoo marks on the body, and perhaps rings and some such ornaments. The hair is plaited in special ways, plastered with red clay mixtures, and so they would keep their hairdo in shape for a long while. If you study various pictures of the Masai hair make-ups, you will find an interesting variety.

With the advent of soap, oils, cremes, lotions, the more modern African will try out many of these, especially the women.

Most Africans have a specially carved wooden comb which they use, and often also wear. Parts of it may have ornamental carvings.

Step 1. Presentation of a narrative based on the dialogue. The situational picture will be used.

Niliposafiri katika nchi ya Uganda nilifurahi kuona jinsi Uganda ni nchi ya kupendeza. Niliona wanyama wengi wa kila aina. Ziwa kubwa la Viktoria, mito na misitu mikubwa, yote ilipendeza. Lakini nilipata shida sababu ya homa ya malaria. Ugonjwa huo unaenezwa na mbu wa aina ya 'anofeles.' Mbu wanapomwuma mtu na kufyonza damu yake wanaeneza ugonjwa wa malaria.

Mbu wanachokoza zaidi usiku. Kwa hivyo inafaa kujilinda kwa kutumia chandalua. Nilifungia chandalua juu ya kitanda nilipolala. Nilipopata homa daktari alinipa dawa. Lakini hata sasa bado ninapata homa mara kwa mara. Kwa hivyo nitakwenda mjini kutafuta daktari hodari. Labda ataweza kunisaidia.

Homa ya malaria imeenezwa katika sehemu kubwa ya Afrika. Mbu wanapenda kukaa karibu na maji. Wanazaa majini.

Step 2. Maswali.

Nilisafiri wapi?
Niliona nini kule Uganda?
Nilipata shida gani?
Malaria inaenezwa kwa njia gani?
Mbu wa aina gani wanaeneza malaria?

Mbu wanachokoza lini hasa?
Chandalua itaweza kusaidia?
Nilifungia wapi chandalua?
Daktari alinipa nini nilipopata homa?
Hata sasa bado ninapata homa?

Nitakwenda kutafuta nini mjini?
Daktari hodari angeweza kunisaidia?
Malaria imeenezwa wapi?
Mbu wanapenda kukaa wapi?
Mbu wanazaa wapi?

Note: When answering the above questions, students should do so by using complete sentences.

Step 3. Presentation of short narratives prepared by students.

I. Sound Feature

Attention may be drawn to the endings: -twa, -mwa, as in: letwa, itwa, umwa. Compare these with: leta, ita, uma.

II. Language Structure

The Present Conditional Tense is indicated by the tense sign: NGE, which appears as a prefix in the verb construction.

ni	}	NGE	}	pona
u				eleza
a				jilinda
tu				chokoza
m				fyonza
wa				kubali

ningepona
ungeeleza angejilinda tungechokoza mngefyonza wangekubali

I would get well you would explain
he would guard himself
we would annoy
you (pl.) would suck
they would agree

As a rule two verbs with the NGE tense follow each other, making one action conditional or contingent upon the other.

Thus: Angenipa pesa, ningefurahi.
(If he would give me money, I'd be glad.)

The first condition is often preceded by the word 'kama,' meaning 'if.' It can be omitted when understood, as in the case above.

Thus: Kama angenipa pesa, ningefurahi.
(If he would give me money, I'd be glad.)

Note from the above examples that the word order (syntax) approximates the English word order in such cases.

III. Cultural Note

The debilitating effect of malaria upon the peoples of Africa is very considerable. Malaria is very wide spread, and the transmitter is the Anopheles mosquito. This particular mosquito can be differentiated from others in that when it sucks it just about 'stands on its head' or proboscis, and the feet dangle in the air. One can recognize this creature by that characteristic.

As the mosquito sucks blood from a person who has malaria, it sucks up the malaria parasites, and when it bites another person (perhaps one who has no malaria) the parasites are re-circulated into the blood stream of this person.

Various drugs are available for both prophylaxis and treatment, such as: quinine, atabrin, mepacrin, aralen, etc. Some of these should be taken cautiously under a physicians care, as there may be serious complications. A few people seem to be immune to malaria, but most of them are not. A gradual partial immunity can be built up. It is unfortunate that the scourge of malaria should be one of the drawbacks of living in the tropics, but with precautions taken, this matter can be kept under control.

Since the mosquito breeds in still pools of water, breeding places can be eliminated by not allowing rain water to stand in empty tin cans, drains, pools, etc. Some such pools, especially if they are larger, can be sprayed with oil. As these mosquitoes fly by night, the mosquito proofing of homes and using mosquito nets over beds while sleeping is important.

Ndui ni ugonjwa mbaya sana na watu wanaweza kufa upesi. Hata taifodi na yelo fiva ni mabaya sana. Kwa hivyo ni akili kujilinda.

Si lazima kuchukua dawa nyingi kama ungependa kusafiri Kenya. Dawa za aina nyingi zinapatikana kule. Katika miji mikubwa kama Nairobi kuna madaktari wengi na hospitali nzuri.

Utakapofika Afrika ya Mashariki kumbuka kuchemsha maji ya kunywa. Maji ya chemchemi ni safi na si lazima kuchemsha. Ni heri kusafisha mboga na matunda vilevile. Wageni wanaweza kupata magonjwa rahisi, kwa hivyo inafaa kujilinda sana.

Step 2. Maswali.

Ungependa kusafiri Kenya?
Ungejitayarisha kwa njia gani?
Ungechanjwa kwa ugonjwa gani?
Ungepigwa sindano kwa ugonjwa gani?
Ndui ni ugonjwa mbaya sana?

Na kwa taifodi na yelo fiva, je?
Kule Afrika ya Mashariki kuna dawa?
Madaktari watapatikana wapi?
Kuna hospitali kule Nairobi?

Inafaa kuchemsha maji kule?
Ungechemsha maji ya kunawa?
Maji gani ni safi?
Ni heri kusafisha nini tena?
Wageni wanapata magonjwa upesi?

Note: When answering the above questions, students should do so by using complete sentences.

Step 3. Presentation of short narratives prepared by students.

I. Sound Feature

Watch the pronunciation of the words:- chanja, chanjwa, chemsha, chemchemi.

II. Language Structure

Refer to the notes about the conditional NGE tense which were given in the previous lesson. In this lesson further application is made of this tense.

III. Cultural Note

A traveler to East Africa must get vaccinated against smallpox and inoculated against typhoid and yellow fever. Yellow fever was primarily a West African scourge, also carried by a certain type of mosquito, the stegomyia. Yellow fever is highly infectious, occurring rarely in East Africa. Air transportation contributes to the spread of disease-carrying insects, and this potential danger is one which has to be watched and controlled.

Typhoid can be spread through polluted water, and so it is advisable to boil drinking water, unless one is sure that it comes directly from a clean spring. Dysentery can be spread through lack of sanitation, the handling of vegetables and fruit in village markets by people who are carriers. Hence the advisability of washing all fruit and vegetables which have been bought from native markets.

It is not necessary to take drugs out to East Africa as there is a good supply of these in the drugstores - or pharmacies as they are called there. The medical services are geared to the necessity of dealing with tropical diseases. Any physician who wishes to practice medicine there has to take an intensive course in tropical medicine in London first.

The sophisticated Africans will go for their tea, coffee, or refreshment into European style cafes or restaurants. These are found in all towns and cities.

However, because of the various races and peoples represented, one will find that many like to enjoy types of refreshments and foods peculiar to their traditions and customs. Thus the Arabs will prefer their oriental style cafe. Some will squat cross-legged on rugs, sipping mocca type coffee from small cups, or enjoying a smoke from a water-bowl pipe. The Indians may have a similar type café, but prefer tea. The average African from the villages may enjoy a cup of very sweet tea in small inexpensive coffee shops, or some soda drink. But then one will find also very cosmopolitan groups of all races together in the European style city restaurants.

The work 'peke' describes the condition of being alone, isolated or even single. It is used only with the possessive adjective following it.

peke yangu	-	I alone, by myself.
peke yako	-	you alone, by yourself.
peke yake	-	he alone, by himself.
peke yetu	-	we alone, by ourselves.
peke yenu	-	you alone, by yourselves.
peke yao	-	they alone, by themselves.

Derived from 'peke' there is also the adjective ' -a pekee' meaning: solitary, unique.

e.g. Hiki ni kitu cha pekee.
(This is a unique (or special) thing.)

Mtu wa pekee.
(A solitary person.)

'Upweke' is the state of loneliness or solitariness.

Amekufa upweke.
(He died in loneliness.)

III. Cultural Note

Entertainment of visitors in a home or for meals will differ according to status, tribe, race, and even location.

In the cities the white collar workers and artisans have only the evenings in which to entertain. After a brief 'sundowner' earlier in the evening the meal may be served fairly late, perhaps between 7 - 8 o'clock. This is the influence of city life, sophistication, and Western life.

Out in the country the people, especially the Africans, will favor for the most part to entertain during the day, from noon onward. Several factors may have affected this tradition: visitors and strangers are not very welcome in the homes at night; there is no electricity and light is provided by a kerosene lantern. If there is a special guest then a goat may be butchered and roasted whole over an open fire. Then the host cuts off small chunks and hands them out to the guests. Fingers are used freely. In addition to tea, newly introduced soda drinks, native brewed beer is served in a large pot or barrel and guests help themselves with their specially made "beer mugs" made of calabashes and fastened to sticks.

Step 1. Presentation of a narrative based on the dialogue. The situational picture will be used.

Siku moja nilimwuliza mwenzangu juu ya desturi na utaratibu wa chakula kule Nairobi. Alinijibu hivi: "Sisi twazoea kula mayai, mkate na kahawa asubuhi. Twapenda chakula hicho, ingawa wengine wapenda uji. Wakati wa saa sita, yaani adhuhuri, twatumia chakula kidogo tu, lakini jioni twatumia zaidi. Baada ya kutoka kazini twapenda kuburudika kidogo tunapokunywa chai. Halafu twaweza kutembea nje kidogo na kupunga hewa.

Baada ya kuburudika hivi, pengine hata kuhudhuria michezo, twaoga na twakaa starehe. Pombe au viburudisho kama hivyo vyafaa kabla ya chakula cha jioni. Chakula hicho twala kama saa mbili hivi. Hii ni tofauti na desturi za Amerika. Kule watu wapenda kula mapema kidogo, kama saa thenashara.

Step 2. Maswali.

Nilimwulizaje mwenzangu?
Alinijibuje juu ya chakula cha asubuhi?
Watu wanakula sana wakati wa adhuhuri?

Ni kwa chakula gani watu wanakula zaidi?
Baada ya kazi wanakunywa nini?

Baada ya chai wengine wanapenda kufanyaje?
Wanaoga lini?
Kabla ya chakula kikubwa wanapenda nini tena?
Chakula hicho ni saa ngapi?
Hii ni tofauti na desturi za Amerika?

Kule Amerika watu wanapenda kula lini?
Saa thenashara ni saa ngapi?
Unafikiri desturi ya Afrika itakupendeza?
Kuna faida gani kuburudika kabla ya chakula?
Kwako chakula kikubwa ni kipi?

Note: When answering the above questions, students should do so by using complete sentences.

Step 3. Presentation of short narratives prepared by students.

I. Language Structure

The so-called Simple Present Tense, or also the Indefinite Present Tense, has the tense sign "A". Compare this with the previously learned present tense labelled in conventional grammars as the Continuous Present Tense, where the tense sign is "NA."

e.g. nataka - I want, ninataka - I want nala - I eat, ninakula - I'm eating

Because of the use of just a vowel (A) for the tense sign, this combines with the vowel of the subject prefix and the result is as follows:

ni	+	a	>	na,	nataka
u	+	a	>	wa,	wataka
a	+	a	>	a,	ataka
tu	+	a	>	twa,	twataka
m	+	a	>	mwa,	mwataka
wa	+	a	>	wa,	wataka.

In this tense the short verbs of one syllable, like: ku-la, ku-nywa, ku-ja, drop the infinitive particle 'ku.'

Thus we get:	nala	-	I eat
	wala	-	you eat
	ala	-	he eats
	twala	-	we eat
	mwala	-	you eat (pl.)
	wala	-	they eat.

Note: The expression "so called" was used purposely above as there is some doubt whether this really is another tense, and whether this is not an attempt to try and find a parallel for a tense existing in English, and also other European languages. The concept of the Latin or Greek grammatical forms unconsciously do affect linguists when they try to find parallels in other languages. It may be merely a contraction and not a tense at all. On the basis of contractions we arrive at the same result. Compare with the above:

ninaketi:	ni(n)aketi	>	naketi	(I'm sitting) unaketi:	u(n)aketi	>	waketi	(you're sitting) anaketi:	a(n)aketi	>	aketi	(he's sitting) tunaketi:	tu(n)aketi	>	twaketi	(we're sitting) mnaketi:	m(n)aketi	>	mwaketi	(you're sitting) wanaketi:	wa(n)aketi	>	waketi	(they're sitting)

There is no equivalent for a simple or indefinite present tense in the negative as there is in English. Furthermore; in many cases where the simple tense would be used in English, the continuous form is preferable in Swahili, especially in the plural.

e.g. Wanakula hapa kila siku.
(They eat here every day.)

Wanakula sasa.
(They are eating now.)

These remarks have been added for the benefit of the thinking student. For all practical purposes the student is made aware that these two forms of the present affirmative tense are in use, and he must therefore master both forms.

II. Cultural Note

Among Europeans living in East Africa, and also among sophisticated Africans, Indians and peoples of other races, it is customary to have the evening meal later in the evening than is customary in the States. The routine is something like this:

After work later in the afternoon a refreshing cup of tea with a small snack is welcome. This would be around 4:30 P.M. Then many, especially office workers, will welcome a bit of exercise, either a good walk in the fresh and cool evening air, or a game of tennis. Upon return from such recreation a good bath is in order. In a relaxed mood one may then enjoy a glass of beer or whisky soda, or a soft drink of fresh lemonade. This takes place at sundown, sitting on the verandah or porch, and consequently this has become known as "having a sundowner."

Later in the evening, 7:30 or 8:00 P.M. dinner is served.

Visitors from America find this strange at first, but soon find out the advantages. Instead of having a meal at 5:00 right after work, it is good and wise to relax first and forget the problems of the daily round. A bit of physical exercise before a meal, rather than after a meal is good. The bath or shower is a daily routine. The relaxing atmosphere on the verandah watching the sun go down, having a cool drink, has readied one to enjoy a good dinner.

Lakini rafiki yake aliyeelimishwa angalimsaidia. Juma alipata barua kutoka^{kwa} ndugu yake anayesoma katika skuli kubwa kule Amerika. Gharama ni kubwa sana na hivi alipata taabu ya pesa. Juma aliuza mavuno yake na angalipenda kumsaidia. Aliweka pesa chache akiba kule posta.

I. Language Structure

The Past Conditional Tense sign is NGALI. It is used the usual way like the other tense prefixes.

Refer to the Generalization for Lesson 46 where the Present Conditional was described. The same principles apply here, except that NGALI denotes the Past Tense and NGE the Present.

Example: Ningalimwona ningalimpa pesa.
(If I had seen him I would have given him the money.)

II. Cultural Note

The Post Office in East Africa performs all the functions of a normal post office in America. However, it has two additional important services to offer which are not offered by the American post office.

- a. It handles telegrams, both in sending and receiving. There is no Western Union in East Africa. One goes to the post office to send a telegram or overseas cablegram.
- b. It performs the services of a savings bank. Many people have their money in the Post Office Savings Account. And so the story in our dialogue reflected all these services when the sender talks about sending a cablegram and possibly paying for it by drawing from his savings account. A certain rate of interest, it used to be 2 1/2%, is earned by the deposited money.

Mabwana wawili, watu tajiri wenye maduka, wali-karibu na meza iliyokuwa na mapambo mazuri.

Vyombo vyote vilikuwa safi na vipya.

Mtumishi alikuja kuwauliza kama wangependa kuagiza kitu. Mabwana walikuwa na njaa na wali-agiza kitoweo cha nyama ya kondoo pamoja na mchuzi wa binzari. Kwa mboga waliagiza ndizi zilizopikwa na nyanya. Kwa chakula cha mwisho wangelipenda matunda mabivu kama machungwa au maembe. Walipata mkate na siagi vilevile.

Alipowauliza kama wangependa chai au kahawa hawakupenda, lakini waliagiza machupa mawili ya bia.

Walipomaliza kula walimpa mtumishi bakshishi nzuri na walimwambia kuandika gharama zote juu ya hesabu moja.

Step 2. Maswali.

Walikuwa tajiri?

Walimpa mtumishi bakshishi?
Mapambo yote yalipendeza?
Walilipa gharama?

Note: When answering the above questions, students should do so by using complete sentences.

Step 3. Presentation of short narratives prepared by students.

I. Language Structure

In this lesson the conditional tenses, already discussed in preceding lessons, have been used again and reinforced. This includes the 'A' tense as well. For review, look up the generalizations of Lessons: 46, 50 and 51.

II. Cultural Note

In America one is used to bananas only as fruit, moreover one rarely sees more than one or two varieties. In tropical countries where bananas are one of the staple foods, there are many different kinds of bananas: red, green, yellow; long and short ones; thick and thin ones; some specially suited as fruit, others again as vegetables, and still others as fodder for cattle.

The bananas which are used as vegetables are used at the unripe stage. When peeled, they are cut up and boiled, possibly with a soup bone or a bit of stew meat. These then taste almost like potatoes, perhaps with a slightly nuttier flavor.

Green unripe bananas may also be peeled and thoroughly dried in the sun. Afterwards they are pounded or ground into flour.

Another use for some varieties of ripe bananas (the type used as fruit) would be to peel and lay them out to dry in the sun. Very few know of this secret, but they are delicious. They resemble dried figs or similarly dried fruit.

Among some tribes the ripe bananas are also used for brewing native beer. Often these are then mixed with maize flour. This beer is quite good, though thick and unfiltered.

A long pole with a knife at the end is used to cut down bananas.

Askari walikata tamaa na walilalamika sana. Sasa hawataweza kwenda nyumbani. Sajini Meja aliwaambia kwamba yeye hataweza kutoa ruhusa, ni lazima kuvumilia. Kapteni tu ana mamlaka kutoa ruhusa.

Baadaye Kapteni alirudi na askari wachache walipata ruhusa. Koplo mmoja alisema hatakwenda nyumbani. Wazazi wake hawatakuwa nyumbani. Sasa atasafiri kwa gari la moshi kwenda pwani. Mke wake atamngojea stesheni na watakwenda pamoja. Lakini watoto hawatakwenda, watakaa nyumbani. Watakaa pamoja na jamaa.

Atakwenda wapi sasa?
Atasafiri kwa njia gani?
Mke wake atamngojea wapi?
Watoto watabaki wapi?

Note: When answering the above questions, students should do so by using complete sentences.

Step 3. Presentation of short narratives prepared by students.

I. Language Structure

This is an introduction to the negative tenses. One of the first steps in forming the negative is the change of the usual subject prefix to a negative form. This is accomplished by prefixing HA. In the first 3 persons singular of the Living Class this is a little irregular.

SI	>	I not
HU	>	you not
HA		he not
HATU	>	we not
HAM	-	you not
HAWA	-	they not

The future negative tense is the simplest step from the affirmative to the negative because the future tense sign TA remains the same. The only change is the negative subject prefix.

si		kwenda
hu		pata
ha		safiri
hatu	TA	kula
ham		onana
hawa		lilia like

si-ta-kwenda	-	si-ta-kwenda	(I shall not go) hu-ta-pata	-	hu-ta-pata	(you will not get) ha-ta-safiri	-	ha-ta-safiri	(he will not travel)
hatu-ta-kula	-	hatu-ta-kula	(we shall not eat)
ham-ta-onana	-	ham-ta-onana	(you will not see each other)
hawa-ta-lilia like	-	hawa-ta-lilia like	(they will not complain)

If one should compare the construction in the negative construction in Swahili with that of English, we would have the following:

hatutakoma - but we shall read instead of: we shall not read

II. Cultural Note

In the dialogue reference is made to soldiers going on leave, and some traveling with the family or his wife - to the coast. Actually this would rarely happen. The African families rarely travel together on a vacation trip, or even a shopping trip. The man will do most of the traveling, and the woman will perhaps go to the local market.

Whole families would be seen traveling together when moving to another place of work. Normally the wife stays at home looking after the children and the home.

I. Language Structure

Nothing new. Revision of last two lessons advisable.

II. Cultural Note

Speaking now of the less civilized Africans, the peasants and hunters, one can see that concepts of hygiene are not very high. The digging of latrines is a new concept. It has been more convenient to go out into the bush. This draws flies, and sometimes contributes to the spread of intestinal parasites. Through schools, dispensaries and health services, the people are gradually made aware of the necessity for hygienic measures in order to prevent the spread of disease. Latrines, in order to be effective, have to be dug deep.

Bed bugs and lice are found in many places where hygienic precautions are not taken. These too contribute to the spread of some diseases. In some areas one has to watch out for ticks. When the walls are plastered with mud and there are many cracks in the walls, ticks may find good hiding places. Tick fever is a serious and near fatal sickness.

The newer type homes and buildings built by the more progressive people are built of cut stone, bricks or concrete blocks. The cement floors are smooth and can be scrubbed clean. Smooth plaster on the walls, and corrugated iron or aluminum roofing, all help keep the homes free from the various harmful insects.

DDT spray if carelessly used, contaminating foods, can be a great hazard to one's health. Some insects, notably flies, gradually get immune to DDT. Thus the use of poison sprays is sometimes of doubtful benefit.

Lakini mwingine anajibu kwamba hawezi, sababu hana nafasi, kazi imezidi. Yule wa kwanza anasema "Si kitu, ni vizuri kutunza afya na kuburudika." Sasa yule mwingine anakubali na anakwenda pamoja.

Kule mgahawani wanaketi karibu na meza na wanajipatia chai. Mmoja anatumia maziwa na sukari, mwingine hatumii kitu. Mmoja anakula keki, mwingine hali keki, anasema hana njaa, ana kiu tu.

Rafiki yao, Juma, ni mgonjwa. Hawezi kufika mgahawani. Walitambua ya kwamba afya ni kitu cha kutunza sana. Ugonjwa unaleta hasara, si faida.

Step 2. Maswali.

Nani wamekutana njiani?
Wa kwanza anakwenda wapi?

Wa pili anakwenda wapi?
Wa pili ana nafasi?
Kwa sababu gani anakosa?

Yule wa kwanza anasema nini?

Ugonjwa unaleta faida?
Juma ni rafiki yao?

Note: When answering the above questions, students should do so by using complete sentences.

Step 3. Presentation of short narratives prepared by students.

I. Language Structure

The present negative tense has no tense sign. In place of that it has a vowel change at the end of the verb. All verbs ending in "a" change this to "i". Words ending with another vowel like "u" carry no change.

The subject prefixes are in the negative form as taught in the preceding two lessons.

si	-	jui	(jua > jui)
hu	-	fanyi	(fanya > fanyi)
ha	-	li *	(kula > kuli)
hatu	-	fahamu	(fahamu)
ham	-	sikilizi	(sikiliza > sikilizi)
hawa	-	ji *	(kuja > ji)

* Note that verbs of one syllable like: ku-la, ku-nywa, ku-ja, etc. drop the infinitive particle "ku" and the remaining syllable is treated like all other verbs. The fact that these words are so short can be confusing at first, as one feels that they are hardly recognizable.

sijui	(I don't know)
hufanyi	(you don't do)
hali	(he doesn't eat)
hatufahamu	(we don't understand)
hamsikilizi	(you don't listen)
hawaji	(they aren't coming)

II. Cultural Note

Africans, as a rule, speaking especially of rural communities, are not very fond of candy and excessively sweet stuff. Small children may suck on the occasional bit of candy, but otherwise the people are not too thrilled. When offered ice cream, sweetly frosted cake, and candy, they often refuse it. One thing they do like, however, is plenty of sugar in their tea or coffee.

II. Cultural Note

The trains in East Africa are not fast express trains. Travel is leisurely, but quite comfortable. From the coast to Nairobi the mainline climbs to over 5,000 ft. altitude in 300 miles. Then from Nairobi into the highlands in the next 150 miles it will climb to an altitude of some 9,000 feet.

The passenger cars are somewhat on the continental style. There are cheap third class coaches, but it is advisable to travel second, or preferably first class. Traveling that way one gets away from coaches and one travels in compartments or cabins. These are either with two upholstered settee type seats, seating 4 comfortably, and sleeping 4 by letting down upper bunks, or with one bunk accommodating two people. There is a fine dining car service with rather good meals available for the first and second class passengers.

Juma alikwenda kumwamkia mwenzake kule shambani. Alichelewa njiani na alifika kwake wakati wa usiku. Giza lilikuwa limeingia na Juma alitambua nyumba kwa shida. Mwenzake hakuwa na taa na aliketi gizani. Juma alistaajabu sana, na baada ya kusema "Hodi!" na kumwamkia mwenzake alimwambia kuwasha taa.

Kumbe! Mwenzake hakuwa na mafuta ya taa, wala hakuwa hata na mishumaa. Alipojaribu kufika mjini kujinunulia vifaa vya taa, motokaa yake ilikataa kuwaka stati. Basi hivyo alikaa nyumbani tu. Lakini wakati wa mchana alisafisha fanusi yake, kwani hana taa, alipangusa chemli na sehemu zote. Hivi fanusi iling'aa kweli kweli. Zaidi ya hayo aliweka utambi mpya. Haikosi fanusi litawaka vizuri kumulika watu hapo nyumbani.

Juma alimwelezea mwenzake jinsi wanatumia taa za sitima kule mjini. Ni kugusa swichi tu, na taa zatoa mwangaza kweli kweli kupita fanusi ishirini. Mwenzake alijua kwamba kuna faida kubwa ya eletirisiti, lakini kule kwake shambani hana faida hizo bado. Kwa hivyo ni lazima kuvumilia na kutumia taa za mafuta. Hata hizo zitafaa.

I. Language StructureThe Negative Past Tense.

As already explained in Lessons 53 and 55, the negative tenses change the subject prefixes to a negative form. Then the tense sign is used, followed by the verb. The negative past tense sign is KU. This should not be confused with the infinitive particle 'ku'.

si	}	KU	{	fanya
hu				ona
ha				safiri
hatu				la
ham				ja
hawa				tengeneza

Note that in this tense, similarly as in the present negative tense, the very short words of one syllable drop the infinitive particle 'ku'.

e.g. I didn't eat = sikula (not: sikukula)

II. Cultural Note 'Lights in a Home'.

Except in the cities, African homes generally cannot boast of electric lights. In better rural homes there may be the occasional table lamp, or even a pressure lamp, but by far the commonest lighting fixture is the kerosene hand lantern, also known as 'hurricane lantern'. In Swahili these are known as 'fanusi' or simply 'taa'.

Every small trading post, rural shop or store carries kerosene. This is normally sold in 4 gallon tins. (The gallon is an imperial gallon equalling 1 1/4 U.S. gallons) Very often the trader may pump out the kerosene into pint bottles for those requiring small amounts. Candles are rarely used.

Kagemu ni mtu tajiri. Anafuga ng'ombe wazuri sana na anapata maziwa tele. Anapeleka maziwa sokoni halafu. Vilevile ana kuku wengi wakubwa. Mayai ya kuku hawa ni makubwa.

Juma alifika kwa Kagemu pamoja na rafiki zake. Kagemu aliwakaribisha vema sana. Bi. Kagemu alitengeneza chakula kizuri. Aliwapikia nyama ya kuku na mchele. Bw. Kagemu aliwaonyesha wageni labda kama mia tatu hivi. Juma alifurahi kuona yote. Labda atajaribu kufuga kuku vilevile.

sentences.

I. Language Structure

No new features are introduced, but more practice is given in using the negative tense, especially the past tense.

II. Cultural Note

'Visiting a friend on a poultry farm.'

Raising poultry on a larger scale has its hazards in a country like Kenya or Tanganyika. Unless one has become skilled and trained in poultry raising, and also knows how to cope with local hazards, this business may become a discouraging one. Here are some of the hazards:-

- a. Hawks and other birds of prey.
- b. Weasels, wild cats, mongoose, etc.
- c. The red 'siafu' or safari ants. (These can enter a chicken coop and just about eat up the poor chicks alive.)
- d. Lice, mites and fleas can make the flock anemic.
- e. Various diseases.

The hardy small native chickens, which may be found around many African homes, are hardy and of necessity very alert. There usually are no more than 6-12 of these around. They are not regularly fed and are expected to scrounge around for grubs and food as best they can. The mother hen lays about 10 eggs or so, quickly becomes broody, and starts hatching out the chicks. She becomes a good mother, protective and watchful.

Step 1. Presentation of a narrative based on the dialogue. The situational picture will be used.

Bw. na Bi. Brauni wanajitayarisha kusafiri Kenya.

Bado hawajafika kule. Wanajua kwamba ni mbali na gharama ni kubwa. Hivyo bwana hajakata neno kama watasafiri kwa ndege au kwa meli. Sijui, lakini ninafikiri wataruka kwa ndege sababu hawana nafasi kukaa siku nyingi.

Bw. Brauni hajanunua tikiti, lakini atanunua kesho. Sasa alitaka kusikia habari ya wanyama. Nilileta gazeti na picha kumwonyesha. Katika gazeti hilo tuliona picha za nyati, tembo, simba, twiga na wanyama wengine. Bw. Brauni alitaka kupiga picha ya wanyama na alijitayarisha kufanya hivyo. Watoto na Bi. Brauni walitaka kuona wanyama hawa vilevile na walifurahi kupata nafasi kama hii.

Wao hawajafika Afrika bado.

Step 2. Questions based on the above narration:

Nani anajitayarisha kusafiri Kenya?
Walifika Afrika safari nyingine?
Gharama ya safari itakuwaje?
Bwana alikata neno ya safari kabisa?
Wataruka kwa ndege?

Kwa nini watasafiri kwa ndege?
Bw. Brauni amekwisha nunua tikiti?
Atanunua lini tikiti?
Alitaka kusikia habari gani sasa?
Kuna nini katika gazeti?

Waliona picha za wanyama gani?
Bw. Brauni alitaka kuwinda?
Alijitayarisha kufanya nini hasa?
Watoto na Bi. Brauni walitaka nini?
Wamekwisha fika Afrika safari nyingine?

Note: When answering the above questions,
students should do so by using complete
sentences.

Step 3. Presentation of short narratives prepared by students.

I. Language StructureThe Negative 'Not Yet' Tense

The function of the 'ME' Tense in the affirmative was to show completed action, and so in the negative the 'JA' Tense sign indicates a 'not yet completed' action. The structure is the same as in the other negative tenses:- namely: a negative subject prefix, a tense sign (negative), and the verb.

si	}	JA	{	kata
hu				chora
ha				andika
hatu				-la
ham				maliza
hawa				-ja

Note that similarly as in the present and past tense negative, this tense also makes the short verbs of one syllable drop the 'ku'. Thus, sijala (instead of 'sijakula') meaning 'I have not yet eaten.' Very often a verb in this tense can be preceded by the word 'bado' meaning 'not yet.'

Thus: hajarudi = he has not returned yet bado hajarudi = he has not returned yet

II. Cultural Note

The newly independent countries, especially also because of economic difficulties, realize the value of tourism. The large numbers of wild animals in East Africa are a great attraction for tourists, hunting safaris, and even movie companies. Thus big game is a tremendous economic asset for these countries.

6th PERIOD

SITUATIONAL APPLICATION

LESSON 60

Step 1. Presentation of a narrative based on the dialogue. The situational picture will be used.

Kikosi kidogo cha askari zetu kilitokea usiku kabisa - saa sita usiku. Walivaa nguo za rangi ya majani na kofia za chuma. Walivaa mabeti mabegani, na kwa silaha walichukua bastola na bunduki ya bombomu. Hivi walikwenda kimya kwa maficho yao kando ya barabara.

Kabla ya kujificha walitia gogo kubwa la mti kuingama barabara. Hivi walikusudia kusimamisha motokaa za adui.

Walipolala kimya kifudifudi katika nyasi walisikia motokaa inakuja. Walijitayarisha kurukia adui. Walijua kwamba adui atasimama na kufikiri watafanyaje. Basi adui walipofika waliwarukia ghafila na baada ya kupigana kidogo waliwashinda na kuwafunga katika motokaa.

Step 2. Questions based on the above narration:

Kikosi kiliondoka saa ngapi?
Askari walivaa nini?
Walifunga nini mabegani?
Walichukua silaha gani?
Walikwenda wapi?

Maficho yalikuwa wapi?
Walitia nini barabarani?
Walikingama barabara?
Walikusudia kufanya nini?
Walifanya kelele?

Walilala kwa njia gani?
Walilala wapi?
Walisikia nini?
Walifanya nini kwa adui?
Waliwashinda?

Note: When answering the above question,

I. Language Structure

In this lesson the four basic negative tenses should be reviewed.

Present Negative	—	(no tense sign, ending a=i)

'Not Yet' Neg.	JA

With the exception of the future tense with TA, in all the other tenses the short one-syllable verbs drop the infinitive particle 'ku'.

II. Cultural Note

There is no particular cultural note in this lesson as the situation is a military one - an ambush.

Step 1. Presentation of a narrative based on the dialogue. The situational picture will be used.

Meja alimwita Kapteni na alimwambia awaite maofisa kusikiliza amri zake. Kapteni aliona akipiga filimbi, wote watasikia na watakuja haraka. Meja aliona ni lazima kufanya mpango kwa kushambulia leo.

Wakiangalia ramani wataweza kuona bonde kubwa na mto. Ukingoni mwa mto ni boma la adui. Waki-shambulia boma kwa akili wangepaulu kuteka boma. Hivi wakigawanya jeshi sehemu mbili ingekuwa bora. Wakiingilia adui upande wa kushoto si vizuri sababu ya matope mengi. Lakini wakiingilia upande wa kulia wangepaulu na wangepata maficho katika miamba mikubwa.

Ofisa mmoja aliogopa wataonekana wakivuka mto kwa chelezo, lakini wakitumia kamflaji (vidanganya macho) adui hatawavumbua. Wote waliomba Meja kueleza tena na kukariri mpango wa mashambulio ili wasisahau.

Step 2. Questions based on the above narration.

Nani alimwita Kapteni?
Alitaka amwite nani tena?
Kapteni alitumia njia gani kuwaita?
Meja alitaka kufanye mpango gani?
Wakisikia filimbi watakuja upesi?

Katika ramani waliona nini?
Boma la adui lilikuwa wapi?

Walitaka kuvuka mto kwa njia gani?
Maofisa waliomba nini?

Note: When answering the above questions,
students should do so by using complete sentences.

Step 3. Presentation of short narratives prepared by students.

I. Language Structure1. The Conditional or 'IF' Tense.

In Swahili the conditional can be expressed in two ways, one of which has already been learned:-

- (a) The use of 'kama' (if), with the present or future affirmative tense.

Kama anafanya = if he does

Kama atafanya = if he does (will do)

- (b) The other way is by using a special tense with the tense sign KI.

ni	}	KI	}	fanya
u				taka
a				penda
tu				la
m				pata
wa				ja

nikifanya = if I do

ukitaka = if you want akipenda = if he likes, etc.

These forms can also be reinforced and preceded by the word 'kama' (if).

kama ukipenda = if you like

2. Note that this KI tense is used only in the sense of present time projected into the future. Monosyllabic verb stems also drop the 'ku' with this tense.

e.g. akija = if he comes wakila = if they eat

Of the two ways described, the use of the 'KI' tense reflects better Swahili usage.

3. In the negative form, the 'KI' tense sign is substituted by the tense sign 'SIPO'.

e.g. usipofanya = unless you do or if you don't do.

The subject prefixes retain their affirmative forms.

II. Cultural Note

There is no cultural note. This is again a military situation - a plan of attack.

Step 1. Presentation of a narrative based on the dialogue. The situational picture will be used.

Katika hospitali moja daktari alitoa dawa bure kwa wagonjwa. Karani aliyefanya kazi kule alitaka kujipatia faida kidogo kwa njia ya chini chini. Hivyo aliiba dawa kama aspirini na yodini na aliiuza kwa watu kule nje.

Siku moja nilimkuta akiuza dawa. Hakujua kwamba nilimwona. Kwa ghafula aligeuka akaniona. Aliogopa sana aliponitambua akaangusha dawa chini, lakini aliendelea kunitazama usoni tu. Halafu alienda zake.

Niliokota paketi alizoangusha nikazifungua, nikaona ndani yake kuna vidonge vya aspirini na kichupa cha yodini. Dawa hii ilitoka hospitali. Nilitambua kwamba karani haaminiki, nikaenda kwa daktari, nikamwambia habari zote. Yeye hakufurahi aliposikia habari hizi na bila kukawia alimwita karani. Karani alipofika na aliposikia habari zote, hakuweza kukana na alisema kwamba alikosa.

Step 2. Questions based on the above narration:

Daktari alitoa dawa kwa bei gani?
Nani alipata dawa?

Karani aliyefanya kazi kule alitafuta faida zaidi?
Aliitafuta kwa njia gani?
Aliiba dawa gani?

Alifanya nini na dawa halafu?
Nilimkuta akifanya nini?
Aliogopa aliponiona?
Alifanya nini na paketi?
Aliendelea kutazama nini?

Nilifanya nini na paketi?
Nikatambua nini?
Daktari alifurahi aliposikia?
Akamwita nani?
Karani alikana habari hizo?

Note: When answering the above questions,
students should do so by using complete
sentences.

Step 3. Presentation of short narratives prepared by students.

I. Language Structure

In the previous lesson we learned to use the 'KI' or 'if' tense to indicate a conditional situation.

e.g. Ukirudi upesi nitakupa bakshishi.
If you return quickly, I'll give you a tip.

In this lesson, we shall learn about another usage of the 'KI' tense, and that is simultaneous action. When there are two verbs following each other in a phrase or sentence, indicating that one action was going on at the same time as another, then the second verb will take the 'KI' tense, regardless what tense the first verb may take.

e.g. Nilimwona akicheza. = I saw him playing.
Nitamkuta akiandika.= I'll find him writing.

In English that second verb usually takes an 'ing' ending, while in Swahili the 'KI' tense is used.

II. Cultural Note

The small dispensaries being established in rural areas are of great value. Medical aid is otherwise not easily available. Only first aid and lighter cases are treated at such dispensaries.

The local dispenser or assistant may become quite an important person. Some may be tempted to establish a small 'racket' on the side by peddling pills outside the dispensary. These, of course, may have been stolen from the dispensary. The dialogue in this lesson deals with such an instance.

Step 1. Presentation of a narrative based on the dialogue. The situational picture will be used.

Wakati wa vita ni lazima kujua kama adui atashambulia, ili askari wajiweke tayari. Hivi askari, hata na wenyeji wa nchi wanafuata mpango wa utayari. Wenye kutunza mpango wa utayari wanapata habari kwa njia mbalimbali juu ya mashambulio ya adui. Halafu wanajulisha watu wetu kwa simu na njia nyingine kama adui ametoka ku-shambulia.

Kikosi chetu kimejenga ngome ndogo na wanajificha kisirisiri. Wametumia vidanganya macho ile adui asiwaone. Wanahewa wetu wako tayari kupigana kwa eropleni ndogo za vita, na eropleni kubwa ziko tayari hata na makombora. Lakini wanahewa watakaa tu bila kupigana, ili wamdanganye adui.

Sababu ya reli na njia panda karibu askari wetu wanafikiri adui atashambulia hapo. Ingawa ni hivyo, wote wako tayari, hata wenye kusimamia redari na wenye kuzima moto kama itatukia.

Step 2. Questions based on the above narration:

Ni lazima kujua nini wakati wa vita?
Mpango wa utayari ni nini?
Wenye kutunza mpango huo wanapata nini?
Wanawajulisha nani halafu?
Wanawajulisha kwa njia gani?

Kikosi chetu kimejenga nini?
Wanajificha wapi?
Wametumia nini?
Wanahewa wako tayari kufanya nini?
Eropleni kubwa zinachukua nini?

Wanahewa watakaa kisirisiri?
Watapigana kama ni lazima?
Kuna nini karibu?
Askari wanafikiri nini?
Nani tena ni tayari?

Note: When answering the above questions,
students should do so by using complete
sentences.

Step 3. Presentation of short narratives prepared by students.

I. Language StructureIndirect Command - The Subjunctive Form.

In Swahili the subjunctive is one of the simplest forms.

a. The imperative, or direct command, can be shown graphically as A commanding C directly, face to face as it were.

Now when still another party is involved, A may tell B to pass on instructions to C. A's instructing C through B makes this an indirect procedure.

Action is to be initiated through a command, order, instruction, wish, desire, a polite request, or it may even be understood or implied. The resulting action is presented in the subjunctive.

b. Before going on to the subjunctive construction, a review of the imperative will be helpful as an introduction and for comparative purposes.

1. In the imperative form, the verb stem stands alone, without a subject or tense prefix:

Saidia! Tazama! Piga! Lete!

2. Which in the plural takes the suffix '-ni'.

Saidieni! Tazameni! Pigeni! Leteni!

3. When used with an object prefix to show object of the command:

Msaidie! Mtazame! Mpige! Mlete!

c. A sentence with an indirect imperative or or subjunctive construction usually has two clauses. The first clause has the normal verb construction with : subject prefix, tense sign, object prefix (as required) and the verb.

For example: Aliamuru -- He commanded -- Wanataka -- They want -- Nimeomba -- I have begged --

This is followed by the indirect imperative clause, which in its subjunctive construction contains the verb stem with a subject prefix, no tense sign, and an object prefix as required. Verbs ending in 'a' change the 'a' to 'e', other endings remaining unchanged.

- ningoje	(that) I wait
- mtusaidie	(that) you help us
- unipe pesa	(that) you give me money

Imperative Clause

A - li - amuru
(He commanded

Wa - na - taka
(They want

Ni - me - omba
(I have begged

Subjunctive Clause

ni - ngoje that I wait.)

m - tu - saidie you to help us.)

u - ni - -pe pesa
you to give me money.)

d. In a conversation the person issuing the order or request is not necessarily mentioned, as he may be understood or implied. The motivating compulsion is always there.

Example: Tumpe pesa! (Let's give him money!)
Initiator implied.

Njooni, tumpe pesa! (Come, let's give him money!)

- e. Such words as: lazima, afadhali, bora, heri, etc. imply compulsion, moral or otherwise, and so the subjunctive form would be used after such words.

Example: Ni lazima arudi.
It is necessary that he return.

Heri tule sasa.
We had better eat now.

II. Cultural Note

None. The dialogue deals with a military subject - camouflage.

Step 1. Presentation of a narrative based on the dialogue. The situational picture will be used.

Nilipomtembelea mwenzangu kule Nairobi siku moja, nilimkuta akijitayarisha kwenda sokoni. Alinikaribisha niende pamoja naye. Nilikubali, lakini nilipoangalia mfukoni niliona ya kwamba sina pesa ndogo ndogo. Hivyo ilinibidi kufika benki kwanza kubadilisha pesa za karatasi.

Kwa sababu sijafika Nairobi, wala Afrika ya Mashariki siku nyingine bado, sikujua matumizi za pesa za huko. Hivyo tulipofika Barclays Bank, benki inayojulikana sana kule, nilionyeshwa aina za sarafu za kule. Kwanza nilitambua kwamba kuna senti mia moja katika shilingi moja. Sarafu za senti moja ni za shaba nyekundu. Ni ndogo sana na zina tundu katikati. Hata sarafu nyingine za shaba, yaani vitano na vikumi zina tundu vilevile. Wanawake wakipenda kufunga sarafu hizo salama wapi-tisha uzi au kamba nyembamba katika tundu na hivyo wanazifungia pamoja ili zisipotee.

Pesa nyeupe, yaani sarafu za fedha, ni zile za shilingi moja na nusu shilingi. Nusu shilingi ni senti hamsini, na kwa watu wengi ni thumuni.

Pesa za karatasi ni noti za Sh. 5/-, Sh. 10/-, Sh. 20/-, Sh. 100/-, na Sh. 1,000/-. Maandiko juu ya noti hizo ni katika lugha tatu, yaani:

Kiingereza, Kiswahili (kwa mwandiko wa Kiarabu), na Kihindi.

Karani wa benki alinipa chenji ya shilingi ishirini na tano, na hapo nilikuwa tayari kufuatana na mwenzangu kule sokoni.

Step 2. Questions based on the above narration:

Nilimkuta mwenzangu akifanyaje?
Nilikubali kwenda wapi?
Nilihitaji nini kwanza?
Benki ingalinisaidia kwa njia gani?
Je, nilikuwa mgeni kule Nairobi?

Nilijua matumizi ya pesa za kule?
Benki gani inajulikana sana Afrika ya Mashariki?
Sarafu za shaba ni za aina gani?
Za fedha ni za aina gani?
Noti ziko za aina na thamani gani?

Wanawake walizoea kufanya nini na sarafu za senti?
Walifanya hivyo kwa sababu gani?
Maana yake pesa nyeupe ni nini?
Maandiko juu ya noti ni kwa lugha gani?
'Pesa nane' ni nini?

Note: When answering these questions,
students should do so by using complete sentences.

Step 3. Presentation of short narratives
prepared by students.

I. Language StructureThe Negative Subjunctive

The negative subjunctive is formed by simply inserting the negative particle 'si' after the subject prefix. It follows also the same pattern as the negative direct command which was studied in Lesson 39.

Examples: Alisema nisiende.
(He said that I shouldn't go.)

Angalia usipotee.
(Watch out you don't get lost.)

Mwambie asivute sigara hapa.
(Tell him not to smoke here.)

Angalia kikombe kisivunjike.
(Be careful so the cup doesn't break)

The short one-syllable verbs drop the 'ku' particle in the negative subjunctive just as they did in the affirmative.

Examples: ku-la, ku-ja, ku-fa.

Mwambie asile nyama hii.
(Tell him not to eat the meat.)

Waambie wasije kesho tena.
(Tell them not to come tomorrow again)

Mtunze vizuri ili asife.
(Take good care of him so he doesn't die.)

II. Cultural Note

The money system used in East Africa is partially based on the British system in that the Pound Sterling and the shilling is basic in the system.

The Pound is equal to 20 shillings, and each shilling in turn has 100 cents. The higher currency is in the form of paper notes and these are:-

5 shillings	(5/-)
10 shillings	(10/-)
20 shillings	(20/-)
100 shillings	(100/-)
1000 shillings	(1000)

It is interesting that the inscriptions on this paper money are in three languages: English, Swahili (with Arabic script), and Hindustani (with Hindi script).

The coins are as follows:-

- a. 1 shilling silver coin.
50 cent piece silver coin.
- b. 10 cent piece copper coin.
5 cent piece copper coin.
1 cent piece copper coin.

The copper coins have an interesting feature in that all these coins have a hole through the center. This has practical value, especially in rural areas, or for sparsely clad individuals in that these coins can be gathered and tied together on a piece of string.

The Swahili nomenclature for various money values and coins is often based on the English.

Step 1. Presentation of a narrative based on the dialogue. The situational picture will be used.

Juzi nilisafiri kwa motokaa kuonana na daktari.

Motokaa yangu ni mzee kidogo na siku hizi ilianza kufanya matata. Hivyo nilipopita mjini nilitafuta gereji. Mtu mmoja aliniambia niende kwa gereji moja hapo karibu. Alisema mekanika ni hodari na anaaminika.

Mekanika aliyekuwa hapo aliniamkia na aliuliza habari ya motokaa. Nilimwambia asafishe kabureta na ahakikishe kama waya na plagi zote ni sawasawa. Atakapomaliza kazi hiyo nilitaka abadilishe mafuta katika injini na atie girisi, vilevile aangalie redieta, beteri na tairi zote.

Step 2. Questions based on the above narration:

Nilikwenda wapi juzi?

Injini iliwaka upesi?
Nani alifurahi?
Niliendelea kuonana na nani?
Nilitaka kuonana na daktari sababu gani?

Note: When answering the above questions,
students should do so by using complete
sentences.

Step 3. Presentation of short narratives prepared by students.

I. Language Structure

In this lesson we learn to use a tense and form of a verb which, in a way, is timeless. It has no past, present, or future. This is the habitual tense which is used to denote an action as being done all the time as a matter of custom, habit or inherent nature.

For example:-

Ndege huruka.
(Birds fly.)

Watoto hucheza hapa.
(The children customarily play here.)

Simba huwinda wanyama kwa chakula.
(The lion hunts animals for food.)

Wanawake huchota maji hapa.
(Women habitually draw water here.)

Note that a verb in this form has no subject prefix, and so the noun as subject has to be indicated or clearly understood.

II. Cultural Note

More modern service stations are being built everywhere in cities and smaller towns. The large oil companies such as: Shell, Standard, Texaco, BP, and others not so well known in the States operate throughout East Africa. The gallon in use there is the Imperial gallon, and not the smaller U. S. gallon. There are five U. S. gallons to 4 Imperial gallons.

When one drives up to the pump, it is a petrol pump, not a gas pump, and so one asks to have the tank filled with petrol.

In smaller villages or rural shops or trading posts, there may not be a pump, but one may be able to buy petrol in 4-gallon tins. These tins when empty are in demand in many places and are used as handy containers to carry water in, or some people buy them in greater numbers, cut them open so they can be flattened, and then they are used as a form of cheaper roofing material.

Good garages and reliable mechanics will be found only in larger towns and cities. A driver who ventures out on poorer roads, over long stretches, has to be prepared to do his own repairs - or be stuck. It is wise to know something about the engine and to carry a good set of tools along, as well as a tire repair kit.

Step 1. Presentation of a narrative based on the dialogue. The situational picture will be used.

Mwalimu aliwafundisha wanafunzi wake juu ya milango ya maarifa. Alikuwa akiwaelezea jinsi kichwa ni sehemu muhimu sana ya mwili. Bila milango ya maarifa katika kichwa hatungeweza kuishi.

Hebu tuyachungue maarifa hayo. Kwanza kuna masikio, moja kila upande wa kichwa. Masikio yana uwezo kutambua sauti mbalimbali. Ikiwa ni sauti tamu ya nyimbo au muziki, mazungumzo ya watu, sauti za wanyama, au makelele fulani, sauti hizo zote zasikika kwa masikio. Hayo, basi, ni milango ya maarifa ya kusikia na kutambua sauti.

Baada ya hayo tuna macho mawili. Hayo yanatwezesha kutambua rangi za kila aina. Wala si rangi tu, hata umbo wa vitu vyote. Bila macho tusingeweza kuona mahali tunapokwenda au uzuri wa maua na vitu vingi vingine. Watu wakipata shida kuona vizuri, daktari wa macho angeweza kuwasaidia akiwapimia miwani. Kwa msaada wa miwani huweza kuona vizuri tena.

Pamoja na uwezo wa kusikia na kuona, kuna uwezo wa kunusa na kusikia harufu mbalimbali. Hapo mlango wa maarifa ni pua. Ikiwa harufu ni mbaya twasema kwamba inanuka, na kama ni nzuri kwamba inanukia.

Zaidi ya hayo katika kinywa kuna meno na ulimi. Ulimi ni msaada kwa kutamka maneno, lakini pia ni kiungo kinachotuwezesha kuonja. Hivyo twatambua kama chakula ni kikali au kitamu.

Step 2. Maswali:-

Milango ya maarifa yetu iko wapi?
Tungeweza kuishi vizuri bila msaada ya milango ya maarifa?
Kiungo ni nini?

Maelezo:-

Eleza mambo yanayohusika na masikio.
Eleza habari ya macho.
Eleza jinsi tunavyosikia harufu.
Eleza faida ya ulimi.

Step 3. Presentation of short narratives by students.

I. Language Structure

The negative contingent tenses are formed in two ways. Presently the more common form is to use affirmative subject prefixes followed by the negative particle 'si'. For example:-

a. Present negative contingent:- (si + nge)

ni - si - nge - penda,	nisingependa
u - si - nge - penda,	usingependa
a - si - nge - penda,	asingependa
tu - si - nge - penda,	tusingependa
m - si - nge - penda,	msingependa
wa - si - nge - penda,	wasingependa

b. Past Negative Contingent:- (si + ngali)

ni - si - ngali - penda,	nisingalipenda
u - si - ngali - penda,	usingalipenda
a - si - ngali - penda,	asingalipenda
tu - si - ngali - penda,	tusingalipenda
m - si - ngali - penda,	msingalipenda
wa - si - ngali - penda,	wasingalipenda

The other way which is also quite frequently used (perhaps a matter of taste or preference) is by using negative subject prefixes as we have learned to do in other negative tenses, and then omitting the negative particle 'si'. For Example:-

a. Present negative contingent:-

si - nge - penda,	singependa
hu - nge - penda,	hungependa
ha - nge - penda,	hangependa
hatu - nge - penda,	hatungependa
ham - nge - penda,	hamngependa
hawa - nge - penda,	hawangependa

b. Past negative contingent:-

si - ngali - penda, singalipenda hu - ngali - penda, hungalipenda ha - ngali - penda, hangalipenda hatu - ngali - penda, hatungalipenda ham - ngali - penda, hamngalipenda hawa - ngali - penda, hawangalipenda

II. Cultural Note

This lesson deals with the sense organs, and so there is no particular cultural aspect. However, from the idiomatic or language point of view, some interesting usages should be noted.

- a. There is no special Swahili word for the word 'feel'. Thus one does not feel cold, hot, hungry, or thirsty - rather one "sees" or "hears" these conditions.

e.g. Ninasikia baridi, or: Ninaona baridi.

Anasikia njaa.
or: Anaona njaa.

- b. The sense of smell is also expressed by 'hearing', thus:-

Tunasikia harufu nzuri.
Tunasikia harufu mbaya.

Step 1. Presentation of a narrative based on the dialogue. The situational picture will be used.

Wenyeji wengi wamepanda mimea mbalimbali katika mashamba yao. Walipanda wakati wa mvua na mimea ilotokea na kuota vizuri. Sasa wanajitayarisha kwa mavuno.

Katika shamba moja kuna mahindi na maharagwe. Wengine wanatunza matunda vilevile na kuna miti ya matunda, hasa michungwa na miembe. Kutoka miti hiyo wanavuna machungwa na maembe. Wenyeji wengine wamepanda nanasi na sasa wanavuna mananasi matamu.

Wenyeji wanakaa katika kijiji kidogo hapa karibu na wanapeleka mavuno sokoni kwa lori. Kule sokoni wanunuzi watapeleka matunda yale makubwa na mazuri katika soko kubwa la Nairobi. Labda mengine watayapeleka katika nchi ya mbali.

Step 2. Questions based on the above narration:

Nani amepanda mimea?
Walipanda mimea ya namna gani?
Walipanda wakati gani?
Mimea iliota vizuri?
Wanajitayarisha kufanya nini?

Walipanda mahindi pamoja na nini?
Kutoka michungwa wataavuna nini?
Kutoka miembe wataavuna nini?
Walipanda matunda gani tena?
Hayo yalikuwa matamu?

Wenyeji wanakaa wapi?
Wanapeleka wapi mavuno?
Watayapeleka kwa njia gani?
Wanunuzi watapeleka wapi matunda?
Unafikiri mengine yatakwenda mbali?

Note: When answering the above questions,
students should do so by using complete
sentences.

Step 3. Presentation of short narratives prepared by students.

I. Language Structure

The MA class of nouns has the following features:

a. There is no prefix in the singular, except:

i. When it is a word of one syllable, then the singular prefix would be JI.

e.g. ji-cho zuri (a good eye) ji-we ji-pya (a new stone)

ii. When it is a word beginning with a vowel, then the singular prefix would be J.

e.g. j-ino dogo (a small tooth)
 j-ino j-eupe (a white tooth)

b. In the plural the prefix is MA. Note that when the stem begins with a vowel, the two vowels will combine as follows:-

MA + E -- = ME --
 MA + I -- = ME --

With the vowels A, U and O there is no vowel contraction.

MA + A -- = MAA -- MA + U -- = MAU -- MA + O -- = MAO --

e.g. Ma + ema = mema Ma + ingi = mengi
 Ma + andiko = maandiko
 Ma + ua = maua
 Ma + oni = maoni

c. Thus for nouns and adjectives, we can summarize as follows:-

SingularPluralJI (monosyllabic stem)

Ma

J (vowel stem)

Ma, Me

— (no prefix)

Ma

- d. In the case of pronouns, and words derived from pronouns, we have:-

- (i) li (it), ya (they)

Thus with verbs the following constructions would be used:

Jino limevunjika.

(The tooth is broken.)

Meno yamevunjika.

(The teeth are broken.)

Tunda linapendeza.

(The fruit is pleasing.)

Matunda yanapendeza.

(The fruit (pl.) is pleasing.)

- (ii) With demonstratives:-

hili (this) haya (these) lile (that) yale (those)

- (iii) Possessive pronouns:-

jina langu

majina yangu

jina lako

majina yako

jina lake

majina yake

jina letu

majina yetu

jina lenu

majina yenu jina lao

majina yao

II. Cultural Note

Fruit growing has possibilities in East Africa, but so far it has not been done on an extensive scale. A few enterprising Europeans have raised pineapples, oranges, grapefruit in quantities for canning and export.

The popular tropical fruits grown by the Africans primarily, often as a staple fruit and vegetables, are bananas, of which there are many varieties. At the coast mangoes are popular, as well as coconuts and dates. Good, sweet and large sized papayas are grown everywhere.

Fruits such as apples, plums, peaches, etc., are grown only experimentally in the higher cool altitudes. They are not too successful. Much of this type of fruit used to be imported from South Africa.

Step 1. Presentation of a narrative based on the dialogue. The situational picture will be used.

Hebu, njoo, ukawaangalie mafundi wakijenga jengo jipya, tena kubwa, hapa kwetu mjini. Ni jengo la biashara lenye orofa tano.

Kweli? Lo, tumepata maendeleo hapa. Tazama, waashi wamechimba handaki ya msingi na sasa wameanza kujenga msingi. Wanatumia simenti na mawe, na hivyo msingi utakuwa imara. Kule naona lori imeleta matofali. Haikosi watajenga kuta kwa matofali.

Je, mwenzangu, umeona maseremala wakitumia vyombo vyao? Wameleta masanduku ya vyombo, na pale mmoja anakata mbao kwa msumeno, mwingine anapigilia misumari kwa nyundo, na mwingine tena anaranda kwa randa yake. Wanafanya bidii kweli. Maseremala wengine wanatayarisha milango na madirisha. Wanafungia bawaba kwa masukurubu. Hutumia bisibisi wakikingiza na kukaza masukurubu.

Step 2. Maelezo:-

Eleza habari ya jengo jipya.
Eleza kazi wanayoifanya waashi.
Eleza matumizi ya vyombo vya useremala.

Step 3. Presentation of short narratives by students.

I. Language Structure

In this lesson, the forms of the Ma class are reinforced. Note that some words denoting living beings, people in particular, tend to denote rank or vocation, and these have Ma class forms.

e.g. fundi - mafundi (craftsman) seremala- maseremala (carpenter) ofisa - maofisa (officer)
karani - makarani (clerk)

However, since these words denote living beings, all pronouns, adjectives and other qualifying words which go together with these nouns, follow the Living Beings (M-Wa) Class pattern.

e.g. Fundi huyu mzuri. (This good craftsman.)
Mafundi hawa wazuri.
(These good craftsmen.)

II. Cultural Note

The dialogue in this lesson depicted briefly some activities on a building. This was not an old native style building, but rather a modern building in a city like Nairobi. Modern progressive Africa will require many craftsmen and artisans, and these will have to be trained in greater numbers. Much basic training is already provided in the schools where carpentry shops and other practical trades are an important feature.

Many of the carpentry, building, and perhaps mechanical skills have been, and perhaps still are, in the hands of Asian craftsmen. These have been the skilled workers in the cities. Now as the African is taking his place in the new Africa, he may view with a certain amount of jealousy the position occupied by Asian craftsmen. This is a social problem which has to be worked out.

Step 1. Presentation of a narrative based on the dialogue. The situational picture will be used.

Mafundi wa redio walifika kusimamisha stesheni ya redio. Walitafuta mahali pazuri panapofaa, hasa mwinuko au mlima. Kule ng'ambo waliona mwinuko utakaofaa kwa ajili ya antena kubwa.

Wenyeji walifika kuzungumza na mafundi. Walikuwa tayari kutoa msaada wao. Walifahamu faida ya redio hata tivii. Waliuliza maswali juu ya vitu vili-vyofika, masanduku makubwa yenye vyombo na vidude mbalimbali. Bado hawajaona mambo kama hayo.

Wenyeji walifurahi kwamba stesheni hii kubwa ya kupeleka na kupokea habari italeta furaha kwa wengi. Wataweza kusikiliza nyimbo na muziki, ngoma kwa michezo yao, hata na hotuba na habari kutoka dunia nzima.

Habari zitatoka wapi?

Note: When answering the above questions,
students should do so by using complete
sentences.

Step 3. Presentation of short narratives prepared by students.

I. Language Structure

a. In Swahili the concept of place, or being in a place, is shown in three aspects:-

- | | |
|-----------------------------|-----------|
| i. At a definite place | Prefix PA |
| ii. Generally at some place | Prefix KU |
| iii. Inside a place | Prefix MU |

Definite Place	General Place	Inside a Place
PA	KU	MU
Hapa (Here, right here)	Huku (Hereabouts)	Humu (Inside here)
Pale (There, right there)	Kule (Thereabouts)	Mle (Inside there)
Pana (There is, are)	Kuna (There is, are)	Mna (Inside there is, are)
Hapana (There is, are not)	Hakuna (There is, are not)	Hamna (Inside there is, are not)

b. The word 'mahali' meaning 'place' is the only proper word in what is known as the Pa class. It usually takes the concord prefixes of a definite place. There is no differentiation between singular and plural.

e.g. mahali pazuri	(a good place)
mahali pengi	(many places)
mahali pangu	(my place)
mahali pawili	(two places)

c. The possessives with locative prefixes are:-

pangu	kwangu	mwangu
pako	kwako	mwako
pake	kwake	mwake
petu	kwetu	mwetu
penu	kwenu	mwenu
pao	kwao	mwao

e.g. Mahali petu. (Our place, particular place.)

Nyumbani kwangu. (At my house, my home)

Mkononi mwangu. (In my hand.)

Idiomatically, the words with 'kw-' can stand alone. Kwako ni wapi? (Where is your place? Where is your home?)
Njoo kwangu. (Come to me, my place.)

II. Cultural Note

The radio has become extremely popular among the people in East Africa. Because of the fact that broadcast stations were far away, many being overseas, the radios are short-wave sets. In 1960 it was estimated that about 3,000,000 sets were in operation in East Africa. Except in cities, most such sets are battery operated.

In addition to news broadcasts beamed to East Africa from many parts of the world, the music portion provides a good deal of entertainment. The Communist world has taken advantage of this situation and Swahili broadcasts come in clearly from Russia and China. Swahili programs are also beamed from Egypt, India, Ethiopia, Great Britain and America.

Since 1963 TV programs have been provided from local stations, especially from Nairobi.

Step 1. Presentation of a narrative based on the dialogue. The situational picture will be used.

Katika miaka iliyofuata vita vikuu nchi nyingi za Afrika ziliamka na kujipatia uhuru. Hivyo upande wa mashariki vilevile nchi za Tanganyika na Uganda zimekwisha kupata uhuru, na Kenya inatazamia hali hiyo mwisho wa mwaka huu, tarehe 12 ya Desemba.

Viongozi walipatikana katika kila nchi. Kule Tanganyika kiongozi wa chama cha TANU, (Tanganyika African Native Union) Dr. Julius Nyerere, alifaulu na alichaguliwa kuwa rais wa Jamhuri ya Tanganyika.

Viongozi wa Kenya ni Jomo Kenyatta pamoja na Tom Mboya katika chama cha siasa kinachoitwa KANU (Kenya African National Union), na Ronald Ngala katika chama cha KADU (Kenya African Democratic Union). Raia, walipopiga kura katika uchaguzi walipendelea KANU, na hivyo KANU ikashinda. Chama cha KADU sasa ni upande wa upinzani. Mashindano yalikuwa makali na hata sasa viongozi wa KANU hawajaridhika.

Jomo Kenyatta amekuwa waziri Mkuu na amechagua mawaziri kwa kila idara. Zaidi ya hao ni Waki-kuyu na Wajaluo. Bw. Kenyatta alitangaza ya kwamba hakutakuwa ubaguzi katika nchi.

Upande wa NFD Wasomali hawakuridhika na wangependa kujitenga na kujiunga na Somalia. Si rahisi kuongoza nchi, na ni vigumu kwa watu wote kushirikiana. Kuna nguvu katika umoja.

Step 2. Maelezo:-

Taja nchi za Afrika ya Mashariki zilizopata uhuru.

Taja chama kikubwa cha siasa kule Tanganyika, eleza maana yake, na cheo na kazi ya mkuu wa chama hicho.

Eleza matokeo ya uchaguzi kule Kenya.

Eleza kidogo shida na hatari iliyoko kati ya Wasomali na nchi ya Kenya.

Step 3. Presentation of short narratives by students.

I. Language Structure

In English the word 'which' can be used in two basic different ways:

- a. As a relative pronoun:
e.g. The cup which broke.
The rifle which got lost.
- b. As an interrogative (question word):
e.g. Which cup broke?
Which rifle got lost?

In Swahili the former, as a relative pronoun, is expressed by a relative prefix. We will study about this in detail a little later. The latter, as an interrogative, is expressed by the syllable '-pi?' prefixed by the appropriate class subject prefix. Note that this form can be used only in a question.

	Singular	Plural
Living beings	yupi?	wapi?
M - MI Class	upi?	ipi?
Ki - Vi Class	kipi?	vipi?
N Class	ipi?	zipi?
Ma Class	lipi?	yapi?
U Class	upi?	zipi?

e.g. Which cup broke?
Kikombe kipi kilivunjika?

Which child ran away?
Mtoto yupi alitoroka?

Which rifles got lost?
Bunduki zipi zilipotea?

II. Cultural Note

In this lesson reference is made to the main political parties of Tanganyika and Kenya.

In Tanganyika there is one dominating party called TANU (Tanganyika African National Union) led by Dr. Julius Nyerere. This party succeeded overwhelmingly in getting Dr. Nyerere appointed as Prime Minister in December, 1961, and then as President of the Republic of Tanganyika in December, 1962. Dr. Nyerere is a moderate and very capable leader, and so far he has done well for Tanganyika.

In Kenya two strong political parties competed for leadership: KANU (Kenya African National Union) led by Jomo Kenyatta, and KADU (Kenya Democratic National Union) led by Ronald Ngala. In the 1963 elections KANU won out, and with the status of independence for Kenya in December, 1963, Jomo Kenyatta became Prime Minister, and Ronald Ngala remains as leader of the opposing party.

Step 3

Hatua ya 3

Presentation of short narratives prepared by students.

I. LANGUAGE STRUCTURE

1. The Relative Pronoun "who" or "which" is expressed in Swahili by the letter "o" combined with the subject prefix. This then becomes a new infix which is inserted into the verb form right after the tense sign as explained in paragraph #2.

Study the following table carefully:-

	Sing.	Plur.
Wa or Living Class	yu + o = ye*	wa + o = o
Mi Class	u + o = o	i + o = yo
Ki Class	ki + o = cho	vi + o = vyo
N Class	i + o = yo	zi + o = zo
Ma Class	li + o = lo	ya + o = yo

From the above you will have noted that the Living Class singular* "ye" is irregular. Here are a few examples showing how these relative infixes are used:-

Singular: Wa Class

Mtu anay e simama	=	A person who is standing
Mtu aliy e fika	=	A person who came
Mtu atakay e kwenda	=	A person who will go

Plural: Wa Class

Watu wana o simama	=	People who are standing
Watu wali o fika	=	People who came
Watu wataka o kwenda	=	People who will go

Singular: Mi Class

Mti una o simama	=	The tree which is standing
Mti uli o vunjika	=	The tree which broke
Mti utaka o pandwa	=	The tree which will be planted

Plural: Mi Class

Miti inay o simama	=	The trees which are standing
Miti iliy o vunjika	=	The trees which broke
Miti itakay o pandwa	=	The trees which will be planted

Singular: Ki Class

Kitu kinach o pendeza	=	The thing which is pleasing
Kitu kilich o vunjika	=	The thing which broke
Kitu kitakach o anguka	=	The thing which will fall

Plural: Ki Class

Vitu vinavy o pendeza	=	The things which are pleasing
Vitu vilivy o vunjika	=	The things which broke
Vitu vitakavy o anguka	=	The things which will fall

Singular: N Class

Nyumba inay o bomoka	=	The house which is broken down
Nyumba iliy o faa	=	The house which was suitable
Nyumba itakay o uzwa	=	The house which will be sold

Plural: N Class

Nyumba zinaz o bomoka	=	The houses which are broken down
Nyumba ziliz o faa	=	The houses which were suitable
Nyumba zitakaz o uzwa	=	The houses which will be sold

Singular: Ma Class

Shamba linaloharibika	=	The field which is ruined
Shamba lililofaa	=	The field which was suitable
Shamba litakalotosha	=	The field which will be big enough

Plural: Ma Class

Mashamba yanayoharibika	=	The fields which are ruined
Mashamba yaliyofaa	=	The fields which were suitable
Mashamba yatakayotosha	=	The fields which will be big enough

2. The use of the relative as an infix is limited to the three primary tenses: Present (NA), Past (LI) and Future (TA>TAKA). With other tenses, and also negative tenses, the relative is expressed in a different way. This we shall learn in the next few lessons.
3. Remember that the object prefix can be used in a verb construction containing a relative in the normal way.

e.g. Ni yeye aliyenipiga = It is he who hit me

II. CULTURAL NOTE

Various organizations, unions, political parties, etc. are organized with a Chairman or President, Vice-President, Secretary, sometimes an Under-Secretary, and a Treasurer. Thus a pretty universal pattern is followed in the organizational set-up. These organizational patterns have been accepted as a contribution from other progressive nations.

Step 1Hatua ya 1 Presentation of the narrative

Bwana Kamau anaishi Nairobi. Yu tajiri sana. Ana nyumba yake kubwa na huvaa suti malidadi. Anafanya kazi ya mtangazaji wa redio, na kila asubuhi saa moja hutangaza hali ya hewa.

Leo kabla ya kuondoka kwenda kazini alitazama nje, aliona ya kuwa kuna shwari leo. Alimwambia mkewe, "Kutakuwa jua kali leo alasiri. Lakini nakumbuka sivyo popote. Mahali nilipojifunza, kwa kawaida kulikuwa ukungu na marasharasha. Hatukuweza kuota jua hata kidogo."

Sasa na tufuatane na Bwana Kamau kazini kusikiliza idhaa yake ya redio. Anaanza kusema:

"Leo ni Jumatano, tarehe 12 mwezi wa Mei. Karibieni wasikilizaji nyote na nitawapasha habari.

Kwanza kuna habari ya msiba mkubwa uliotokea jana karibu na kijiji kidogo, jina lake Kabete. Tunajua ya kuwa ni majira ya masika, na kwa muda wa siku nyingi mvua imekuwa ikinyesha sana hata mito imejaa maji na kufurika. Jana maji yalifunika mashamba mengi bondeni na kuleta takataka. Hata daraja dogo la mbao lilibomoka na kuchukuliwa na maji. Watoto wa skuli, wavulana na wasichana, hawakuweza kufika skulini. Hivi vijana na wanafunzi wengine walitumia akili na walitengeneza kivuko cha kufaa kwa muda. Hivyo wenzao walipita salama, kuendelea na masomo yao. Kweli wanafunzi hao, wenye akili, wanastahili shukrani kwa matendo yao ya kusaidiana.

6TH PERIODSITUATIONAL APPLICATION*LESSON 72*KIPINDI CHA 6*HADITHI*SOMO LA 72

Shida nyingine ilitukia sababu ya ngurumo kubwa ya radi. Nyumba nyingine zilibomoka. Watu wengine waliogopa sana umeme uliomulika, walitetemeka. Watu wawili walichukuliwa na maji, na walizama. Maiti zao zilionekana chini ya daraja. Wanyama wengine walikufa mjini vilevile na wenyeji walisikitika kuona mizoga ya ng'ombe na ya mbuzi. Dhoruba imeleta hasara sana kwa watu wengi.

Ingawa sisi hapa Nairobi tulipata mvua jana, haikunyesha sana kama mahali pengine. Leo hali ya hewa ni nzuri, kuna jua kali bila mawingu. Purahini leo, kwa sababu kesho kutakuwa na mvua tena.

Sasa kwa herini, wasikilizaji, mpaka saa tatu."

Step 2Hatua ya 2

The students will write a short summary in English of what they understood of the narrative.

Step 3Hatua ya 3

Presentation of short narratives prepared by the students.

I. LANGUAGE STRUCTURE1. The Relative Pronoun with AMBA

In the previous lesson we learned to use the relative pronoun as an infix of a verb construction in the three primary tenses. There is an alternative way of expressing the relative pronoun, and that is by the use of AMBA to which the relative particle has been attached.

Thus:- Atakayekwenda. He who will go.

Ambaye atakwenda He who will go.

Amba + is used as a separate word, and the big advantage of this form is that it can be used with other tenses, including the negative.

e.g. Ambaye amemaliza.	He who has finished
Ambao wangelipenda	Who would have liked
Ambavyo havikufika	Which did not arrive
Ambaye haandiki	Who doesn't write
Ambacho hakitafaa	Which will be of no use.

2. Notice that when the relative pronoun refers to the object, the corresponding object prefix is generally inserted also.

e.g. Kitabu anachokisoma = The book which he is Kitabu ambacho anakisoma reading.

Kazi ambayo hukuifanya = The work which you did jana. not do yesterday.

Wamepata vikombe = They have received the ambavyo wanavitaka cups which they want.

II. CULTURAL NOTE

A thunderstorm accompanied by lightning and a heavy tropical downpour can be a frightening and a damaging experience. A flash flood can do considerable damage, flood the fields, wash away bridges, etc. When lightning strikes a tree or building, it can demolish it. The above experience is not uncommon in Africa.

Hapo kale palikuwa na watu watatu waliokuwa marafiki wakubwa sana. Zaidi ya hayo, walikuwa wamesoma sana na kuwa wenye maarifa ya namna mbalimbali, lakini hawakuwa na hekima. Kidogo walikuwa mabaradhuli. Watu watatu hao walikuwa na rafiki yao mmoja ambaye hakusoma sana, lakini alikuwa na hekima nyingi.

III

Basi wote wanne wakaondoka wakaenda zao. Yule aliyetoa shauri la kuondoka alisema, "Huyu rafiki yetu wa nne heri abaki nyumbani. Yeye hana maarifa kama sisi, wala hataweza kuchuma mali yo yote."

6TH PERIOD

KIPINDI CHA 6

LESSON 73

SOMO LA 73

This period will be devoted to short comprehension exercises based on taped material.

Comprehension will be checked by means of True - False statements or Multiple Choice answers. In some cases the students will be asked to give the English equivalent of what was said on the tape.

I. LANGUAGE STRUCTUREThe KA tense

1. This tense is often called a narrative tense as it occurs in story telling and narrations. It is a past tense, substituting for the LI tense and the conjunction 'na'. Compare the following two sentences:

- a. Alikwenda mjini na alimkuta rafiki yake, na alimwambia habari zote na rafiki alifurahi.
- b. Alikwenda mjini, akamkuta rafiki yake, akamwambia habari zote, rafiki akafurahi.

The above two sentences mean the same thing, namely: "He went into town and met his friend, and then he told him all the news, and then the friend was glad." You will notice that in the second one the repetition "and then" is eliminated, and with the help of the KA tense we get a much smoother and more idiomatic expression. Watch for the use of the KA tense in all your reading from now on.

2. There is another use of this tense, and that is with the subjunctive form to express the idea of "go and."
e.g.

Tuliwaambia wakanunue chakula mjini.
(We told them to go and buy food in town)

Often the verb "go" is understood, as we also noted in the above sentence. In ordinary speech there are shortened forms as well. Note the following:-

e.g.

Nenda ukampe chakula.
(Go and give him food.)

This can be shortened by omitting 'nenda' as being understood:

e.g.

Ukampe chakula. or Kampe chakula.

There is no exact equivalent of the KA tense in the negative, but the negative subjunctive can be used to express the idea:-

e.g.

Alikwenda kutafuta kazi asipate.

(He went to look for work and didn't find any.)

II. CULTURAL NOTE

Fables and folk tales, especially involving animals, are used to teach many truths, and sometimes to express the Africans' philosophy. It therefore pays to take a closer look at such stories. The animals and other creatures are personalized, and sometimes by their characteristics portray certain types or personalities. For instance, the hare or rabbit is always the clever one who outwits the others, the hyena is the cowardly one, and so on.

PANYA KWA PANYAI

Karibu na mto mmoja palikuwa na mtawa mmoja aliyetumia wakati wake mwingi katika kusali, kusoma vitabu vya dini na kumwabudu Mungu mchana na usiku. Kila siku alikuwa akioga katika mto ule.

Siku moja, mara baada ya kumaliza kuoga, mwewe mmoja aliponyokwa na mtoto wa panya, naye akaangukia juu ya mgongo wa yule mtawa. Lakini yeye akamchukua na kumpapasa polepole.

II

Kisha baada ya kufanya uganga wake, akamgeuza yule panya kuwa mtoto mwanamke. Akamchukua mpaka nyumbani kwake, akampa mkewe. Mkewe alifurahi mno kwa sababu hawakuwa na mtoto hata mmoja.

III

Basi msichana yule alipokuwa mkubwa, yule mkewe mtawa akasema, "Mume wangu, yafaa sasa huyu binti yetu aolewe. Huna budi kumtafutia mume."

Mumewe akamjibu, "Hayo usemayo ni sheria; nimeyakubali kabisa. Naye amekwisha fundishwa yote yampasayo msichana kuyajua. Aweza kupika chakula, kutunza nyumba, kushona na mengine mengi. Pia anajua kusoma na kuimba na kuhesabu. Sasa wakati wake wa kuolewa umekwisha fika, lakini twataka awe na mume mwema kwa kila neno. Afadhali tumwoze Jua."

IV

Basi yule mtawa akapeleka ujumbe kwa Jua, nalo mara likaja. Likamwambia, "Kwa nini umeniita?"

Yule mtawa akajibu, "Nimekuita kukuuliza kama utapenda kumwoa binti yetu."

Basi Jua likakubali kwa furaha. Kisha yule mtawa akamwita yule kijana mwanamke na kumwuliza kama atapenda kuolewa na Jua.

Yule kijana akajibu, "La, baba sitaki. Yeye ana joto kali mno kupita kiasi. Siwezi kuolewa naye. Tafadhali nichagulie mume aliye mkuu zaidi kuliko Jua."

V

Basi yule mtawa akaliuliza Jua nani aliye mkuu zaidi kuliko yeye. Jua likamjibu, "Wingu ni mkuu kuliko mimi, maana likiufunika uso wangu, hufichwa juu ya uso wa dunia."

Basi Wingu likapelekewa habari. Yule msichana alipoulizwa kama atakubali kuolewa na Wingu, akasema, "La, sitaki. Wingu ni jeusi sana tena lina unyevunyevu. Simpendi mume huyo hata kidogo."

VI

Basi yule mtawa akaliuliza Wingu ni nani aliye mkuu zaidi kuliko yeye. Wingu likamjibu, "Ni Upepo. Yeye ni mkuu zaidi kuliko mimi kwa sababu anapokasirika na kuvuma, hunifukuza na kunitawanyatawanya."

Basi yule mtawa akauita Upepo, akauuliza kama utapenda kumwoa binti yake. Lakini yule kijana mwanamke akakataa katakata kuolewa na Upepo. Akasema, "Sitaki kuolewa na Upepo, maana mtu hawezi kumjua mahali alipo. Nitafutie mume mwingine aliye mkuu zaidi kuliko yeye."

VII

Yule mtawa akauuliza Upepo, "Je, yuko mwingine aliye mkuu zaidi kuliko wewe?"

Upepo ukamjibu, "Ndiyo, bwana, Mlima ni mkuu zaidi kuliko mimi kwa sababu ninapovuma kwa nguvu, siwezi kumwangusha."

Yule mtawa akamwuliza yule kijana mwanamke kama atapenda kuolewa na Mlima. Lakini yeye alikataa sana, akamwambia, "Hapana, baba; yeye ana moyo wa jiwe!"

VIII

Basi yule mtawa akauuliza Mlima kama yuko mwingine aliye mkuu zaidi. Mlima ukamjibu, "Panya ni mkuu zaidi kuliko mimi kwa sababu huweza kunifukua na kuchimba shimo ndani yangu. Nashindwa kumzuia."

Basi panya akaitwa, na yule kijana alipomwona, akamwambia baba yake, "Baba, kama utanigeuza kuwa panya, nita-kubali kuolewa naye, nami nina hakika tutakuwa na furaha nyumbani mwetu."

IX

Basi yule mtawa akamgeuza yule kijana mwanamke kuwa panya, naye akaolewa na yule panya mwingine. Wakakaa raha mstarehe mpaka mwisho wa maisha yao.

This period will be devoted to short comprehension exercises based on taped material.

I. LANGUAGE STRUCTURE

In lesson 72 you learned how to use the word AMBA plus the relative pronoun. You learned that AMBA could be used with various tenses in the affirmative, and mention was made of its use with the negative. In this lesson we will concentrate on its use with negative tenses:

Pres.	Ambaye hasomi.	He who doesn't read.
Past.	Ambaye hakusoma.	He who didn't read.
Fut.	Ambaye hatasoma.	He who will not read.
Perf.	Ambaye hajasoma.	He who has not read.

Conditional Tenses:

Ambaye hangeweza	He who would not be able.
or
Ambaye asingeweza	He who would not be able.

Ambaye hangaliweza	He who would not have been able.
or
Ambaye asingaliweza	He who would not have been able.

With nouns of other classes, the same construction is followed:

e.g. Kitu ambacho hakifai - The thing which is not suitable.

Kitu ambacho hakikufaa - The thing which was not suitable.

Kitu ambacho hakitafaa - The thing which will not be suitable.

I

Siku moja Bwana Mbuzi alikuwa akila majani katika kingo za mto ambamo majani yalikuwa mabichi, mazito na yenye utomvu. Alifurahi sana.

Bwana Chui alikuja akienda kwa maringo sana, akamwita: "Bwana Mbuzi, unafanya nini huko?" Bwana Mbuzi alitazama kwa mshangao: "Kwa nini? Ninakula majani mazuri yenye utomvu. Yapendeza. Njoo ule kidogo."

Bwana Chui alikoroma kwa machukio: "Kula mwenyewe, Bwana Mbuzi, kula majani, ukiisha kushibisha tumbo lako vema, nita-kula wewe, utakuwa na ladha nzuri kama ile uionayo katika majani."

II

Bwana Mbuzi hakujua la kufanya. Alitazama mbinguni, chini duniani, na kila pembe apate kuona kama kuna msaada wote wa kupatikana, asione kitu. Alitikisa mkia wake mdogo, akajaribu kutafuna majani, lakini alitetemeka sana hata hakuweza kuyauma. Alipiga teke kwa miguu yake ya mbele, lakini hakuna msaada uliokuja; alipiga teke kwa miguu yake ya nyuma, lakini pia hakuna msaada ujao. Alikuna magoti yake kwa meno yake, naye aliweza kusikia maji yakinguruma ndani ya tumbo lake.

III

Bwana Chui alikaa mustarehe katika miguu yake, wala hakumwondolea macho yake Bwana Mbuzi kabisa. Bwana Mbuzi alitaka kujilaza chini, lakini hathubutu, alitamani kugeuka, lakini hathubutu. Alikuwa mradi haondoi macho yake kwa Bwana Chui.

Fikiria za Bwana Mbuzi zilikimbizana kwa upesi toka kwenye kwato zake mpaka utosi wa kichwa chake, kujaribu kutinga ni sehemu yake ipi Bwana Chui ataanzia, na namna atakavyomla.

I

II

III

IV

Bwana Chui akasema: "Utamaliza lini kula majani yako, ili niweze kukula?"

Kabla Bwana Mbuzi hajaweza kumjibu mzee mmoja wa chura mwema alitokea mtoni akaruka juu ya ukingo. Aliuliza: "Nyie watu mnasema nini hapa?" Bwana Chui akasema: "Ndiyo, nilikuja nikamkuta Bwana Mbuzi anakula majani, nikamwambia kuwa aishapo kula majani yake nami nitamla."

Bwana Chura akasema: "Ndiyo hasa, ndiyo, mle, na uki-isha kumla, nitakula wewe. Hii ni haki kabisa, ama sivyo, Bwana Mbuzi?"

Sauti ya Bwana Mbuzi ilitetemeka kwa woga, akasema: "Ndiyo, bwana, ndiyo Bwana Chura; itakuwa haki kabisa." Bwana Chui alitazama kila upande naye hakuweza kufikiri la kusema. Alitazama kila upande, akiwaangalia Bwana Mbuzi na Bwana Chura katika nyufa za macho yake.

VI

Bwana Chura na Bwana Mbuzi walizidi kuendelea kuzungumza kwa furaha. Bwana Chui alipoona kuwa wameshughulika sana wala hawawezi kumwalia, alijiepusha taratibu kama alivyo-weza, na akakimbia kwa kasi sana.

Mara Bwana Chura na Bwana Mbuzi waligeuka wakasema: "Yuko wapi Bwana Chui? Sikumwona akienda." Walimtafuta mahali pote, lakini hawakumwona hata ncha ya mkia wake. Walimwita, lakini hakuitika.

Basi hivyo ndivyo Bwana Chura alivyookoa maisha ya Bwana Mbuzi akamzuia Bwana Chui asimwue. Hivyo ndivyo marafiki wawezavyo kusaidiana kama vile na Bwana Chura alivyo-msaidia Bwana Mbuzi.

SOMO LA 75

This period will be devoted to short comprehension exercises based on taped material.

Comprehension will be checked by means of True - False statements or Multiple Choice answers. In some cases the students will be asked to give the English equivalent of what was said on the tape.

I. LANGUAGE STRUCTURE

1. Verb "To Be" - KUWA with the relative pronouns.

- a. Note that in the present tense there are irregularities. An old form "LI" (which is not to be confused with the past tense sign "LI") is used only in conjunction with the relative pronouns. Thus we get:

(mimi)	niliye	=	I who am
(wewe)	uliye	=	You who are
(yeye)	aliye	=	He who is
(sisi)	tulio	=	We who are
(ninyi)	mlio	=	You who are (pl.)
(wao)	walio	=	They who are

- b. In the other noun classes the same pattern is followed.

Mti ulio mrefu.	=	The tree which is tall.
Miti iliyo mirefu.	=	The trees which are tall.
Kitu kilicho kizuri	=	The thing which is good.
Vitu vilivyo vizuri	=	The things which are good.
Nyumba iliyo mpya.	=	The house which is new.
Nyumba zilizo mpya.	=	The houses which are new.
Tunda lililo tamu.	=	The fruit which is sweet.
Matunda yaliyo matamu	=	The fruits which are sweet.
Mahali palipo pazuri.	=	The place which is nice.

- c. The negative form of the above is achieved simply by substituting "si" for "li". Thus:-

Affirm:	Niliye tajiri	=	I who am rich.
Neg:	Nisiye tajiri	=	I who am not rich.
Affirm:	Kitu kilicho rahisi	=	The thing which is easy
Neg:	Kitu kisicho rahisi	=	The thing which is not easy.

- d. Note that this form of the Verb "To Be" is used in the concept of denoting existence, state or condition, and not in the sense of an auxiliary verb.

e.g. Let's look at the following two sentences in English.

1. The man who is good. (main verb)
2. The man who is eating. (auxiliary)

In Swahili these two sentences would be rendered differently. Study the differences carefully.

1. Mtu aliye mwema.
Verb "To Be" with the relative expressing the state or condition of being good.
2. Mtu anayekula.
Here the present tense sign NA is used with the relative pronoun. The verb is "to eat."

2. In all other tenses the verb "Kuwa" is used regularly like any other monosyllabic verb.

Affirmative: e.g. Past: Mtu aliyekuwa mwema.
Fut: Mtu atakayekuwa mwema.

Negative: Past: Mtu ambaye hakuwa mwema.
Fut: Mtu ambaye hatakuwa mwema.

3. The relative particle is used as an ending with the irregular form of the verb "To Be" only in the present tense. Similarly, it can be used with other verbs as well. Note that only the subject prefix without a tense sign is used because it does not define time.

e.g. Hayo usemayo - What you say Fanya upendavyo - Do as you wish Nitafanya niwezavyo- I'll do as I can

For practical purposes it can be regarded as a short form of the previously learned longer form with the "NA" tense. See the comparative table below:-

	Long Form	Short Form
Mtu Watu	anay e pita wana o pita	apitay e wapita o
Mkuki Mikuki	una o pendeza inay o pendeza	upendez o ipendezay o
Kisu Visu	kinach o kata vinav y okata	kikatach o vikatav y o
Kazi Kazi	inay o lipwa zinaz o lipwa	ilipway o zilipwaz o
Tunda Matunda	linal o oza yanay o oza	liozal o yaozay o

In the negative the relative particle is not an ending, but is attached to the negative particle "si". This again is done only in the present tense. If in doubt, use "amba" with negative forms.

e.g. Affirmative

atakaye

kipendezacho

Negative

asiyetaka or ambaye hataki kisichopendeza or ambacho hakipendezi

II

Kwa bahati akaja mtu mmoja pale pale karibu na ule mtego. Yule chui alipomwona akamwambia yule mtu. "Tafadhali sana nifungulie mlango wa mtego huu, bwana mkubwa!" Yule mtu akajibu akamwambia, "La, la, la rafiki yangu, ukitoka humo humo utanirukia na kunila." Chui akasema, "La, hashi, mimi si mtu wa kufanya mambo kama hayo, wala singethubutu kamwe."

III

Basi yule chui alipokuwa akihangaika na kulia, yule mtu akamhurumia. Mwishoni akakubali kumfungulia mlango wa mtego ule. Mara ile yule chui akatoka kwa nguvu na kumkamata yule mtu, akamwambia, "Kweli, tangu kuzaliwa kwangu sijaona mtu mpumbavu na mjinga kama wewe! Nitazuiwa na nini sasa nisi-kule? Kwanza leo hivi yapata siku ya tatu sijatia riziki yoyote tumboni mwangu. Njaa imenishika sana."

IV

Yule mtu akajaribu kumsihi asimdhuru, lakini wapi! Hakumsikiliza. Basi mwishoni chui akamwambia, "Tuendele mbele, na kwa viumbe vitatu vya kwanza tutakavyovikuta tutaeleza habari hii. Watakavyosema ndivyo nitakavyotenda, wala sitabadili."

V

Kwanza wakaukuta mwembe, wakaueleza habari yote. Yule mtu akauuliza mwembe, "Ati, Bwana Mwembe, mtu akikutenda mema, ni haki kumlipa mabaya?" Akaueleza tena habari yao, kati yeye na chui. Mwembe ukajibu ukamwambia, "Kweli si haki kumlipa mwenzio mabaya kwa mema, lakini ninyi wanadamu, je, hamfanyi hivyo?"

VI

Tazama, Bwana Chui, mimi huwapa hawa wanadamu maembe yangu wakala, na wakati wa jua kali huja chini ya kivuli changu kupumzika. Lakini juu ya fadhili zote hizi ninazowatenda havitoshi, mwishoni hunikatakata na kunichoma makaa, basi hii ni haki? Hata wewe mwenyewe yapime."

Chui akamwambia yule mtu, "Je, mwanadamu, unasikia huko?" Yule mtu akajibu akamwambia, "Nasikia sana, lakini na tuendele mbele tu."

VII

Mbele zaidi wakakutana na ng'ombe. Mwanadamu akamwambia, "Ati bwana, mtu kama akikutendea fadhili, ni haki kumlipa mabaya?" Ng'ombe akamwuliza, "Kuna nini?" Ndipo yule mtu akamsimulia kisa chote kati ya yeye na chui.

VIII

Ng'ombe akajibu akamwambia, "Ni kweli kabisa si haki kumlipa mwenzi mabaya ikiwa amekutendea fadhili njema, lakini katika viumbe wa kutenda mema, ninyi wanadamu hamko. Tazama, Bwana Chui, mimi huwapa hawa wanadamu maziwa yangu wakanywa, pengine huwokokotea magari na kulima mashamba yao. Lakini hivyo vyote kwao havitoshi, mwishoni hunichinja na kunila nyama." Akamwambia yule mwanadamu, "Usinung'unike, baba, amka! Hayo yaliyokupata leo ndiyo hali ya dunia!"

IX

Walipoendelea mbele zaidi wakamwona mbwa ambaye alikuwa rafiki yake huyu mwanadamu. Akamweleza kisa chote kama alivyomweleza mwembe na ng'ombe.

Mbwa akasema, "Habari hii inanitatanisha sana, wala siwezi kuelewa nayo vyema mpaka sisi wote watatu tuende kwenye huo mtego." Basi wakaenda. Walipofika yule mtu akarudia tena habari ile yote toka mwanzo mpaka mwisho.

Mbwa akasema, "Kwani mambo yenyewe yalianzaje hasa? Yaani wewe ulikuwamo mtegoni, na chui akaja karibu, au sivyo?"

XI

Chui akajibu akasema, "La, la, la, sivyo ilivyokuwa hata kidogo. Wewe mjinga, nini? Mimi ndiye niliyekuwamo mtegoni." Mbwa akasema, "Aaa sasa nimeelewa. Yaani mimi mbwa ndiye niliyekuwamo mtegoni, na wewe chui ukaja karibu na mtego, au sivyo?" Chui akajibu kwa hasira akamwambia, "La, huelewi? Sivyo hivyo hata kidogo. Tazama ilikuwa hivi: Unaona--mimi ni chui." Mbwa akamwambia, "Haya, vyema, endelea." Kamwambia tena, "Mimi, nilikuwamo mtegoni--unaelewa?"

Mbwa akajibu, "Hasa, lakini, uliingiaje katika mtego huu?" Chui akajibu akamwambia, "Kwa nini waniuliza hivyo? Si kama kawaida ya watu waingiavyo katika matundu?" Mbwa akamwuliza tena, "Tafadhali, maulana, usikasirike, kawaida hivyo ni ipi?"

Basi kusikia maneno haya, chui akaruka kwa sauti kubwa, "Namna hii! Je, sasa umekwisha elewa jinsi mambo yenyewe yalivyokwenda?" Mbwa akafunga mlango wa ule mtego upesi sana, akamjibu, "Hasa! Nimekwisha elewa kabisa, nami naona heri uzidi kukaa mumo humo mpaka ikutokee ajali yako." Kisha akamwambia yule mtu, "Haya, twende zetu, Alhamdulillah, sasa udhia wote umekwisha."

LESSON 76

SOMO LA 76

This period will be devoted to short comprehension exercises based on taped material.

Comprehension will be checked by means of True - False statements or Multiple Choice answers. In some cases the students will be asked to give the English equivalent of what was said on the tape.

I. LANGUAGE STRUCTURE

1. Verb "To Have" - KUWA NA with the relative pronoun.
Present tense.

- a. Note that in Swahili verb "To Have" (KUWA NA) is not used as an auxiliary to another verb as it is in English.

e.g. I have eaten = Nimekula
In Swahili a tense sign is used.

- b. With the relative pronoun in the present tense the verb "To Have" (KUWA NA) follows the same pattern as explained in Lesson 75 under the verb "To Be".

e.g. Affirm: Mtu aliye na mali
The person who has property.

Neg: Mtu ambaye hana mali or asiye na
The person who has no property.

- c. There is also a shorter alternate form in the present affirmative.

Mtu anaye mali

Watu wanao mali

- d. When the object possessed precedes this verb structure, then the relative particle is attached to both parts.

e.g. Affirm: Kitu alicho nacho
The thing which he has.

- e. In the negative present with "amba" the relative particle is attached only to "amba".

e.g. Kitu ambacho hana.
The thing which he doesn't have.

But without "amba" the present tense negative would be:- e.g. Kitu asicho nacho = The thing which he (This is the doesn't have. preferable form)

2. The following are the constructions for the future and past tenses:

a. Future affirmative:

Watu watakaokuwa na vitabu = The people who will have books.

Vitabu watakavyokuwa navyo = The books which they will have.

b. Future negative:

Watu ambao hawatakuwa na vitabu = People who will not have books.

Vitabu ambavyo hawatakuwa navyo = Books which they will not have.

c. Past affirmative:

Watu waliokuwa na vitabu = People who had books.

Vitabu walivyokuwa navyo = Books which they had.

d. Past negative:

Watu ambao hawakuwa na vitabu. = People who did not have books.

Vitabu ambavyo hawakuwa navyo. = The books which they did not have.

It will be noticed from the above that "na" cannot stand alone, but must be followed either by a noun, or by the relative particle.

Use of the relative particle with present tense forms: a summary.

As there are irregularities in the present tense, especially with the verb 'To Be' and 'To Have', and as there are also alternatives, the following diagram may be helpful to the student.

Mamba aliye rafiki ya watu Katika nchi ya Uganda

I

Hapo zamani, kabla Wazungu hawajafika katika nchi ya Uganda, mfalme wa nchi alifuata desturi hii: Baada ya kupigana na maadui zake aliwaleta mateka, akachagua baadhi ya mateka hao kuwa sadaka. Lakini sadaka haikuwa kwa miungu au mizimu fulani, bali ilikuwa kwa mamba walioishi katika ziwa Viktoria. Mateka walipelekwa juu ya mwamba mrefu na hapo walisukumwa majini ili wadakwe na mamba.

II

Sadaka iliyotolewa kwa mamba haikuwa ya mateka wa vita tu, lakini hata watu walioasi na waliohukumiwa kufa walipelekwa kwa muda mrefu sana. Baadaye kuwatolea mamba sadaka ya watu kulihesabiwa kuwa tambiko la mfalme, jinsi hata makabila mengine walivyotambika mizimu na kuwaabudu kama wenye uwezo mwingi.

III

Hivyo mamba walizoea kufika chini ya mwamba mara waliposikia sauti za watu, na walitumaini kupewa kitoweo chao. Lakini sasa Wazungu walipofika na kuanza kustaarabisha nchi, hawakupendezwa na mambo hayo ya ukatili. Hivyo wakakomesha desturi hiyo na mamba hawakupata kitoweo chao tena. Mamba wengine walipokuja mara nyingi wasione kitu walikata tamaa na hawakuja tena.

I

II

III

IV

Mamba mmoja wao hakuweza kusahau shibe ile, na hivyo aliendelea kufika kila siku akitumaini kupata chakula. Mfalme aliposikia habari hizo alimhurumia mamba huyo na aliwaweka watu kumvulia mamba samaki, na kumtupia badala ya watu.

V

Twajua hakika kwamba mamba huishi pamoja na samaki kule majini. Mamba huhangaika kufukuzana na samaki majini na ana shida kujipatia chakula cha kutosha. Akikosa samaki au nyama nyingine hulazimishwa kujitafutia chakula katika changarawe na uchafu mle ziwani. Hivyo mamba alifurahi sana kulishwa hivyo kwa msaada wa watu.

VI

Watu wale walimlisha mamba huyo kwa muda mrefu sana, hata mamba akawazoea watu na kufanya urafiki nao. Mwishowe akapewa jina "Lutembe."

Watu walipomletea Lutembe samaki, na walipoona kwamba hayuko, walimwita kwa jina lake hivi:- "Lutembe, Lutembe, njoo ule!" Lutembe akisikia sauti hiyo wakati wa matembezi yake, huja mbio sana kwenye mahali sauti ilipotokea ili apokee zawadi yake.

V

VII

Kwa muda wa miaka mingi Lutembe alilishwa na watu, na hata sasa yu hai angali rafiki wa watu. Wavuvi wanaovua upande ule wa ziwa Lutembe anakokaa, wakipenda kumfurahisha, humwita mpaka aje kwenye nchi kavu na kumpa samaki. Karibu wavuvi wote wa upande ule wanampenda Lutembe kwa sababu hasumbui watu wanapokwenda kuvua samaki.

VIII

Lutembe ni maarufu sana. Watu wengi waliotoka Ulaya, wakipata bahati kusikia sifa za Lutembe, huenda kumtazama katika ziwa. Wasipomwona wafikapo, watu husema kwamba amekwenda kutembea. Wageni wakitaka kumwona, basi humwita kwa sauti kubwa, naye Lutembe akisikia sauti zao huja upesi. Huendelea kumwita mpaka atoke majini ili wageni wapate kumwona vizuri. Pengine mtu mmoja hushika kipande cha samaki na kukipigapiga chini, naye Lutembe hujongea hata karibu kabisa na kutambaa pwani. Siku hizi Lutembe ni mzee sana, lakini bado anazo nguvu zake.

IX

Siku moja Lutembe alipokwenda kutembea alirudi na mwanawe, lakini walianza kumtupia mawe. Hivyo alifikiri kwamba rafiki zake kati ya watu hawampendi mwanawe, na hivyo alimrudisha asimlete tena. Lakini yeye mwenyewe tu hufika kuwaamkia rafiki zake na kupata chakula.

Mamba ni mnyama mkali na ni adui ya binadamu, lakini mnyama yeyote, hata awe mkali, akitendewa ukarimu pengine hugeuka kuwa rafiki ya wanadamu.

SOMO LA 77

This period will be devoted to short comprehension exercises based on taped material.

Comprehension will be checked by means of True - False statements or Multiple Choice answers. In some cases the students will be asked to give the English equivalent of what was said on the tape.

I. LANGUAGE STRUCTURE

The U class of nouns has the following features:

- a. Many U class nouns are abstract - that is they denote qualities and states. They are formed from adjectives by prefixing "u" and from nouns by changing the class prefix to "u", or to "w" before a vowel.

e.g. ukubwa = size urefu = length
wizi = theft

- b. Names of countries are U class words:

e.g. Uingereza = England
Ureno = Portugal

- c. Some U class nouns are names of objects:

e.g. Ubao = a plank Ukuta = a wall
Wembe = a razor

- d. Formation of the plural:

1. Most abstract nouns in the U class do not take a plural.
2. Names of objects in the U class take a plural following the rules of the N class plural.
(Review Lesson 29)

e.g.

SingularPlural

u-devu - a single hair of beard	n-devu - beard
w-imbo - a song	ny-imbo - songs
u-bao - a plank	m-bao - planks
u-fagio - a broom	fagio - brooms
u-kuni - a stick of firewood	kuni - firewood

3. When the noun has only one syllable after the "u" prefix, the "ny" plural is prefixed to the whole word:

e.g. u-so - a face nyuso - faces

4. Notice 2 other sound changes:

n + w = mb u-wati = a hut-pole mbati = hut poles n + l = nd u-limi = a tongue ndimi = tongues

e. Adjectives:

1. In the U class the adjective prefix of the singular is "m" before consonants and "mw" before vowels.

e.g. ubao mrefu ukuta mweupe ulimi mkali ukuta mwembamba

2. To form the plural of adjectives qualifying nouns of the "U" class, follow the rules of the N class.

e.g. mbao ndefu = long planks nyimbo mbili = two songs

3. Notice that some U class words take a MA class plural, in which case the MA class plural is also used for the adjective. There are very few of these words.

e.g. Ugonjwa mbaya = a bad disease.
 Magonjwa mabaya = bad diseases.

- f. In the case of pronouns and words derived from pronouns, the U class is the same in the singular as the M-MI class, and in the plural as the N class.

1. Possessives:

e.g. ufagio wangu fagio zangu

2. Demonstratives:

e.g. wembe huu nyembe hizi
 wembe ule nyembe zile

3. Pronoun prefixes with verbs:

Subject: Ufunguo umepotea funguo zimepotea

Object: Nimeuona nimeziona

ADHABU YA MTU ASIYEKUWA NASHUKRANI

I

Safari moja, mtu mmoja alikuwa akisafiri katika pori. Baada ya muda mfupi, akasikia sauti ya dhiki ya kuomba msaada. Basi alifuata upande ule aliosikia sauti, naye alipofika, aliona shimo kubwa sana, na ndani yake mmetumbukia simba, tumbili, nyoka na mwanadamu.

II

Simba alipomwona yule mwanadamu, akasema, "Rafiki yangu, tafadhali nitoe katika shimo hili!"

Lakini yule mwanadamu akamwambia, "Nasikitika sana, simba, naogopa kukutoa nje. Nikikutoa hakika utanila."

Simba akajibu, "Kufanya hivyo ni kutokuwa na shukrani. Na kama nikifanya hivyo, Mungu atanilaani daima. Usiniogope, rafiki yangu. Tafadhali unihurumie."

Basi yule mtu akatafuta kamba, akamtoa yule simba nje ya lile shimo.

III

Kisha tumbili naye akamwomba yule mtu msaada kama simba. Kwa hiyo akamtoa naye pia.

Nyoka akamwambia, "Nitoe na mimi pia."

Mwanadamu akamwambia, "Niko tayari kukutoa nje ya shimo, lakini huna budi kuniahidi kwamba hutaniuma."

Nyoka akamwambia, "Sitathubutu hata kidogo. Mungu hapendezwi na kiumbe cho chote kisichokuwa na shukrani."

Basi yule mtu akamtoa nyoka nje ya shimo. Kisha wale wanyama watatu--simba na tumbili na nyoka wakamwambia yule mtu, "Hala hala usimtoe yule mwanadamu nje ya shimo hili, mwache mle mle. Yeye ni mwovu sana, tena haifai kusadiki lo lote atakalosema."

Halafu simba akasema, "Mimi nakaa juu ya mlima ule. Nitafurahi sana kama utakuja kunitazama kule. Natumaini nitaweza kukulipa fadhili zako hizi za leo."

Tumbili akasema, "Mimi nakaa karibu na simba huyu, lakini nyumba yangu ni juu ya mkungu. Ukienda kwa simba, kisha njoo na kwangu mimi vile vile."

VI

Nyoka naye akasema, "Utakapotokewa na hatari yo yote, basi nikumbuke, nami nitakujia mara moja."

Kisha wale wanyama watatu waliondoka na kwenda zao.

Wakati ule ule, yule mtu aliyekuwamo ndani ya shimo aliendelea kupiga yowe la kuomba msaada tu. Ingawa wale wanyama walimwambia asimwokoe yule mwanadamu mwenziwe, lakini huruma zikamjia, naye akaona si vema. Wanadamu kwa wanadamu hawana budi kusaaidiana. Akawaza, "Leo kwa mwenzangu, kesho kwangu." Basi akamtoa nje ya lile shimo.

VIII

Yule mtu aliyeokolewa akasema, "Asante sana kwa msaada wako. Mimi kazi yangu ni ya uhunzi na sonara. Nina duka langu mjini. Ukitaka msaada wo wote juu ya vito vya dhahabu, basi njoo nyumbani kwangu au dukani." Kisha yule mtu akaenda zake, na yule msafiri akaendelea na safari yake.

IX

Yule msafiri alipokwisha maliza shughuli zake, na sasa anarudi nyumbani kwake, akawakumbuka wale wanyama aliowatoa nje ya shimo, kwa hiyo akafanya shauri aende kwa tumbili.

Alipofika, tumbili akampa embe, ndizi, machungwa na matofaa. Matunda hayo yalimburudisha sana. Kutoka kwa huyo, akaenda zake mpaka kwa simba, pale pale karibu.

Simba alipomwona alifurahi sana, akasema, "Nimekuwa nikikutazamia sana. Imekuwa vema umekuja, maana nina zawadi za kukupa." Simba akatoa mkufu wa dhahabu na vito vingi vya thamani, akaeleza jinsi alivyovipata. Akasema, "Safari moja farasi mmoja alikuwa amemchukua mwana wa sultani. Alikuwa anakwenda shoti sana hata mwishowe akamtupa chini yule mwana wa sultani na kumwacha pale pale peke yake. Basi mwana wa sultani alijipiga na mwamba akafa pale pale.

XI

Mtu yule alishukuru sana kwa kupata bahati ya vitu vya thamani. Kisha akaendelea na safari yake.

Alipokuwa njiani akawaza, "Ah, nitakwenda kwa yule mfua vyombo vya dhahabu, yule sonara niliyemtoa shimoni, nami nitamwomba aniuze vitu hivi."

Basi akamwendea, naye akamkuta yumo kazini. Yule sonara akamkaribisha vizuri, akamwandalia wali kwa nyama, akam-tengenezea kahawa na kila kitu cha kumburudisha.

XII

Baada ya hayo, yule mtu akamwonyesha yule sonara vile vitu vya thamani, akamwomba amwuzie.

Kumbe, vitu vile vilikuwa vya mwana wa sultani wa mji ule ule aliokuwa akikaa sonara. Tena vilitengenezwa na sonara yule yule, kwa hiyo aliweza kuvitambua upesi.

6TH PERIOD

LESSON 78

KIPINDI CHA 6

SOMO LA 78

This period will be devoted to short comprehension exercises based on taped material.

Comprehension will be checked by means of True - False statements or Multiple Choice answers. In some cases the students will be asked to give the English equivalent of what was said on the tape.

DERIVED FORMS OF VERB - GENERAL INTRODUCTION

1. The student has learned about the many prefixes in the Swahili language. It is now time to study some of the endings, or suffixes, especially the various endings pertaining to derived forms of the verb. These derived verb forms do not express personal prefixes nor tenses, but rather special characteristics in meaning.

e.g. Here are some of the common forms:-

pita	-	pass	(simple) pitia	-	pass through	(Prepositional	- (A) pitisha	-	make it pass	(Causative	- (SHA) pitika	-	passable	(Stative	- (KA)
pitiwa	-	be passed	(Passive	- (WA)
pitana	-	pass each other	(Reciprocal	- (ANA)

The addition of these endings colors the basic meaning of the word, and often changes it quite a bit. It is wise to consult the dictionary when in doubt.

2. The addition of these endings usually requires the use of a phonetic link between the stem and the ending. These links are:- I, E, LI, or LE, depending on the nature of the vowels in the next-to-last syllable. The student will also learn and appreciate the many ways shades of meaning can be expressed by not only using these basic derived forms, but also combining and building one form on top of the other. More reading and use of Swahili will acquaint the student with these forms, and reference to the dictionary is advisable.

e.g. acha - leave, let alone achia - leave to someone, bequeath achilia - forgive achiliwa- be forgiven

A.

Verb stems with 1 vowel endings and penultimate being: A I U And penultimate being: E O	have as a link I E	Sample verbs with prepositional (A) ending: fany-i-a > fanyia pit-i-a > pitia fung-i-a > fungia tend-e-a > tendea som-e-a > somea

1. The WA and KA forms of the verb.

In this and the following lesson we shall learn the Passive (WA) and the Stative (KA) forms of the verb.

Notice the following:

Doer	Receiver	Result of Action
Action	Passive (WA)	Stative (KA)

Alivunja kikombe

Kikombe kilivunjwa na mtoto. (Passive)

Kikombe kimevunjika. (Stative)

2. In this lesson we shall pay special attention to the Passive form.

- a. The Swahili passive is formed by putting W between the verb stem and the final vowel A.

e.g. Kupiga - to hit Kupigwa - to be hit Kupenda - to love Kupendwa - to be loved

- b. Verbs in this form take exactly the same person and tense signs, for all classes, as they do in the simple form.

e.g. Active

Passive

Ninapiga-I am hitting

Ninapigwa-I am being hit.

Nitapiga-I shall hit

Nitapigwa-I shall be hit.

Sipigi-I do not hit

Sipigwi-I am not hit.

- c. To express BY or WITH after the passive, the words NA and KWA are generally used.

e.g. Alipigwa na baba yake - He was beaten by his father.

Mkate ulikatwa kwa kisu - The bread was cut with a knife.

- d. Note: Verbs ending in 2 or more vowels (aa, ia, ua, oa) form their passive by using the link LI or LE before the suffix. (Study again the pattern diagram in the General Introduction to the Derived Forms of the Verb.)

e.g.	Kuvaa	Passive -	Kuvaliwa
	Kuoa		Kuolewa
	Kuchukua		Kuchukuliwa

- e. There are 2 irregular passives:

Kuua	Passive -	Kuuawa
Kusahau		Kusahauliwa

Basi sonara alijifanya kama kwamba anakwenda kutafuta mnunuzi, kwa hiyo akamwacha yule mgeni wake nyumbani kwake, akamwambia amngojee. Lakini yeye hakwenda kutafuta mnunuzi, bali alikwenda moja kwa moja mpaka kwa Sultani. Na kumbe sultani mwenyewe alikwisha tangaza kwamba ikipatikana habari yo yote inayomhusu mwanawe aliyepotea, basi itatolewa zawadi kwa yeye atakayemwarifu.

XIV

Sultani akamwuliza yule sonara, "Vitu vya thamani hivi umevipata wapi?"

Akajibu, "Amekuja mtu mmoja kwangu, naye ameniomba nimwuzie, kisha fedha nimpe. Lakini nimeona heri kwanza nikuletee upate kuviona."

Sultani akamwambia, "Bila shaka yeye ndiye aliyemwua mwana wangu ili avipate. Kamlete upesi!"

XV

Basi yule mtu alikamatwa na kuletwa mbele ya sultani. Bila kuhukumiwa na kuchunguzwa vema kama ni mhalifu hasa au siyo, sultani aliamuru awekwe tayari kwa kuuawa baada ya siku chache.

Basi yule mtu maskini akatiwa gerezani, akisubiri kunyongwa. Akasema, "Waama sasa nimo katika hatari kubwa ya kuitoka dunia. Natumaini yule nyoka ataweza kunisaidia sasa!" Katika kusema hivi, mara nyoka akatokea pale pale. Akasema, "Rafiki yangu, nikutendee nini sasa?"

Yule mtu akasimulia kisa chote, tangu mwanzo wake mpaka mwisho.

XVII

Yule nyoka akamwambia, "Nisikilize. Sasa nitakwenda kumwuma malkia wa sultani. Waganga, wanajimu, wachawi na wabashiri wote wataitwa kufanya maarifa yao ili wamponye, lakini nina hakika watashindwa. Hawataweza kumponya malkia. Lakini wewe utakapofika na kumgusa kwa mkono wako, basi atapona mara moja."

XVIII

Kisha yule nyoka alitoka na kwenda zake. Mara kukazuka zahama katika nyumba ya sultani, maana malkia alikuwa amekwisha umwa na yule nyoka. Ikawa heka heka, malkia yumo katika hatari ya kufa. Watu wakafanya yote waliyoweza ili kumponya, lakini wapi! Kila mmoja alishindwa.

Sultani alipeleka habari mjini upesi upesi na kuwaambia watu kwamba ye yote atakayeweza kumponya malkia, atapewa zawadi kubwa sana hata watu wote watastaajabu.

XIX

Yule mtu kule gerezani akawaambia askari walinzi kwamba yeye ataweza kabisa kumponya malkia. Kwa hiyo akapelekwa kwa sultani upesi kabla malkia hajakata roho bado.

Alipofika, sultani akamwingiza katika chumba alichokuwamo yule malkia. Wakati huu fahamu yote ilikuwa imekwisha mtoka, na ilikuwa bado dakika chache tu kwa kufariki dunia.

Basi yule mtu akanyosha mkono wake na kungusa yule malkia. Mara pale pale aliinuka akaanza kucheka na kuzungumza. Akawa mzima kabisa kama zamani.

XX

Pale pale sultani akampa yule mtu aliyemponya malkia zawadi nyingi sana za kila namna. Kisha akamwambia, "Sasa niambie jinsi ulivyoweza kupata vito vya thamani vya marehemu mwanangu."

Yule mtu akamsimulia kisa chote tangu mwanzo mpaka mwisho.

XXI

Basi sultani akamwita yule sonara, akamwambia, "Sasa nimepata hakika ya mambo yote jinsi yalivyokwenda. Waama wewe ni mwovu sana. Ulitaka kuitoa roho ya mwenzio bure naye ni mtu aliyekusaidia ulipokuwa katika hatari! Sasa yeye atafunguliwa na kuachwa huru, na wewe utauawa sasa hivi mbele ya watu wote wa mji.

wanyama wakali kama vile chui, simba au mbwa wa mwitu,

Yule mtu akachagua kukatwa kichwa kwa upanga.
Basi baada ya watu wote kukusanyika pamoja, sultani aka-

SOMO LA 79

This period will be devoted to short comprehension exercises based on taped material.

Comprehension will be checked by means of True - False statements or Multiple Choice answers. In some cases the students will be asked to give the English equivalent of what was said on the tape.

1. The Stative (KA) form of the Verb.

The characteristic ending of the Stative form of the verb is KA. Refer again to the Pattern Diagram in the General Introduction to the Derived Forms, to make sure that you understand the formation of the phonetic links between the stem and the ending.

e.g.	Kata	-	Katika
	Vunja	-	Vunjika
	Sema	-	Semeka
	Soma	-	Someka
	Twaa	-	Twalika

2. The Stative form is used for 2 purposes:

- a. To express a resulting state or condition after an action.

e.g. Aluvunja kikombe, sasa kikombe kimevunjika.
He broke the cup, now the cup is broken.

Notice again that no one is named as having broken the cup. If someone is named, then the passive is used.

e.g. Sahani imevunjwa na mtoto.
The plate was broken by the child.

Sahani imevunjika.
The plate broke.

Maji yalimwagwa na fulani.
The water was spilled by so-and-so.

Maji yalimwagika.
The water got spilled.

- b. The Stative form is also used to express the idea of possibility, i.e. be edible, be passable, etc.

e.g.	Kupita	- To pass	Kupitika	- To be passable
	Kula	- To eat	Kulika	- To be edible

KISA CHA ZERUBABELISEHEMU YA KWANZA

I

Hapo kale mfalme Dario alifanya karamu kubwa. Aliwaa-lika wakuu wa Umedi na Uajemi. Hao walikuwa maakida na ma-jemadari, na wengine walikuwa maliwali katika nchi mbalimbali kutoka Bara Hindi mpaka Etiopia. Wote walifika karamuni, wakala, wakanywa, wakashiba, baadaye wakarudi kwao tena. Mfalme Dario akapumzika, akaingia chumbani mwake akalala usingizi.

II

Mfalme alipokuwa akilala, vijana watatu walimtumikia chumbani kwake na kumlinda mfalme. Hao walianza kuongea, wakasema: "Haya, tushindane. Kila mmoja wetu ataje kitu aonacho kina nguvu kupita vingine vyote, na aandike maoni yake juu ya karatasi. Halafu mfalme atakapoamka apewe maandiko yetu ayasome. Yule atakayeshinda apewe zawadi na heshima kubwa kutoka mfalme, kama:-

Kuvikwa mavazi ya urujuani, Kupata kunywa kutoka kikombe cha dhahabu,
Kukilalia kitanda kizuri sana,
Kuchukuliwa katika gari na farasi wenye hatamu za dhahabu, Kuvaa mkufu wa dhahabu shingoni mwake, na kadhalika.
Zaidi ya hayo aketi karibu na mfalme Dario na kuheshimiwa kama jamaa yake.

Basi wakaandika kila mtu neno lake, wakatia muhuri, wakaweka yote chini ya mto wa Dario. Wa kwanza aliandika: "Mvinyo ina nguvu kupita vyote." Wa pili akaandika: "Mfalme ndiye ana nguvu kabisa." Na wa tatu aliandika: "Wanawake ndio wenye nguvu nyingi zaidi, lakini kupita yote ukweli hushinda.

III

Mfalme alipokwisha kuamka, vijana walimletea maandiko yao wakampa. Mfalme alipokwisha kuyasoma alistaajabu sana, na hivyo aliwakusanya wakuu, madiwani na maakida wake waje kusikiliza vijana wakieleza kila mtu neno lake. Ndipo waamue ufafanuzi wa fikira za vijana na kumchagua mshindi.

LESSON 80-a

I-III

IV

Kijana wa kwanza aliyeandika kwamba "Mvinyo ina nguvu kupita vyote," akaeleza:- "Mabwana, mvinyo ina nguvu nyingi ajabu. Inawafanya wote watakoinywa kufanya makosa. Kumbe, hufanya akili ya yatima hata ya mfalme kuwa sawa. Vivyo hivyo inawatendea watumwa na walio huru, maskini na tajiri, ikiwachafua akili zao na kuyageuza mawazo yao kuwa makunjufu na machangamko wasikumbuke deni wala huzuni. Watu wanapolewa kwa mvinyo pia husahau upendo wao kwa rafiki au ndugu, hata wavute upanga. Baada ya kulevuka hawawezi kukumbuka waliyo-yafanya. Je! si kweli, mabwana, ya kuwa mvinyo ina nguvu kupita vyote?" Naye alipokwisha kunena, akanyamaza.

Kisha yule wa pili aliyetaja kwamba "Mfalme ndiye ana nguvu kabisa," alipaaza sauti yake akasema:- "Mabwana, wale wenye nguvu hasa ambao wanatawala bahari na nchi na vitu vyote vilivyomo, si wanadamu? Lakini mfalme huzidi kwa nguvu. Ndiye bwana wao na huwatawala. Kwa mambo yote hutii kwa jinsi anavyoamuru. Akiwaamuru wapigane, wao hupigana; aki-waamrisha kupambana na adui, huenda na hushambulia maboma na ngome kuu. Kuua, wako tayari kuuawa, wala hawaihalifu amri ya mfalme. Ikitokea wameshinda, humletea mfalme vitu vyote vilivyotekwa vitani. Kadhalika wale wasio askari na kazi yao ni ukulima, pia humletea mfalme sehemu ya mavuno yao, na hutozwa kodi kwa ajili ya mfalme.

VI

Naye mfalme ni mtu mmoja tu; akisema, Ua, huua; aki-sema, Achilia, huachilia; akisema, Piga, hupiga; akisema, Jenga, hujenga; akisema, Kata, hukata; akisema Panda, hu-panda. Hivyo watu wote na majeshi yake yote humtii. Ikiwa mfalme analala, anakula, anakunywa, au anapumzika, wengine wanahudhuria na kumlinda. Hakuna awezaye kuondoka na ku-fuata shughuli zake mwenyewe. Basi, mabwana, yawezaje kuwa mfalme siye mwenye nguvu kupita wote ikiwa hutiiwa hivyo?" Naye pia akanyamaza.

LESSON 80-b

Ndipo kijana wa tatu aliyetaja kwamba, "Wanawake ndio wenye nguvu nyingi zaidi, lakini kupita yote ukweli hushinda," akasimama akasema:- "Mabwana, mlisikia habari za nguvu za mfalme, hata nguvu za mvinyo, lakini ni nani basi wanaotawala hata hao? Je, si wanawake?"

Wanawake ndio waliomzaa mfalme na watu wote wanaotawala bahari na nchi. Ni wanawake waliowalea, waliowafanyizia wanaume mavazi yao na kuwaletea fahari yao. Pasipo wanawake wanaume hawawezi hata kuwapo. Zaidi ya hayo, ikiwa wanaume wamekusanya dhahabu na fedha, na wakimwona mwanamke mwenye madaha na sura nzuri ya kutamani, huacha vyote ili wamwachamie na wamkodolee macho. Kweli humtamani yeye kuliko dhahabu au fedha au vitu vingine.

VIII

Mwanamume humwacha baba yake aliyemlea, hata na nchi yake, ili aambatane na mkewe. Hakawii ili apate kuishi siku za maisha yake na mkewe, wala hakumbuki tena wazazi wala nchi yake.

Haikosi mtafahamu ya kwamba ndio ni wanawake wanaotawala mkifikiria haya:

Je, hamjibidishi kufanya kazi ili mletee mwanamke mapato yenu? Tena pengine mtu huchukua upanga wake akaenda kushambulia, kunyang'anya, na kuiba kwa ajili yake. Au husafiri juu ya bahari na mito, yu tayari kupambana na simba, kupitia nchi zenye giza, ili amletee mpenzi wake mapato yake. Hivyo mtu humpenda mkewe kuliko baba au mama. Naam, ni wengi waliorukwa na akili zao kwa sababu ya wanawake. Je, ninyi bado hamsadiki hayo?

IX

"Mwangalieni mfalme katika nguvu zake, na jinsi wote katika majimbo humwogopa hata kungusa. Walakini juzi juzi nilimwona Apame, suria ya mfalme, jinsi alivyokuwa ameketi mkono wa kuume wa mfalme, akiitwa taji kutoka kichwa cha mfalme, akaiweka juu ya kichwa chake mwenyewe. Naam, hata akathubutu kumpiga mfalme kwa mkono wake wa kushoto. Inga-wa mfalme alishtuka, alimtazama tu kinywa wazi. Suria aki-mchekea, naye hucheka pia; akimkasirikia naye hufanya bidii kumbembeleza ili amridhie tena. Ee mabwana, kweli kweli si dhahiri ya kuwa wanawake wana nguvu nyingi zaidi wakiweza kufanya hivyo?"

SOMO LA 80

This period will be devoted to short comprehension exercises based on taped material.

Comprehension will be checked by means of True - False statements or Multiple Choice answers. In some cases the students will be asked to give the English equivalent of what was said on the tape.

1. The Prepositional Form of the Verb.

When a preposition like TO is used in English, the Prepositional Form of the Verb is used in Swahili. This is obtained by adding a vowel I or E between the stem and the final vowel. Study again the pattern diagram in the General Introduction, which gives the use of the phonetic link in the Prepositional Form of the Verb.

This gives us a form which means to do something for, to or with somebody or something, either for their advantage or for their disadvantage.

e.g. Aliniletea kofia	-	He brought me a hat.
Niletee chakula	-	Bring me food.
Aliniibia nguo	-	He stole clothes from me. (He stole my clothes)

Note that the object prefix must also be used.

2. Another use of the prepositional form of the verb is to show purpose.

e.g. Kisu cha kukatia nyama	-	A knife to cut meat with.
Masikio ya kusikilia	-	Ears to hear with.
Nyumba ya kukalia	-	A house to live in.

3. The Prepositional form of the verb can be used to express motion towards an object or place.

e.g. Mtoto alimkimbilia mama yake.
The child ran to his mother.

Mfalme alimgeukia mtumishi wake.
The king turned to his servant.

Baada ya kueleza nguvu za wanawake, mfalme na madiwani walianza kutazamana, na hapo Zerubabeli aliendelea kutoa maoni yake juu ya Ukweli, akasema:- "Je, mabwana, wanawake si wenye nguvu? Basi na dunia ni kubwa, na mbingu ni juu, na jua laonekana kwenda mbio katika njia yake, mradi huzunguka mbinguni na kuparudia mahali pake katika siku moja. Je, yeye aliyeweka mpango kama huo ulimwenguni mzima siye mkuu? Ukweli wake ni mkuu, na una nguvu kupita mambo yote. Dunia hutafuta ukweli huo, na mbingu huibariki. Viumbe vyote hutetemeka mbele yake kwani haumo udhalimu ndani yake. Ila hapa duniani mvinyo ina udhalimu, mfalme aweza kuwa na udhalimu, wanawake huwa na udhalimu, kweli wanadamu wote ni dhalimu na matendo yao huonyesha hali ya udhalimu, wala hakuna ukweli ndani yake."

II

"Bali ukweli hudumu, daima u thabiti, huishi na kushinda hata milele. Kwake hakuna upendeleo wala rushwa; hutenda yaliyo haki na hupinga udhalimu wote na ubaya wote. Matendo yake huheshimiwa na wanadamu wote. Katika hukumu zake hakuna uovu, ni milki, uwezo na enzi siku zote hata milele. Abarikiwe Mungu wa Ukweli!" Ndipo akanyamaza, ilakini watu walipaaza sauti, wakasema: "Ukweli ndio ulio mkuu na una nguvu kupita mambo yote."

III

Hapo mfalme akamwambia Zerubabeli, "Omba lolote utakalo, hata zaidi kuliko yale yaliyoandikwa, nawe utapewa, maana umeonekana kuwa mtaalamu. Utaketi karibu nami na kuheshimiwa." Zerubabeli akamjibu mfalme: "Kumbuka nadhiri yako uliyoitoa siku ile uliposhika ufalme wako, ulipo ahidi kuu-jenga tena mji wa Yerusalemu uliobomolewa, na kuvirudisha vyombo vyote vilivyochukuliwa kutoka Yerusalemu. Pia uliahidi kuijenga tena hekalu iliyoteketezwa na Waedomi wakati nchi ya Yuda iliposhambuliwa na kuharibiwa na Waka-idea. Hivyo sasa nakusihi, ee mfalme, nionyeshe ukarimu wako wa kifalme na uitimize nadhiri ile uliyoitoa mbele za Mfalme wa Mbinguni kwa kinywa chako mwenyewe."

LESSON 81-a

IV

Ndipo mfalme Dario alisimama akambusu Zerubabeli. Hala-fu akaandika barua kwa ajili yake kwa watunza hazina wote, na kwa maliwali, na majemadari na maakida ili wamsaidie kufika Yerusalemu salama pamoja na wote watakaofuatana naye kwenda kuujenga tena mji wa Yerusalemu. Tena akawaandikia maliwali wote waliokuwako huko katika nchi ya Shamu, na Foiniki, na Lebanoni makusudi waipeleke mierezi ya Lebanoni mpaka Yerusalemu, na pia washirikiane naye katika kazi za kuujenga mji. Zaidi ya hayo aliandika kwa ajili ya Wayahudi wote waliokaa katika majimbo yake kwamba wapewe uhuru kurudi nchi ya Uyahudi. Alitoa amri wasitozwe kodi, na aliwaamrisha Waedomi waitoe miji ya Wayahudi waliyoishika wakati ule.

Pia aliamuru talanta ishirini zitolewe kila mwaka kwa ujenzi wa Hekalu; na siyo kwa ujenzi tu, lakini talanta hizo zitolewe hata wakati Hekalu itakapokwisha kujengwa. Zaidi ya hayo talanta nyingine kumi zitolewe kila mwaka kulipa gharama za dhabihu zitakazotolewa madhabahuni kila siku. Na makuhani wapewe posho yao na mavazi ya ukuhani watakayoyavaa wakati wa kuhudumu. Tena akaamuru kwamba wote walioulinda mji wapewe makonde na mshahara. Tena vyombo vyote vya Hekalu vilivyochukuliwa Babeli na mfalme Kiro sasa virudishwe vyote kule Yerusalemu tena.

VI

Hapo yule kijana, yaani Zerubabeli, akauinua uso wake mbinguni, akamhimidi Mfalme wa Mbinguni, akasema: "Ndio kwako Wewe hutoka ushindi, hekima na ukweli. Utukufu una Wewe, nami ni mtumwa wako. Umehimidiwa Wewe uliyenipa hekima, nami nakushukuru Wewe, Mungu wa baba zetu." Hivyo Zerubabeli, aliyekuwa mshindi katika mashindano kati ya vijana hao watatu, hakujitafutia heshima na utajiri kwake mwenyewe, lakini alikumbuka akina watu wake waliokuwa utumwani, na aliwaombea uhuru kwa mfalme Dario. Alipofaulu kwa kuwapatia uhuru na kupata msaada kuujenga upya mji wa Yerusalemu pamoja na Hekalu, alifurahi sana na kumshukuru Mungu katika hayo yote.

6TH PERIOD

LESSON 81

KIPINDI CHA 6

SOMO LA 81

This period will be devoted to short comprehension exercises based on taped material.

Comprehension will be checked by means of True - False statements or Multiple Choice answers. In some cases the students will be asked to give the English equivalent of what was said on the tape.

1. The Causative Verb Form (-SHA, or -ZA)

The causative form expresses the concept or idea of compulsion. In simple words: someone or something was caused, compelled, or made to do something.

e.g. Alisimamisha kiti = He caused the chair to stand up.

Sasa kiti kinasimama = Now the chair is standing.

2. The causative suffixes are -SHA or -ZA. There is a rough rule to guide us as to when to use one or the other of these suffixes, and that is this: Use -SHA in all normal cases where the verb ends in one vowel, and use -ZA when the verb ends in 2 or more vowels. Now let us look at the first rule, where the ending is -SHA, and where the phonetic link I or E is used according to rules explained earlier:-

e.g. lala > lalisha = cause or make to lie down pita > pitisha = cause to pass funga > fungisha = cause to fasten cheza > chezesha = cause to play soma > somesha = cause to read

3. The student has learned that when there are 2 or more vowels at the end of a verb, then normally the phonetic link would be LI or LE. But the causative is irregular in this respect and omits the link completely in such instances, and the causative ending -SHA now becomes -ZA in 98% of such cases, and we get:-

e.g. kimbia > kimbiza = make to run potea > poteaza = cause to get lost, lose pungua	>	punguza	= make less, decrease

jaa	>	jaza	= make full, fill
ingia	>	ingiza	= put inside
kataa	>	kataza	= forbid
zoea	>	zoeza	= get used to, practice
oa	>	oza	= cause to marry
umia	>	umiza	= cause to get hurt
legea	>	legeza	= to loosen

Some of the common exceptions to this rule are:

zaa	>	zalisha	= cause to bear, act as midwife
jua	>	julisha	= inform
sahau	>	sahaulisha	= make one forget
kaa	>	kalisha	= make one stay

4. Make note of the following irregular forms which also omit the phonetic link:

amka	>	amsha	= awaken
anguka	>	angusha	= cause to drop, drop chemka	>	chemsha	= cause to boil
waka	>	washa	= to light, turn on a light vuka	>	vusha	= make to cross over ruka	>	rusha	= make fly

ogopa	>	ogofya	=	frighten, make afraid
pona	>	ponya	=	heal, make well
ona	>	onya	=	warn

5. Verbs ending in 'i' do not take a link and just add the causative ending, usually -SHA.

keti	>	ketisha	=	make sit, to seat
rudi	>	rudisha	=	give back, return
tii	>	tiisha	=	make to obey
zidi	>	zidisha	=	to make more, increase furahi	>	furahisha	=	to make glad

6. Some adjectives can be drawn into a verbal construction by use of the causative, and so we get:

safi (clean)	>	safisha	=	make clean
fupi (short)	>	fupisha	=	to shorten
tajiri (rich)	>	tajirisha	=	make rich
tayari (ready)	>	tayarisha	=	make ready sahihi (correct)	>	sahihisha	=	to correct
rahisi (cheap, easy)	>	rahisisha	=	to make easy, simplify imara (strong)	>	imarisha	=	make firm or strong sawa (equal)	>	sawazisha	=	make equal, level
refu (long)	>	refusha	=	lengthen

Sehemu ya KwanzaI

Basi nikaanza kutoa hadithi yangu, "Kwa kawaida mwajua kuwa wawindaji ndovu ni watu wasiotamani anasa za dunia, wala hawashughuliki katika mambo ila yale yaliyo ya kweli ya dunia, wala desturi na mazoea ya watu weusi. Lakini pengine mwa-weza kuonana na mtu mmoja mmoja anayejitia katika mambo ya kuandika habari za desturi na mapokeo na hadithi za watu weusi, na kujaribu kutunga habari zao za zamani za kale. Mtu aliyeniambia maneno haya alikuwa mmoja wa namna hiyo, na sasa tangu aliponiambia maneno haya yapata miaka thelathini iliyopita.

II

Ilikuwa hivi: katika safari yangu ya kwanza nilikwenda kuwinda ndovu katika nchi ya Matabele. Mtu mmoja jina lake aliitwa Evans ndiye aliyeniambia maneno hayo, naye masikini aliuawa na nyati kwa mwaka wa pili yake, akazikwa mahali palipokuwa karibu na maboromoko ya maji ya mto Zambezi. Nami namkumbuka sana kuwa siku moja nilikuwa nikimzungumza habari za kulungu na pofu katika mtaa moja wa Transvaal!

III

Evans akasema, "Ndiyo, lakini mimi nitakutolea hadithi iliyo ya ajabu sana kupita habari za nyama." Akaendelea ku-hadithia jinsi alivyopata kuvumbua magofu ya mji wa zamani sana ambao alisadiki kuwa ni mji ule uliokuwa ukiitwa "Ophir" uliotajwa katika Agano la Kale, na tangu siku ile, watu wengi wenye m-arifa kuliko marehemu Evans wamesema vile vile. Mimi nikakaa kusikiliza na masikio mawili, maana wakati ule mimi nilikuwa bado kijana, na hadithi zile za kale zilinipendeza sana, na mara akasema "Je, mwanangu, umepata kusikia habari za milima ya Sulemani iliyo kaskazini mwa nchi ya Mashukulumbwe?" Nikamwambia "Sijapata kusikia." Akasema, "Basi, haidhuru haidhuru, kwani hapa ndipo Sulemani alipokuwa na mashimo yake, yaani mashimo ya almasi."

LESSON 82-a

KIPINDI CHA PILISOMO LA 82

IV

Nikamwuliza "Je, wewe unayajuaaje?" Akajibu, "Nayajuaaje! Nayajua kwa jina lake lilivyo, na tena niliambiwa na mwanamke mmoja mchawi wa kabila la Isanusi katika nchi ya Manika. Alisema kwamba watu wanaokaa upande wa pili wa milima ile ni ukoo wa Amazulu, wanasema lugha inayofanana na Kizulu, ila wao ni wakubwa, kisha wazuri zaidi ya Amazulu. Lakini kuna wachawi wenye nguvu nyingi wanaokaa humo waliojifunza uchawi wao kwa watu weupe wakati "dunia ilipokuwa giza tupu," tena walikuwa na siri ya shimo la ajabu lenye mawe yale yanayo-ng'aa."

V

Wakati ule nilicheka sana niliposikia hadithi hii nikaidharau, lakini ilinipendeza sana, maana wakati ule mashimo ya almasi yalikuwa bado kuvumbuliwa. Lakini yule marehemu Evans aliuawa, nami nikakaa muda wa miaka ishirini, bila kufikiri jambo lo lote. Baada ya miaka ishirini, na huo ni muda mrefu sana, maana mwindaji ndovu ana shida kuishi miaka ishirini katika kazi yake, nikasikia habari zaidi juu ya milima ya Sulemani na nchi iliyo upande wa pili yake.

VI

Hapo mimi nilikuwa katika nchi ya Manika, kwa mahali paitwapo Kwa Sitanda, napo ni mahali pabaya sana, maana sikuweza kupata chakula wala nyama hakuna. Nilishikwa na homa kali mno hata hali yangu ikawa dhaifu sana, na siku moja akafika Mreno mmoja pamoja na mwenziwe mmoja msuriama. Tukaongea kidogo pamoja, maana yeye aliweza kusema Kiingereza kidogo, nami pia nilijua kusema Kireno kidogo, akaniambia kuwa jina lake ni Jose Silvestre, na tena ana shamba karibu na Delagoa Bay. Lakini siku ya pili yake aliondoka pamoja na mwenziwe, akasema "Kwa heri." Katika kule kusema "Kwa heri," akasema "Bwana, tukionana tena natumaini mimi nitakuwa tajiri kuliko watu wote duniani, nami nitakukumbuka." Nikacheka kidogo, maana nilikuwa mnyonge kwa homa na kwa hivyo sikuweza kucheka sana, nikamwona akienda kuvuka jangwa lile kwenda upande wa magharibi, nikadhani kuwa ana wazimu, au anakwenda kutafuta nini huko?

Mateuzi Kutoka

"Mashimo ya Mfalme Sulemani"

Kimetungwa na H. Rider Haggard

I

Baada ya kupita juma moja, nikawa nimepona, na jioni nilipokuwa nimekaa nje ya hema yangu ndogo, nikitafuna paja la kuku wa mwisho niliyemnunua kwa mtu mmoja kwa bei ya kitambaa kimoja cha thamani ya kuku ishirini, nikitazama jua jinsi lilivyokuwa jekundu linavyoshuka nyuma ya jangwa hilo, na mara nikaona kitu kama mzungu kimevaa koti kikitalemka mtelemko kwa mbele yangu yapata mwendo wa hatua mia sita. Kwanza kitu hicho kilitambaa kwa magoti na mikono, kisha kikasimama na kupepesukia mbele kwa hatua chache, tena kikaanguka na kutambaa. Mradi nikaona kuwa ni mtu aliye taabani.

II

Nikapeleka mmoja wa wawindaji wangu kwenda kumsaidia, na baadaye kidogo akaja naye, je, wadhani alikuwa nani? Alikuwa yule Jose Silvestre, au kwa kusema kweli, mifupa yake, kwa maana amekonda kabisa. Uso wake ulikuwa wa rangi ya kimanjano unang'aa kwa homa aliyokuwa nayo, na yale macho yake meusi makubwa yalikuwa kama yatamtokea utosini, maana alikuwa hana nyama kabisa. Ngozi yake ilikuwa imekauka, na nywele zake zimegeuka rangi zimekuwa nyeupe, na mifupa yake ilikuwa ime-tokeza mwilini. Akawa anaugua huku akisema, "Nipeni maji! kwa ajili ya Kristo maji!" Nikaona kuwa midomo yake imepasuka na ulimi uliomtoka ulikuwa mweusi, tena umevimba.

III

Nikampa maji yaliyochanganywa na maziwa kidogo akanywa sana bila ya kupumzika, nikamzuia kusudi asinywe zaidi. Na mara homa ilimshika tena akaanguka na kuanza kupayuka juu ya habari za milima ya Sulemani, na almasi na jangwa. Nikamchukua na kumweka hemani mwangu nikamtunza kama nilivyoweza; lakini nilijua kuwa atakufa. Kupata saa tano ya usiku akatulia kidogo, nami ndipo nilipopata usingizi kidogo, nikalala. Kulipopambazuka nikaamka, nikamwona namna alivyokuwa amekonda sana, amekaa na macho yake ameyakodoa kutazama jangwa. Baadaye kile kianga cha kwanza cha jua kilipoonekana mawinguni, kikaangaza jangwa mpaka kufika kilele kirefu katika milima ya Sulemani, mbali mwendo wa maili mia moja na zaidi.

LESSON 83.

IV

Mara yule mgonjwa akanyosha mkono wake mwembamba kulekeza kileleni na huko akisema kwa Kireno, "Ndipo, ndipo papo hapo, lakini mimi sitawahi kupafikia kamwe. Wala hapana atakayepafikia kamwe!" Mara akakaa kimya kidogo kama mtu anayewaza shauri moyoni, halafu akanigeukia akasema, "Rafiki bado unga-lipo? Ama sasa naona macho yangu yaingia giza." Nikajibu "Ndiyo, nipo papa hapa. Lakini sasa afadhali ulale upumzike." Akasema, "Ndiyo nitapumzika sasa hivi, na tena nitakuwa na wasaa mwingi wa kupumzika, ndiyo hata milele. Nisikilize, nisikilize, ninakufa! Wewe umenitendea mema. Nitakupa hati. Labda utaweza kupafikia ikiwa utaishi kuvuka jangwa, ambalo limemwua mtumishi wangu na mimi!"

Akapapasapapasa katika mfuko wake akatoa kitu nilichokidhanja kuwa koba la kuwekea tumbako lililotengenezwa kwa ngozi ya nyama. Koba hilo lilifungwa kwa uzi wa ngozi naye alijaribu kulifungua asiweze. Akanipa akisema, "Fungua." Nikalifungua nikatoa kipande cha kitambaa kikuukuu cha katani kilichokuwa kimeandikwa maneno, na ndani ya kitambaa hicho mlikuwamo karatasi. Kisha akasema kwa sauti ya kufifia, maana alizidi kudiofu, akanena, "Juu ya hiyo karatasi kumeandikwa yote yaliyoandikwa juu ya kitambaa na hivyo ilinibidi kufanya kazi ya miaka hata kuweza kuisoma. Sikiliza: Babu yangu aliyelazimishwa kutoka mji wa Lisbon ambaye alikuwa katika Wareno hao wa kwanza waliofika katika nchi hii, aliandika maneno hayo wakati alipokuwa akifa katika milima ile ambayo hapana hata mtu mweupe aliyepata kuikanyaga kwa miguu yake mpaka hivi leo. Jina lake aliitwa Jose da Silvestre, naye aliishi zamani za miaka mia tatu.

VI

Mtumishi wake aliyekuwa akimngojea kwa upande huu wa milima aliona kuwa amekwisha kufa, naye ndiye aliyeleta maandiko haya mpaka Delagoa. Na tokea wakati huo yametunzwa na warithi wake, lakini hapana aliyetaka kuyasoma, mpaka mimi nilipofaulu. Nami nimepoteza maisha yangu kwa ajili yake, lakini labda mwingine ataweza kufaulu na kuwa tajiri wa kupita wote duniani. Lakini usimpe mtu mwingine, bwana, wewe nenda mwenyewe!" Akaanza kubabaika tena, na baada ya saa moja akafa. Mungu na ampe raha, amstareheshe. Nilimzika katika kaburi la kwenda chini sana, nikaweka na mawe makubwa juu ili kusudi asifukuliwe na fisi. Kisha nikaondoka pale."

1. The Verbal Noun - KU Class

- a. The infinitive form of the verb "KU", e.g. Kufanya, may be used as a verbal noun. Verbal nouns are usually translated by the English form -ing, and there is only one form, as there is no reference to singular or plural.

e.g. Kuandika hadithi ni kazi.
Writing stories is work.

Kuimba ni kuzuri.
Singing is good.

Kuona ni kuamini.
Seeing is believing.

- b. The concords for this class are shown in the following table:

Adjective Concord	Possessives	Demonstratives	Subject and Object Prefixes
Before consonant -Ku- Kuimba kuzuri	Kw- Kuimba kwetu Kuimba kwa watoto	Kule Huku	Ku Kuimba kumekwisha Unak usikia kuimba kwao
Before vowel -Kw- Kuimba kwote

2. The Negative Infinitive Form. You have learned that the prefix Ku is the sign of the affirmative infinitive.

e.g. Kufanya - to do
The prefix Kuto is the sign of the negative infinitive.

Kutofanya - not to do

Kutofika - not to arrive

Kuwa ama kutokuwa hilo ndilo swali.

To be, or not to be, that is the question.

Note: Occasionally the forms Kutoafanya or kutokufanya may be seen, but they are rare and Kuto is the usual prefix.

Mara tulipoamka kabisa tulianza kuzungumza jua la shida yetu. Hapana hata tone la maji. Tulipindua viriba vyetu tukalamba kingoni, lakini wapi! kavu kabisa. Bwana Henry akasema, "Tusipopata maji tutakufa." Nikasema, "Kama ile ramani ya yule mzee ni sahihi, maji yapo karibu tulipo sasa." Lakini maneno yangu hayakumfariji mtu, maana ilikuwa dhahiri kuwa hatuwezi kutumaini sana ile ramani. Sasa ikaanza kuwa kweupe kidogo kidogo, tukakaa tunatazamana tu, nikamwona Ventvogel, yule Hottentot aliondoka akaanza kutembea macho yaelekea chini, na mara akafanya sauti kama ya kukoroma, akao-nyesha chini katika mchanga. Tukashtuka tukasema, "Nini, nini?" Tukaondoka sote tukamwendea tukatazama chini. Akasema, "Wako nyama wengi kama paa hapa. Tazameni nyayo zao." Nikamwuliza, "Je, hata kama ni wengi hapa, ya nini?" Akajibu, "Paa hawatembezi mbali na maji." Nikasema "Kweli, nilisahau, Alhamdulillah."

II

Basi shauri hilo lilitutilia uzima upya tena; ni ajabu sana ya kuwa kama watu wamo katika shida, hushikilia sana tumaini hata kama ni dogo, na kufurahi. Maana, usiku wa giza nyota moja ni bora kama si nyota.

Huko nyuma Ventvogel alikuwa akiinua pua yake akinusa hewa ile yenye moto kama anavyonusa paa mzee anayeshuku hatari. Mara akasema, "Naona harufu ya maji." Ndipo tulipozidi kufurahi, maana tulifahamu namna watu wanaozoea kukaa porini wana-vyoweza kutumia fahamu zao kwa jinsi ya ajabu.

Mara ile jua likatoka likaangaza pote kwa fahari likatufunulia shani iliyotusahaulisha kwa muda ile kiu kali iliyotusumbua.

III

Pale kwa mbele yetu kadiri ya maili arobaini au hamsini tuliona vilele vya milima viitwavyo "Maziwa ya Sheba" viki-ng'aa kama fedha katika mishale ya jua ya asubuhi, na kila upande kwa upeo wa maili mia nyingi mlima wa Sulemani ulienea. Hapo nilipo sasa siwezi kueleza fahari na utukufu wa shani ile ya ajabu, maana maneno yanipotea kabisa. Hata kuikumbuka hunitia ububu. Mbele yetu tuliona milima mirefu sana nafasi ya kati kati ya milima ilikuwa kama mwendo wa maili kumi na mbili, nayo iliunganishwa pamoja kwa mlima mrefu mfupi kama mgongo.

LESSON 84-a

IV

Kwa muda mdogo mishale ya jua ikacheza juu ya theluji na ukungu uliokuwa chini, na mara mawingu na ukungu ukazidi kuwa kama pazia kubwa yakatufichia milima mpaka tukaweza kuona alama tu ya milima ikitokeza katika pazia ya mawingu. Mara ile maziwa ya Sheba yalipotoweka, tukakumbuka tena kiu na taabu yetu.

Ni kweli ya kuwa Ventvogel alisema anaona harufu ya maji, lakini kila mahali tulipotazama hatukuona hata dalili ya maji. Pote pote tuliona mchanga mkavu na majani yale ya jangwa hata mpaka mwisho wa upeo wa macho.

V

Tulitembea tukazunguka kilima tukitafuta kila upande, lakini hatukuona dalili ya ziwa wala kisima, wala chemchemi. Nikasema, "Wewe Ventvogel, wewe ni mpumbafu kabisa, hapana maji hata kidogo." Lakini yeye alizidi kuinua pua na kunusa hewani akasema, "Bwana, naweza kuona harufu ya maji. Najua maji yapo."

Bwana Henry akapapasa ndevu zake akifikiri, akasema, "Labda maji yako juu ya kilima." Bwana Good akasema, "Upuzi, nani aliyesikia habari za maji kuwako juu ya kilima!" Nikasema, "Haya twende tukatazame." Tukaondoka tukapanda kilimanini na Umbopa akatangulia. Mara alisimama kama amepagaa akaita, "Maji! Maji! Maji!"

VI

Tulikwenda kwa haraka na hakika na hakika, tuliona maji yako katika shimo. Namna yalivyokuwa katika mahali pale hatukungojea kuulizana, wala hatukusita kwa sababu yalikuwa meusi. Mara tukaruka tukaanza kunywa. Lo! jinsi tulivyokunywa! Tulipokwisha kunywa, tukavua nguo zetu tukakaa kitako katika yale maji ili yapenyeze ngozi zetu zilizokuwa zimekauka kabisa.

Baadaye kidogo tuliondoka tumekwisha burudika, tukala nyama kavu, maana kwa muda wa saa ishirini na nne tulishindwa kula, tukashiba. Kisha tulivuta tumbako tukalala mpaka saa sita kando ya maji yale yaliyotuponya.

6TH PERIOD

KIPINDI CHA 6

LESSON 84

SOMO LA 84

This period will be devoted to short comprehension exercises based on taped material.

Comprehension will be checked by means of True - False statements or Multiple Choice answers. In some cases the students will be asked to give the English equivalent of what was said on the tape.

1. Compound Tenses:

Supplementary tenses may be formed by using parts of Kuwa, to be, with parts of other verbs:-

- e.g. Nimekuwa nikienda - I have been going.
Nilikuwa nikienda - I was (in the act of) going.
Nilikuwa nimekwenda - I had gone.
Nilikuwa nimekwisha kwenda. - I had already gone.
Nitakuwa nikienda - I shall be (in the act of) going.
Nitakuwa nimekwisha kwenda. - I shall have already gone.

2. To form the negative of compound tenses:

- a. When the main verb is in the ME or KI tense, then the auxiliary (kuwa) takes the negative prefixes.

- e.g. Sikuwa nikienda - I was not going.
Sikuwa nimekwenda - I had not gone.
Sitakuwa nimekwenda - I shall not have gone.

- b. When the main verb is in the present (NA tense), then the auxiliary is not affected but the main verb takes on the negative construction.

- e.g. Nilikuwa sisomi - I was not reading.

Tutakuwa hatusomi - I shall not be reading.

3. You will notice that in some of the examples the verb Kwisha is used as an auxiliary. It conveys the meaning that something has not merely been done, but that it is already done and finished with:

- e.g. Amekwisha kula - He has already finished eating.
Wamekwisha fika - They have already arrived.

(Usually in modern speech this is shortened to "sha")

- e.g. Amesha sema - He has already said.
Amesha kwenda - He has already gone.

"Ku" is retained with one-syllable verbs, and with "Kwenda", but is omitted with other verbs.

4. These compound tenses may be used with any class in the normal way:-

- e.g. Ukichelewa tena, gari litakuwa limekwenda.
If you delay any longer, the car will have gone.

5. Notice the following idiomatic expressions using compound Tenses:-

- Alikuwa si ndani - He was not inside.
Walikuwa hawajui - They were not knowing, they did not know.
Nitakuwa siendi - I shall not be going.
Alimkuta hayuko - He found he was not there.

Note: The following pages give a detailed summary of all of the possible uses of the compound tenses. It is intended for students who wish to go on to further study. The 3rd and 5th Period drills are based on this outline.

However, for the present course the preceding generalization gives the necessary points on compound tenses and lists the forms most commonly used.

SOME NOTES ON COMPOUND TENSES

1. It is not always possible to express an idea concerning an action with the simple tenses learned so far. Thus in addition to indicating the time of an action it may be necessary also to indicate the circumstance.

e.g. Mwalimu alipoingia darasani wanafuuzi walikuwa wakisoma.

"Walikuwa" is an auxiliary verb expressing the time of the action.

"Wakisoma" describes the circumstance and the action which took place at that time.

2. An auxiliary verb accompanies the main verb, and these make it possible to indicate more clearly the circumstance of the action.

Of particular importance as auxiliary verbs are:-

"kuwa", "kwenda", "kwisha", "kuja" and "ngali".

3. We call these particular circumstances or conditions of the action an aspect.

Specific time of action	expressed by	na
Continued action	expressed by	ki
Completed action with a resulting state.	expressed by	me
Sequence of action	expressed by	ka
Customary action	expressed by	hu
Conditional action	expressed by	nge, ngali si, sipo
Sense of Concession	expressed by	nga, japo

4. The tense prefixes as a rule are limited to:

Present time span	na
Past time span	li
Future time span	ta
Indefinite time	hu

5. We will differentiate now the three groups of possible combinations. These are:-

a. Relationship: TIME - ASPECT

The auxiliary verb carries the tense prefix, and the main verb the aspect prefix.

e.g. Alikuwa akinywa chai.
He was drinking tea just then.

b. Relationship: ASPECT - ASPECT

Both the auxiliary and the main verb carry the aspect prefix.

e.g. Akiwa amelala usimwamshe.
If he is asleep don't wake him up.

c. Relationship: ASPECT - TIME

In this case the auxiliary verb carries the aspect prefix and the main verb the time-tense prefix.

e.g. Ikiwa hatutapata chakula tutaumia njaa.
If (it should be) we don't get food we'll starve.

6. A word of Caution: These compound forms in Swahili express fine points and shades of meaning for which we may not find the exact equivalent in English. The student has to acquire a feel for these forms which comes through extensive use of the language and much reading.
